Senate Committee Approves Dean Acheson's Nomination

Truman's Choice For Secretary Of State Indicts Communism

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The nomination of Dean Acheson to be Secretary of State won unanimous approval of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today after he indicated Communism as "fatal" to freedom.

An excerpt from Acheson's secret testimony, released by Committee Chairman Connally (D-Tex), declared:

"It is my view that Communism as a doctrine is economically fatal to a free society and to human rights and fundamental freedoms.

"Communism as an aggressive factor in world conquest is fatal to independent governments and free peoples."

Thus Acheson capped his public testimony yesterday in which he scornfully rejected the label of "appeaser" in his views toward Russia and pledged himself to clean out any disloyal persons in the State Department.

All 13 Vote For Acheson

Chairman Connally announced that all 13 members of the Senate committee — eight Democrats and five Republicans — voted solidly for Acheson.

Swift and virtually unopposed confirmation is expected in the Senate, probably next Tuesday.

Committee members questioned Acheson in a closed-door session lasting two hours and 15 minutes. All members were sworn to secrecy, except for the single excerpt of his testimony given to newsmen.

All that Connally would say was that Acheson discussed, "intimate and delicate" questions of policy. Other members told reporters before they went into the long executive session that they expected to find out just exactly where Acheson stands on the question of a mild or firm stand against the Soviets.

Due To Take Over Jan. 20

In general, the assumption was that Acheson gave the senators a comprehensive outline of his views on world problems — views which he will translate into action in taking over the No. 1 diplomatic post. He is slated to succeed the ailing Gen. George C. Marshall on January 20, the day President Truman is inaugurated.

If there were any misgivings as to Acheson's outlook on Russia, the tall, bushy-moustached diplomat repeatedly sought to dispel them yesterday in his testimony before a packed Senate caucus room.

With emphasis, he disowned any "appeasement" leanings.

He cited his early advocacy of Marshall Plan aid for Western European nations in their struggle against Communism.

And with a reminder that Mr. Truman himself has said there will be no change in United States foreign policy, Acheson told the senators he will carry out the President's decisions unswervingly.

TELLS REDS OFF—The Soviet Embassy in London yesterday issued a statement charging London newspaper reports were untrue in saying Miss Jean Rougier-Watkins (above), British airlines hostess, carried the child of a Soviet official from the Russian consulate during a fire. Miss Rougier-Watkins was passing by the building when the blaze broke out. When told of the Russian account, Miss Rougier-Watkins said: "I am speechless. What I said was the truth. People standing around saw what happened. If they are not grateful, then to hell with them."

Export Allocation "Leak" Is Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Agriculture Department hunted for a "leak" tonight as it announced an extra export allocation of food fats and oils for the current quarter.

It said that 109,000,000 pounds of lard, cottonseed oil, soy beans, soy bean oil, and peanuts had been approved for overseas shipments in the January-March period. This is in addition to regular allocations previously announced.

Department officials meanwhile sought to track down the origin of reports which tipped off traders last week to the government's plans. At that time word was circulated that the government was preparing to grant supplementary export allocations of 107,000,000 pounds of the fats and oils—just 2,000,000 shy of the actual figure.

On the heels of this report, prices of some fats and oils went up temporarily.

Officials said a probe was being made by the compliance and investigation branch of the department's Production and Marketing Administration.

Export allocation plans are kept strictly secret to prevent speculation on the commodity markets which would alter the price ranges. They are determined by the Agriculture and Commerce Departments with advice from representatives of the state and defense departments.

Last Obstacle To Rail Strike Expires Monday

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Nation's railroads will become vulnerable to a possible strike by their 1,000,000 non-operating employes Monday, but indications today were that there won't be an immediate walkout.

Negotiations between the 16 non-operating unions and the carriers have gone through all steps of the Railray Labor Act required before a strike can be called. The last strike obstacle to a stoppage expires Monday with the end of a 30-day waiting period since a presidential fact-finding board reported its recommendations to Mr. Truman, Dec. 17.

However, negotiations for both sides have been in day-to-day sessions here since January 5 on interpretation of the fact-finding panel's report. Today, they agreed upon a recess until Tuesday.

Clark Asks Tightening Of Spy Law

Bill Would Legalize Wire-Tapping, Waive Limitations Statute

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. (AP)—Attorney General Clark tonight formally proposed a broad-scale tightening of the espionage laws and asked that wire-tapping be legalized "in the interest of national security."

Clark said he had sent a bill embodying his proposals to Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) and Sen. McCarran (DcNev), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

High among his recommendations was a plan for eliminating the Statute of Limitations so far as espionage cases are concerned.

The bill sent to Capitol Hill would provide that a person accused of violating these statutes might be indicted at any time after the offense.

As the law now stands, the indictment must be returned within three years, if the offense occurred in peacetime.

Clark also asked that the laws be changed to cover the passing on of information relating to the national defense "which could be used to the injury of the United States or to the advantage of any foreign nation."

Present Law Quoted

The present law simply covers the dissemination of information "with intent or reason to believe it is to be used to the injury of the United States."

Other proposals include a ban upon unauthorized possession of security information, and provision for a $10,000 fine or 10 years imprisonment or both for any failure to report the theft, loss, abstraction, or destruction of national defense material.

The Attorney General's proposed bill would authorize the FBI, the Army, Air Force and Navy Intelligence to use wire-tapping in investigations affecting the national security, "under regulations prescribed by the Attorney General."

It would further permit the use of evidence thus obtained in any court proceedings in which the government is a party. Unauthorized use of wire-tapped material would be punished by $10,000 fine and two years imprisonment.

The law now prohibits the use of information obtained by wire-tapping as evidence in court.

Effective Vigilance Imperative

"The entire proposed bill has been drafted to serve the needs of the Departments of the Army, the Air Force, the Navy and Justice in the successful discharge of their responsibility to protect and improve the internal security of the nation," Clark said in his letter of transmittal.

"The swift and more devastating weapons of modern warfare, coupled with the treacherous operations of those who would weaken our country internally, preliminary to and in conjunction with external attack, have made it imperative that we strengthen and maintain an alert and effective peacetime vigilance."

The Attorney General's recommendation on the Statute of Limitations comes on the heels of a lengthy investigation by the House Un-American Activities Committee and other congressional groups on the leakage of confidential documents from the State Department.

Britain And Poland Sign Five-Year Trade Pact

WARSAW, Poland, Jan. 14 (AP)—Britain and Poland today signed a billion dollar five-year trade pact.

In doing so Britain chartered a new policy for trading with countries within the Soviet sphere. They must pay their prewar debts and settle for the British properties they nationalize.

The trade pact calls for a minimum exchange of goods totaling 130,000,000 pounds ($520,000,000) from each side. Some Polish sources said it might reach 150,000,000 pounds ($600,000,000).

This may be the biggest deal Poland has concluded with any country. Russia has a five-year pact with Poland calling for a total exchange of goods valued at $1,000,000,000.

50 Dead, 300 Hurt In Two-Day Race Riot In S. Africa

Armed Forces Called Out To Help Police

DURBAN, Union of South Africa, Saturday, Jan. 15 (AP) — At least 50 natives and Indians have been killed in a two-day race riot which has injured more than 300. No Europeans (whites) are known to have been injured.

For the first time in the history of South Africa the army, navy and air force were called out to help police restore order. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

The riots started Thursday when a young native boy was injured by an Indian market stall-holder (push-cart peddler). He was taken to a hospital with severe head-wounds and rumors spreading like wild-fire said that he had been killed.

Thousands Run Amok

Natives started attacking Indians indiscriminately. Thousands of them ran amok and whole families of Indians were slain in their homes.

When the armed forces got the situation under control in the center of the city, the orgy of killing and sacking spread to the suburbs.

Chanting African battle cries, the natives swept out to the sparsely settled districts burning and looting whole streets of Indian houses and stores.

Hundreds of Indian women and children fled into the bush. Hundreds more, homeless and injured, packed police stations.

At King Edward VII Hospital, Indians and natives suffering burns and bullet wounds crowded in by every available ambulance and were treated by 14 doctors.

110,000 Indians In City

Durbin's Indian population is 110,000 immigrants and descendants of immigrants from the Asian subcontinent. The white (European) population is 120,000 and the black (native) about twice that.

The last big demonstration of natives in South Africa occurred in Capetown last September when 3,000 natives demonstrated against the segregation of whites and non-whites on Capetown's suburban railway lines. There is segregation on trains throughout the union. Natives cannot vote in parliamentary elections.

The Indians have about the same standing as natives. This has not lessened racial unrest.

Wrong Man Given "Good" Funeral By Family Of 12

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP) — August Simolke's wife and 11 kids have made a swift recovery from mourning for him. But not over the $996 they spent to give him a "good" funeral.

Simolke, 67, kissed his wife, Jennie, goodbye last August 10 and started out as usual for his $60 a week job at a furniture company. He never arrived there and never came home.

Jennie reported him missing. Police searched in vain. His family gave him up for dead.

Then on November 13, a son-in-law, Stephen Jozwiak, read a newspaper description of a man found dead in a small South Side hotel. It fitted Simolke.

The man, who had suffered head wounds, was identified as Simolke by Jennie, her 11 living children and 25 friends, including Simolke's favorite bartender.

August was a nice guy and a good provider for his family so they gave him a fitting burial.

Then came the shock. Christmas cards to the family in August's handwriting from a lumber camp near Upson, Wis.

"I feel better than ever," August confided in a little notation on one of the cards. "I had my teeth pulled and my plates fit."

August told the Associated Press by telephone that "I left without telling anybody because I was unhealthy." But, he said, since having his teth pulled, he feels much better —"pretty good for a man who had a $996 funeral."

He said he likes the lumber camp life, but is "going home sooner or later—after I get ready to go back." At present he is cutting logs on a piecework basis.

EX-WIFE IGNORED—Sports Announcer Jimmy Lennon and his fiancee, Actress Doris Link (seated at right), pay no attention as Lennon's ex-wife, Mrs. Isabel Lennon, enters court at Los Angeles for another session of her trial on charges she horse-whipped Miss Link last November 13. Miss Link gave her version of what happened in testimony yesterday.

Government Asks A.T.& T., Western Electric Splitup

Would Lower Phone Rates, Clark Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The government sued today to force the gigantic American Telephone and Telegraph Company to abandon its billion dollar equipment making business. Attorney General Tom Clark said this could lower telephone rates throughout the country.

The suit demanded that AT&T and its manufacturing subsidiary, the huge Western Electric Company, be divorced. It asked that Western Electric be split into three competing companies. AT&T then would have to go into the market for its equipment.

Filed by the Justice Department, the suit charged the firms with a "conspiracy to monopolize" the nation's telephone business. It said lack of competition keeps telephone equipment costs higher.

Improvements Withheld

In addition, the department charged, efficient improvements have been withheld from general use to save on replacements; that the present hand telephone set did not become standard equipment on the Bell System for 17 years after it was developed. (The AT&T and its far-flung network of 21 operating subsidiaries are known as the Bell System.)

The suit, a civil antitrust complaint, was filed in Federal District Court at Newark, N. J.

AT&T replied that the public and telephone users "would suffer most" from the changes demanded. A statement was issued in New York by President Leroy A. Wilson.

"I am sure," he said, "that when all the facts are known, the existing arrangements will be found in the public interest."

Wilson Says Users Benefit

Western Electric has made the Bell System's telephone equipment since 1881, and the telephone users have benefitted the most, Wilson said. He contended that general use of "high quality" Western Electric equipment in the Bell System means faster calls, more dependable service, and better hearing.

Wilson also said the present arrangement keeps equipment costs as low as possible.

News of the suit was followed by a $1.50 drop in value of AT&T shares on the stock market. The price went to $147.75, lowest since 1943.

Air Force Orders 158 Jet Fighters

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Air Force spent the last $109,000,000 of its available funds for new planes today, ordering 158 jet all-weather or night fighters and an unstated number of light trainers.

The Navy also used up most of its remaining money today in spending $80,000,000 for planes. Navy spokesmen said President Truman had approved the new orders, but declined to tell immediately how the orders are distributed.

The Air Force purchased 48 Northrop F-89 two-engine night fighters and 110 Lockheed F-94 night fighters. It said the decision on the light trainer had not been made. The likeliest choice is the Fairchild T-31, developed originally for the Navy.

Last Tuesday, the Air Force cancelled $300,000,000 in order for fighters and other comparatively small type planes and devoted the money largely to the purchase of huge 150-ton B-36s, the world's biggest known bombers.

U.S. Arms Are Denied "Cold War" Neutrals

State Dept. Declares Alliance Forced By Soviet 'Obstruction'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The United States gave notice today that countries remaining neutral in the cold war will get no American arms or defense supplies.

Michael McDermott, State Department press officer, told about this new policy shortly after the department charged that Russian "obstruction" has "seriously hampered" activities of the United Nations.

McDermott told a news conference the American government does not have enough arms to supply nations which are unwilling to associate themselves in collective defense arrangements with the United States.

Government officials said McDermott's remarks were intended to "correct" Swedish press reports claiming that Sweden could get American military help even if she refused to enter into the North Atlantic defense alliance now being actively planned.

Meanwhile, the State Department struck out anew at Russia in a statement accusing Moscow of "gravely endangering the peace" with the blockade of Berlin.

Foreign Policy Outline

The department's view was made public in a foreign policy outline distributed at a human rights meeting of 250 private groups and government agencies.

It said:

"Instead of the great power teamwork so devoutly sought by the people of the world, the obstruction of one country and its willing or unwilling associates has seriously hampered the activities of the United Nations.

"The end result, if not the aim, of the Soviet program has been to weaken the effectiveness of the United Nations and to shake the confidence of many people in it as an instrument of peace."

As a result, it continued, "forward-looking governments" have begun to seek additional means of preserving the peace in keeping with the principles of the United Nations Charter.

Unity "Antidote To Fear"

"The only satisfactory antidote to fear," the department said, is collective action by the democracies in order to "confront a potential aggressor with preponderant power together with economic recovery and political stability."

In his news conference, McDermott listed the countries with whom the United States "has or will have" defense arrangements making them eligible for American military help. They are:

Passers-By Foil Youths' Attempt To Blast School

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., Jan.14 (AP)—Two casual passers-by foiled an attempt to dynamite the Phillipsburg High School by two disgruntled 14-year-old boys.

Policeman Victor Fleck said the youths planted 180 sticks of dynamite around the new building's main entrance but were frightened away before setting off the blast when two unidentified persons walked by. Juvenile Officer Paul Zimmerman, of Centre County, said the eighth grade pupils, who didn't get along in school, were released in their parents' custody pending a hearing tomorrow.

January Weather Causes 121 Deaths

[By The Associated Press]

January, exploding across the country with blizzards, sleet, floods, tornadoes and freak cold, already has caused 121 weather deaths and more than $50,000,000 in damage to crops and property.

The western half of the country has felt the sharpest lash of the elements so far.

An Associated Press survey showed:

California storms caused 19 deaths, tornadoes killed 56 in Arkansas and Louisiana, eight perished in Colorado blizzards and cold, one died in Kansas, eight in Texas, one in Nevada, three in Oregon, four in Montana, two in Utah, 12 in Wyoming, three in New Mexico and four in Nebraska.

California suffered $43,400,000 freeze damage to citrus crops and vegetables and another $1,000,000 damage from oil smudging. Cattle losses in the Western Plains run into "several million dollars." Nearly $2,000,000 sleet damage to communications lines was caused in five southwestern states. Arizona suffered $2,000,000 in crop losses. Arkansas tornadoes caused more than $1,000,000 damage. Sleet caused an estimated $1,000,000 damage at Hobbs, N. M., alone.

U. S. Agents Seize Plane Believed Egypt-Bound

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 14 (AP) — United States authorities today seized a B-25 bomber plane which they said was manned by a crew of four British subjects and was believed headed illegally for Egypt.

The plane was taken over by government agents at the nearby Teterboro airport on a federal court order obtained by United States District Attorney A. E. Modarelli.

The United States attorney said the former Air Force bomber was listed as owned now by a Leonard LaBella, New Rochelle, N. Y., who had asked for customs approval to take the plane out of the country on a temporary permit.

Aged Greek Premier Threatens To Resign

ATHENS, Jan. 14 (AP)—Aged Premier Themistokles Sophoulis tonight threatened to resign in the Cabinet dispute now raging over the naming of a generalissimo to take complete command of the war against the guerrillas.

King Paul immediately said he would call on the 88-year-old Prime Minister tomorrow at 10 a. m. (EST) to discuss the situation. The King will take this unusual step rather than summon Sophoulis to him because of the Premier's ill-health.

Long-Distance Flier Bill Odom 'To Try It Again'

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 14 (AP) —Bill Odom said today "I'm going to try it again" in an effort to fly non-stop from Honolulu to New York.

He set his light plane down here last night because his fuel supply was too low.

"I know the mileage is in the plane," he declared in an interview in a hangar at the Oakland airport today.

"The trouble on this flight was the weather—it didn't pan out as forecast."

Number Losing Jobs Increasing Across Country

Compensation Claims Up 4 To 201 Per Cent

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—The number of people losing their jobs is increasing across the country. Some areas are affected more than others.

While disturbing to the individuals and communities concerned, federal and state experts say there is no cause for alarm. For the country as a whole there are only 2,000,000 unemployed, an unusually low figure, and the number of employed is nearly 60,000,000, hovering around all-time records for this season of the year.

But there are more workers out of jobs today than at this time a year ago. An Associated Press survey in nearly a score of principal states indicates that increases in unemployment or in claims for insurance or compensation range from four to 201 per cent above the 1948 level.

Reasons For Unemployment Rise

The reasons given for the increasing unemployment include regular seasonal adjustments, severe winter weather and industrial adjustments being made with the return of more normal postwar trade conditions. This includes the levelling off in such industries as radio, shoes and apparel and similar lines where war-born shortages have ended.

At Washington, experts of the Bureau of Employment Security said about 33,000,000 of the nearly 60,000,000 civilians gainfully at work are eligible to receive nuemployment checks if they are laid off.

They explain that's because their employes make regular payments into the government's "kitty" of $7,632,000,000 for just that eventuality.

Others Not Covered

Others in the United States work force are farm hands, domestic servants, work for themselves, or are in occupations which the security laws exempt from payroll deductions for the jobless pay fund.

Total figures for those now employed also show gains over a year ago in important sections of the country. In many cases employment rolls, because of population increases or new industries, are at record peacetime levels.

And even the number of unemployed—while above the number idle at the end of 1947—is in most cases far below that prevailing in 1939 or 1940. Present unemployment totals reported were as much as 71 per cent under prewar.

No More Compromises With Reds, Mrs. FDR Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today that "never again" will she accept a compromise in the United Nations merely to win Soviet support for a measure.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who is chairman of the United Nations Human Rights Commission, said in a talk at the State Department:

"I don't think I will ever compromise again even on words. The Soviets look on this as evidence of a weakness rather than as a gesture of goodwill."

Truck Carrying $44,000 In Silver Coins Stolen

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP) — Thieves drove off today with a truck carrying $44,000 in silver coins from the Bank of England.

The truck disappeared when the driver parked it for a few minutes to run an errand. It was found a few hours later with 19 of 22 boxes of coins missing.

Jump Master Rides Out Crash After 36 Hit Silk

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Jan. 14 (AP)—Three men died but 37 escaped today in the crash of an Air Force "Flying Boxcar."

Jump Master Sgt. Lee Hodgkiss, 26, Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, scattered 36 of his paratroop charges into the sky at 350 feet as soon as the C-82s engines began to fail and then rode the plane down into the pine-covered sandhills. The jumpers cleared the plane in seven seconds

"I braced, sat down in a canvas jump seat, and thought 'this is it. What of my wife and child?' "

The sergeant's duty was to remain with the ship until all the men had cleared.

Uninjured after the crash, Hodgkiss said "I ran to the front of the plane and got one of the crewmen out of the burning compartment. But it was too late. He was dead."

Of the 36 jumpers, only Pfc. Virgil V. Votava, Parkman, Wyo., was seriously injured.

The three killed remained with the ship and their bodies were removed from the wreckage.

Spokesman at Pope Field Air Forces base, where the C-82 took off with jumpers from the 82nd Airborne Division, explained that regulations required that the jump master remain aboard until all his men were off. It was the duty of Sgt. Hodgkiss to see that all his men were properly buckled up for the jump, and to kick them out if they "froze" at the door.

Peace Terms Are Broadcast By Communists

Conditions Amount To Total Surrender Of Chiang Regime

SHANGHAI, Saturday, Jan. 15. (AP) — Reports reaching here today said Chinese Communists have occupied Tientsin.

(The source of the reports was not given in this brief dispatch.)

These accounts said Red soldiers moved through the streets, firing their rifles into the air, and shouting for the Nationalist troops to come out of hiding and surrender.

Earlier, the Communists had been reported shelling the big northern industrial city, cutting all communications with the outside.

The Communist radio had announced an all-out attack on the city.

(If true, Tientsin's capture hands the Reds one of their greatest prizes of the civil war. It is a modern city of factories, largely built up by western capital after the First World War.)

The assault on Tientsin coincided with a Chinese Communist broadcast of "peace terms" which amount to outright surrender of Chiang Kai-Shek's government.

Communications Cut Off

A long broadcast yesterday quoted Communist Chairman Mao Tse-Tung as saying a few more heavy military blows would crumble Chiang's regime "into dust and extinction." The Reds seemed to be dealing the blows in the north.

Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa in Peiping said all communications were cut off with Tientsin. He quoted an official source as saying the communications building there was hit by shells. All communications between Tientsin and Shanghai also were out.

Moosa's dispatch said Gen. Lin Piao, commanding the assault, had thrown four of his best columns (about 60,000 men) into Tientsin in at attempt to cut the city in two.

"Human Sea" Tactics

Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, commander in North China, identified them as "the pick of Lin Piao's army." His headquarters said "in Manchuria they had the reputation of being ever victorious."

A headquarters spokesman asserted the four columns were smashed, losing two-thirds of their strength (a probable exaggeration) while the defenders lost 5,000 men.

The spokesman said the Reds were using "human sea" tactics, by which a defense is overwhelmed by wave on wave of attackers.

The spokesman asserted the attacks had spent their force by 10 p. m. Thursday. The Red broadcast, however, said attacks continued Friday.

The statement by Mao, broadcast from Yanan headquarters in both Chinese and English, listed these terms:

"1. Punish war criminals." (This would include Chiang Kai-Shek, whom heads the Communist list of government leaders to designated).

"2. Abrogate the bogus constitution." (Adopted in 1946 without Communist participation.)

Calendar Change

"3. Abolish the Kuomintang's 'legitimacy of traditional institutions.' The Chinese version of this point called for "calendar years to be counted from Anno Domini, not the Republic's founding. This insistence on the Christian calendar apparently was one of the means intended to wipe out the tradition of the republic founded in 1911.)

Jews, Egyptians Take Peace Step

RHODES, Jan. 14 (AP)—Jews and Egyptians took their first definite step toward peace today by agreeing to keep their military forces in check while negotiations for an armistice are on.

At their second formal session lasting 15 minutes the delegates approved the text of a conference preamble which pledged each side to start no new military offensives and to respect the national security of the other while the armistice conference is in progress.

A spokesman for the acting United Nations mediator, who is sponsoring the conference, said the agreement was an important step since any armistice must be based on voluntary assurances that no aggressive action is contemplated by either side.

A cease-fire ordered by the United Nations Security Council is now in effect in the Negev where Jewish and Egyptian forces face each other.

The point on no military offensives was No. 1 in an explosive-laden agenda which the representatives of Israel and Egypt had agreed to discuss.

The second point is implementation of the United Nations Security Council resolutions of November 4 and November 16 calling for a withdrawal of forces to positions held October 14 and negotiation of an armistice. Sub-points include the question of the Faluja pocket where an Egyptian brigade of about 3,000 men has been under siege since mid-October, delineation of armistice lines, and reduction of forces. These are points on which it has been impossible to get agreement before.

Weather Forecast

Partly cloudy and slightly colder today; tomorrow milder with occasional rain.

Truman's Choice For Secretary Of State Indicts Communism

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The nomination of Dean Acheson to be Secretary of State won unanimous approval of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today after he indicated Communism as "fatal" to freedom.

An excerpt from Acheson's secret testimony, released by Committee Chairman Connally (D-Tex), declared:

"It is my view that Communism as a doctrine is economically fatal to a free society and to human rights and fundamental freedoms.

"Communism as an aggressive factor in world conquest is fatal to independent governments and free peoples."

Thus Acheson capped his public testimony yesterday in which he scornfully rejected the label of "appeaser" in his views toward Russia and pledged himself to clean out any disloyal persons in the State Department.

All 13 Vote For Acheson

Chairman Connally announced that all 13 members of the Senate committee — eight Democrats and five Republicans — voted solidly for Acheson.

Swift and virtually unopposed confirmation is expected in the Senate, probably next Tuesday.

Committee members questioned Acheson in a closed-door session lasting two hours and 15 minutes. All members were sworn to secrecy, except for the single excerpt of his testimony given to newsmen.

All that Connally would say was that Acheson discussed "intimate and delicate" questions of policy. Other members told reporters before they went into the long executive session that they expected to find out just exactly where Acheson stands on the question of a mild or firm stand against the Soviets.

Due To Take Over Jan. 20

In general, the assumption was that Acheson gave the senators a comprehensive outline of his views on world problems — views which he will translate into action in taking over the No. 1 diplomatic post. He is slated to succeed the ailing Gen. George C. Marshall on January 20, the day President Truman is inaugurated.

If there were any misgivings as to Acheson's outlook on Russia, the tall, bushy-moustached diplomat repeatedly sought to dispel them yesterday in his testimony before a packed Senate caucus room.

With emphasis, he disowned any "appeasement" leanings.

He cited his early advocacy of Marshall Plan aid for Western European nations in their struggle against Communism.

And with a reminder that Mr. Truman himself has said there will be no change in United States foreign policy, Acheson told the senators he will carry out the President's decisions unswervingly.

TELLS REDS OFF—The Soviet Embassy in London yesterday issued a statement charging London newspaper reports were untrue in saying Miss Jean Rougier-Watkins (above), British airlines hostess, carried the child of a Soviet official from the Russian consulate during a fire. Miss Rougier-Watkins was passing by the building when the blaze broke out. When told of the Russian account, Miss Rougier-Watkins said: "I am speechless. What I said was the truth. People standing around saw what happened. If they are not grateful, then to hell with them."

Export Allocation "Leak" Is Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Agriculture Department hunted for a "leak" tonight as it announced an extra export allocation of food fats and oils for the current quarter.

It said that 109,000,000 pounds of lard, cottonseed oil, soy beans, soy bean oil, and peanuts had been approved for overseas shipments in the January-March period. This is in addition to regular allocations previously announced.

Department officials meanwhile sought to track down the origin of reports which tipped off traders last week to the government's plans. At that time word was circulated that the government was preparing to grant supplementary export allocations of 107,000,000 pounds of the fats and oils—just 2,000,000 shy of the actual figure.

On the heels of this report, prices of some fats and oils went up temporarily.

Officials said a probe was being made by the compliance and investigation branch of the department's Production and Marketing Administration.

Export allocation plans are kept strictly secret to prevent speculation on the commodity markets which would alter the price ranges. They are determined by the Agriculture and Commerce Departments with advice from representatives of the state and defense departments.

Last Obstacle To Rail Strike Expires Monday

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Nation's railroads will become vulnerable to a possible strike by their 1,000,000 non-operating employes Monday, but indications today were that there won't be an immediate walkout.

Negotiations between the 16 non-operating unions and the carriers have gone through all steps of the Railray Labor Act required before a strike can be called. The last strike obstacle to a stoppage expires Monday with the end of a 30-day waiting period since a presidential fact-finding board reported its recommendations to Mr. Truman, Dec. 17.

However, negotiations for both sides have been in day-to-day sessions here since January 5 on interpretation of the fact-finding panel's report. Today, they agreed upon a recess until Tuesday.

50 Dead, 300 Hurt In Two-Day Race Riot In S. Africa

Armed Forces Called Out To Help Police

DURBAN, Union of South Africa, Saturday, Jan. 15 (AP) — At least 50 natives and Indians have been killed in a two-day race riot which has injured more than 300. No Europeans (whites) are known to have been injured.

For the first time in the history of South Africa the army, navy and air force were called out to help police restore order. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

The riots started Thursday when a young native boy was injured by an Indian market stall-holder (push-cart peddler). He was taken to a hospital with severe head-wounds and rumors spreading like wild-fire said that he had been killed.

Thousands Run Amok

Natives started attacking Indians indiscriminately. Thousands of them ran amok and whole families of Indians were slain in their homes.

When the armed forces got the situation under control in the center of the city, the orgy of killing and sacking spread to the suburbs.

Chanting African battle cries, the natives swept out to the sparsely settled districts burning and looting whole streets of Indian houses and stores.

Hundreds of Indian women and children fled into the bush. Hundreds more, homeless and injured, packed police stations.

At King Edward VII Hospital, Indians and natives suffering burns and bullet wounds crowded in by every available ambulance and were treated by 14 doctors.

110,000 Indians In City

Durbin's Indian population is 110,000 immigrants and descendants of immigrants from the Asian subcontinent. The white (European) population is 120,000 and the black (native) about twice that.

The last big demonstration of natives in South Africa occurred in Capetown last September when 3,000 natives demonstrated against the segregation of whites and non-whites on Capetown's suburban railway lines. There is segregation on trains throughout the union. Natives cannot vote in parliamentary elections.

The Indians have about the same standing as natives. This has not lessened racial unrest.

Bill Would Legalize Wire-Tapping, Waive Limitations Statute

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. (AP)—Attorney General Clark tonight formally proposed a broad-scale tightening of the espionage laws and asked that wire-tapping be legalized "in the interest of national security."

Clark said he had sent a bill embodying his proposals to Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) and Sen. McCarran (DcNev), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

High among his recommendations was a plan for eliminating the Statute of Limitations so far as espionage cases are concerned.

The bill sent to Capitol Hill would provide that a person accused of violating these statutes might be indicted at any time after the offense.

As the law now stands, the indictment must be returned within three years, if the offense occurred in peacetime.

Clark also asked that the laws be changed to cover the passing on of information relating to the national defense "which could be used to the injury of the United States or to the advantage of any foreign nation."

Present Law Quoted

The present law simply covers the dissemination of information "with intent or reason to believe it is to be used to the injury of the United States."

Other proposals include a ban upon unauthorized possession of security information, and provision for a $10,000 fine or 10 years imprisonment or both for any failure to report the theft, loss, abstraction, or destruction of national defense material.

The Attorney General's proposed bill would authorize the FBI, the Army, Air Force and Navy Intelligence to use wire-tapping in investigations affecting the national security, "under regulations prescribed by the Attorney General."

It would further permit the use of evidence thus obtained in any court proceedings in which the government is a party. Unauthorized use of wire-tapped material would be punished by $10,000 fine and two years imprisonment.

The law now prohibits the use of information obtained by wire-tapping as evidence in court.

Effective Vigilance Imperative

"The entire proposed bill has been drafted to serve the needs of the Departments of the Army, the Air Force, the Navy and Justice in the successful discharge of their responsibility to protect and improve the internal security of the nation," Clark said in his letter of transmittal.

"The swift and more devastating weapons of modern warfare, coupled with the treacherous operations of those who would weaken our country internally, preliminary to and in conjunction with external attack, have made it imperative that we strengthen and maintain an alert and effective peacetime vigilance."

The Attorney General's recommendation on the Statute of Limitations comes on the heels of a lengthy investigation by the House Un-American Activities Committee and other congressional groups on the leakage of confidential documents from the State Department.

Britain And Poland Sign Five-Year Trade Pact

WARSAW, Poland, Jan. 14 (AP)—Britain and Poland today signed a billion dollar five-year trade pact.

In doing so Britain chartered a new policy for trading with countries within the Soviet sphere. They must pay their prewar debts and settle for the British properties they nationalize.

The trade pact calls for a minimum exchange of goods totaling 130,000,000 pounds ($520,000,000) from each side. Some Polish sources said it might reach 150,000,000 pounds ($600,000,000).

This may be the biggest deal Poland has concluded with any country. Russia has a five-year pact with Poland calling for a total exchange of goods valued at $1,000,000,000.

Wrong Man Given "Good" Funeral By Family Of 12

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP) — August Simolke's wife and 11 kids have made a swift recovery from mourning for him. But not over the $996 they spent to give him a "good" funeral.

Simolke, 67, kissed his wife, Jennie, goodbye last August 10 and started out as usual for his $60 a week job at a furniture company. He never arrived there and never came home.

Jennie reported him missing. Police searched in vain. His family gave him up for dead.

Then on November 13, a son-in-law, Stephen Jozwiak, read a newspaper description of a man found dead in a small South Side hotel. It fitted Simolke.

The man, who had suffered head wounds, was identified as Simolke by Jennie, her 11 living children and 25 friends, including Simolke's favorite bartender.

August was a nice guy and a good provider for his family so they gave him a fitting burial.

Then came the shock. Christmas cards to the family in August's handwriting from a lumber camp near Upson, Wis.

"I feel better than ever," August confided in a little notation on one of the cards. "I had my teeth pulled and my plates fit."

August told the Associated Press by telephone that "I left without telling anybody because I was unhealthy." But, he said, since having his teth pulled, he feels much better —"pretty good for a man who had a $996 funeral."

He said he likes the lumber camp life, but is "going home sooner or later—after I get ready to go back." At present he is cutting logs on a piecework basis.

Government Asks A.T.&T., Western Electric Splitup

Would Lower Phone Rates, Clark Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The government sued today to force the gigantic American Telephone and Telegraph Company to abandon its billion dollar equipment making business. Attorney General Tom Clark said this could lower telephone rates throughout the country.

The suit demanded that AT&T and its manufacturing subsidiary, the huge Western Electric Company, be divorced. It asked that Western Electric be split into three competing companies. AT&T then would have to go into the market for its equipment.

Filed by the Justice Department, the suit charged the firms with a "conspiracy to monopolize" the nation's telephone business. It said lack of competition keeps telephone equipment costs higher.

Improvements Withheld

In addition, the department charged, efficient improvements have been withheld from general use to save on replacements; that the present hand telephone set did not become standard equipment on the Bell System for 17 years after it was developed. (The AT&T and its far-flung network of 21 operating subsidiaries are known as the Bell System.)

The suit, a civil antitrust complaint, was filed in Federal District Court at Newark, N. J.

AT&T replied that the public and telephone users "would suffer most" from the changes demanded. A statement was issued in New York by President Leroy A. Wilson.

"I am sure," he said, "that when all the facts are known, the existing arrangements will be found in the public interest."

Wilson Says Users Benefit

Western Electric has made the Bell System's telephone equipment since 1881, and the telephone users have benefitted the most, Wilson said. He contended that general use of "high quality" Western Electric equipment in the Bell System means faster calls, more dependable service, and better hearing.

Wilson also said the present arrangement keeps equipment costs as low as possible.

News of the suit was followed by a $1.50 drop in value of AT&T shares on the stock market. The price went to $147.75, lowest since 1943.

Air Force Orders 158 Jet Fighters

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Air Force spent the last $109,000,000 of its available funds for new planes today, ordering 158 jet all-weather or night fighters and an unstated number of light trainers.

The Navy also used up most of its remaining money today in spending $80,000,000 for planes. Navy spokesmen said President Truman had approved the new orders, but declined to tell immediately how the orders are distributed.

The Air Force purchased 48 Northrop F-89 two-engine night fighters and 110 Lockheed F-94 night fighters. It said the decision on the light trainer had not been made. The likeliest choice is the Fairchild T-31, developed originally for the Navy.

Last Tuesday, the Air Force cancelled $300,000,000 in order for fighters and other comparatively small type planes and devoted the money largely to the purchase of huge 150-ton B-36s, the world's biggest known bombers.

U.S. Arms Are Denied "Cold War" Neutrals

State Dept. Declares Alliance Forced By Soviet 'Obstruction'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The United States gave notice today that countries remaining neutral in the cold war will get no American arms or defense supplies.

Michael McDermott, State Department press officer, told about this new policy shortly after the department charged that Russian "obstruction" has "seriously hampered" activities of the United Nations.

McDermott told a news conference the American government does not have enough arms to supply nations which are unwilling to associate themselves in collective defense arrangements with the United States.

Government officials said McDermott's remarks were intended to "correct" Swedish press reports claiming that Sweden could get American military help even if she refused to enter into the North Atlantic defense alliance now being actively planned.

Meanwhile, the State Department struck out anew at Russia in a statement accusing Moscow of "gravely endangering the peace" with the blockade of Berlin.

Foreign Policy Outline

The department's view was made public in a foreign policy outline distributed at a human rights meeting of 250 private groups and government agencies.

It said:

"Instead of the great power teamwork so devoutly sought by the people of the world, the obstruction of one country and its willing or unwilling associates has seriously hampered the activities of the United Nations.

"The end result, if not the aim, of the Soviet program has been to weaken the effectiveness of the United Nations and to shake the confidence of many people in it as an instrument of peace."

As a result, it continued, "forward-looking governments" have begun to seek additional means of preserving the peace in keeping with the principles of the United Nations Charter.

Unity "Antidote To Fear"

"The only satisfactory antidote to fear," the department said, is collective action by the democracies in order to "confront a potential aggressor with preponderant power together with economic recovery and political stability."

In his news conference, McDermott listed the countries with whom the United States "has or will have" defense arrangements making them eligible for American military help. They are:

Passers-By Foil Youths' Attempt To Blast School

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., Jan.14 (AP)—Two casual passers-by foiled an attempt to dynamite the Phillipsburg High School by two disgruntled 14-year-old boys.

Policeman Victor Fleck said the youths planted 180 sticks of dynamite around the new building's main entrance but were frightened away before setting off the blast when two unidentified persons walked by. Juvenile Officer Paul Zimmerman, of Centre County, said the eighth grade pupils, who didn't get along in school, were released in their parents' custody pending a hearing tomorrow.

January Weather Causes 121 Deaths

[By The Associated Press]

January, exploding across the country with blizzards, sleet, floods, tornadoes and freak cold, already has caused 121 weather deaths and more than $50,000,000 in damage to crops and property.

The western half of the country has felt the sharpest lash of the elements so far.

An Associated Press survey showed:

California storms caused 19 deaths, tornadoes killed 56 in Arkansas and Louisiana, eight perished in Colorado blizzards and cold, one died in Kansas, eight in Texas, one in Nevada, three in Oregon, four in Montana, two in Utah, 12 in Wyoming, three in New Mexico and four in Nebraska.

California suffered $43,400,000 freeze damage to citrus crops and vegetables and another $1,000,000 damage from oil smudging. Cattle losses in the Western Plains run into "several million dollars." Nearly $2,000,000 sleet damage to communications lines was caused in five southwestern states. Arizona suffered $2,000,000 in crop losses. Arkansas tornadoes caused more than $1,000,000 damage. Sleet caused an estimated $1,000,000 damage at Hobbs, N. M., alone.

U. S. Agents Seize Plane Believed Egypt-Bound

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 14 (AP) — United States authorities today seized a B-25 bomber plane which they said was manned by a crew of four British subjects and was believed headed illegally for Egypt.

The plane was taken over by government agents at the nearby Teterboro airport on a federal court order obtained by United States District Attorney A. E. Modarelli.

The United States attorney said the former Air Force bomber was listed as owned now by a Leonard LaBella, New Rochelle, N. Y., who had asked for customs approval to take the plane out of the country on a temporary permit.

Aged Greek Premier Threatens To Resign

ATHENS, Jan. 14 (AP)—Aged Premier Themistokles Sophoulis tonight threatened to resign in the Cabinet dispute now raging over the naming of a generalissimo to take complete command of the war against the guerrillas.

King Paul immediately said he would call on the 88-year-old Prime Minister tomorrow at 10 a. m. (EST) to discuss the situation. The King will take this unusual step rather than summon Sophoulis to him because of the Premier's ill-health.

Long-Distance Flier Bill Odom 'To Try It Again'

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 14 (AP) —Bill Odom said today "I'm going to try it again" in an effort to fly non-stop from Honolulu to New York.

He set his light plane down here last night because his fuel supply was too low.

"I know the mileage is in the plane," he declared in an interview in a hangar at the Oakland airport today.

"The trouble on this flight was the weather—it didn't pan out as forecast."

Number Losing Jobs Increasing Across Country

Compensation Claims Up 4 To 201 Per Cent

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—The number of people losing their jobs is increasing across the country. Some areas are affected more than others.

While disturbing to the individuals and communities concerned, federal and state experts say there is no cause for alarm. For the country as a whole there are only 2,000,000 unemployed, an unusually low figure, and the number of employed is nearly 60,000,000, hovering around all-time records for this season of the year.

But there are more workers out of jobs today than at this time a year ago. An Associated Press survey in nearly a score of principal states indicates that increases in unemployment or in claims for insurance or compensation range from four to 201 per cent above the 1948 level.

Reasons For Unemployment Rise

The reasons given for the increasing unemployment include regular seasonal adjustments, severe winter weather and industrial adjustments being made with the return of more normal postwar trade conditions. This includes the levelling off in such industries as radio, shoes and apparel and similar lines where war-born shortages have ended.

At Washington, experts of the Bureau of Employment Security said about 33,000,000 of the nearly 60,000,000 civilians gainfully at work are eligible to receive nuemployment checks if they are laid off.

They explain that's because their employes make regular payments into the government's "kitty" of $7,632,000,000 for just that eventuality.

Others Not Covered

Others in the United States work force are farm hands, domestic servants, work for themselves, or are in occupations which the security laws exempt from payroll deductions for the jobless pay fund.

Total figures for those now employed also show gains over a year ago in important sections of the country. In many cases employment rolls, because of population increases or new industries, are at record peacetime levels.

And even the number of unemployed—while above the number idle at the end of 1947—is in most cases far below that prevailing in 1939 or 1940. Present unemployment totals reported were as much as 71 per cent under prewar.

No More Compromises With Reds, Mrs. FDR Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today that "never again" will she accept a compromise in the United Nations merely to win Soviet support for a measure.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who is chairman of the United Nations Human Rights Commission, said in a talk at the State Department:

"I don't think I will ever compromise again even on words. The Soviets look on this as evidence of a weakness rather than as a gesture of goodwill."

Truck Carrying $44,000 In Silver Coins Stolen

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP) — Thieves drove off today with a truck carrying $44,000 in silver coins from the Bank of England.

The truck disappeared when the driver parked it for a few minutes to run an errand. It was found a few hours later with 19 of 22 boxes of coins missing.

Jump Master Rides Out Crash After 36 Hit Silk

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Jan. 14 (AP)—Three men died but 37 escaped today in the crash of an Air Force "Flying Boxcar."

Jump Master Sgt. Lee Hodgkiss, 26, Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, scattered 36 of his paratroop charges into the sky at 350 feet as soon as the C-82s engines began to fail and then rode the plane down into the pine-covered sandhills. The jumpers cleared the plane in seven seconds.

"I braced, sat down in a canvas jump seat, and thought 'this is it. What of my wife and child?' "

The sergeant's duty was to remain with the ship until all the men had cleared.

Uninjured after the crash, Hodgkiss said "I ran to the front of the plane and got one of the crewmen out of the burning compartment. But it was too late. He was dead."

Of the 36 jumpers, only Pfc. Virgil V. Votava, Parkman, Wyo., was seriously injured.

The three killed remained with the ship and their bodies were removed from the wreckage.

Spokesman at Pope Field Air Forces base, where the C-82 took off with jumpers from the 82nd Airborne Division, explained that regulations required that the jump master remain aboard until all his men were off. It was the duty of Sgt. Hodgkiss to see that all his men were properly buckled up for the jump, and to kick them out if they "froze" at the door.

Peace Terms Are Broadcast By Communists

Conditions Amount To Total Surrender Of Chiang Regime

SHANGHAI, Saturday, Jan. 15. (AP) — Reports reaching here today said Chinese Communists have occupied Tientsin.

(The source of the reports was not given in this brief dispatch.)

These accounts said Red soldiers moved through the streets, firing their rifles into the air, and shouting for the Nationalist troops to come out of hiding and surrender.

Earlier, the Communists had been reported shelling the big northern industrial city, cutting all communications with the outside.

The Communist radio had announced an all-out attack on the city.

(If true, Tientsin's capture hands the Reds one of their greatest prizes of the civil war. It is a modern city of factories, largely built up by western capital after the First World War.)

The assault on Tientsin coincided with a Chinese Communist broadcast of "peace terms" which amount to outright surrender of Chiang Kai-Shek's government.

Communications Cut Off

A long broadcast yesterday quoted Communist Chairman Mao Tse-Tung as saying a few more heavy military blows would crumble Chiang's regime "into dust and extinction." The Reds seemed to be dealing the blows in the north.

Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa in Peiping said all communications were cut off with Tientsin. He quoted an official source as saying the communications building there was hit by shells. All communications between Tientsin and Shanghai also were out.

Moosa's dispatch said Gen. Lin Piao, commanding the assault, had thrown four of his best columns (about 60,000 men) into Tientsin in at attempt to cut the city in two.

"Human Sea" Tactics

Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, commander in North China, identified them as "the pick of Lin Piao's army." His headquarters said "in Manchuria they had the reputation of being ever victorious."

A headquarters spokesman asserted the four columns were smashed, losing two-thirds of their strength (a probable exaggeration) while the defenders lost 5,000 men.

The spokesman said the Reds were using "human sea" tactics, by which a defense is overwhelmed by wave on wave of attackers.

The spokesman asserted the attacks had spent their force by 10 p. m. Thursday. The Red broadcast, however, said attacks continued Friday.

The statement by Mao, broadcast from Yanan headquarters in both Chinese and English, listed these terms:

"1. Punish war criminals." (This would include Chiang Kai-Shek, whom heads the Communist list of government leaders to designated).

"2. Abrogate the bogus constitution." (Adopted in 1946 without Communist participation.)

Calendar Change

"3. Abolish the Kuomintang's 'legitimacy of traditional institutions.' The Chinese version of this point called for "calendar years to be counted from Anno Domini, not the Republic's founding. This insistence on the Christian calendar apparently was one of the means intended to wipe out the tradition of the republic founded in 1911.)

Jews, Egyptians Take Peace Step

RHODES, Jan. 14 (AP)—Jews and Egyptians took their first definite step toward peace today by agreeing to keep their military forces in check while negotiations for an armistice are on.

At their second formal session lasting 15 minutes the delegates approved the text of a conference preamble which pledged each side to start no new military offensives and to respect the national security of the other while the armistice conference is in progress.

A spokesman for the acting United Nations mediator, who is sponsoring the conference, said the agreement was an important step since any armistice must be based on voluntary assurances that no aggressive action is contemplated by either side.

A cease-fire ordered by the United Nations Security Council is now in effect in the Negev where Jewish and Egyptian forces face each other.

The point on no military offensives was No. 1 in an explosive-laden agenda which the representatives of Israel and Egypt had agreed to discuss.

The second point is implementation of the United Nations Security Council resolutions of November 4 and November 16 calling for a withdrawal of forces to positions held October 14 and negotiation of an armistice. Sub-points include the question of the Faluja pocket where an Egyptian brigade of about 3,000 men has been under siege since mid-October, delineation of armistice lines, and reduction of forces. These are points on which it has been impossible to get agreement before.

Court Reverses Decisions Of Employment Unit

Appeals Of Two Workers Upheld

In two opinions handed down in Circuit Court yesterday, Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., reversed the Maryland Employment Security Board in appeal cases filed by workers who had been denied unemployment compensation.

In the first case the appeal of Cora G. Dawson, a Celanese employe, was granted. Judge Bruce ruled:

"This is an appeal by Cora G. Dawson from a decision of the Maryland Employment Security Board denying claimant unemployment benefits on the grounds that she had voluntarily quit work.

"The testimony is that the Emery Bus Line was on strike, leaving no public transportation available and that the claimant worked on an odd shift and, therefore, she was not able to ride with other workers to and from the Celanese plant; that on a few occasion she was able to get someone to take her to work and that on some occasions she walked a distance of five or six miles (each way) to the nearest public transportation; that she became ill and was unable to work and had someone call her supervisor and report her illness.

"On behalf of the employer, R. W. Brown testified that the rule or agreement in effect between the union and employer requires that an absent employe report within five days and give reason for absence and that there is no record of such reports by the claimant; however, he further says that, 'We have no record of any of the calls. She may have called in, but we have no record of it'. Thus it will be seen, there is no denial of the claimant's testimony with respect to the reports giving reasons for her absence.

"The claimant further testified that upon receipt of a letter from the employer stating that they were assuming she had resigned, she wrote a letter informing them she had not resigned, but that nothing further was heard from the employer.

"The court can, therefore, arrive at no other conclusion than that the evidence does not sustain the findings of the referee and the board that the claimant quit work voluntarily, but on the contrary must find that she did not quit work voluntarily, but was absent due to the bus strike and illness. It follows that the decision appealed from must be reversed.

"The Circuit Court therefore orders that the appeal in this case be and is hereby sustained and the decision of the Maryland Employment Security Board be and is hereby reversed."

The second case is the appeal of James W. Miller from a decision of the board denying benefits to him on the ground that he had knowingly failed to disclose material facts when filing a claim for benefits for the week ending April 28, 1947, the period of his suspension being until March 31, 1949 and until certain alleged overpayments are returned to the board.

"The court has carefully read and considered the testimony taken before the referee sitting in the case and can arrive at no other conclusion than that the evidence does not sustain the finding of the referee and board. The claimant testified that he did tell the clerk who took his application that he had worked on the day in question. To this, there was no denial.

"The court is, therefore, of the opinion that the claimant is entitled to the benefits denied and that the period of suspension was not lawfully imposed."

A court order has been passed reversing the Maryland Employment Security Board in its decision.

Commissioners Back Bill To Aid Fire Companies

A proposed bill to authorize the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to increase the allowances of each volunteer fire company in the county by $100 was approved at the meeting of the commissioners yesterday morning.

A legislative committee of the firemen's group headed by Nelson W. Russler, appeared before the board to explain that cost of maintenance of fire fighting equipment has increased so much that additional funds are needed.

Under the bill, only two companies, Canada Hose Company and Chapel Hill Company would not receive an increase since they do not function on a full-time basis.

The total fund of $15,675 under the new measure would provide increases for the following companies: Bowman's Addition, Clarysville, Flintstone, District No. 16, Oldtown Road; Bedford Road, Baltimore Pike, Ellerslie, Bowling Green, Frostburg, Goodwill, Lonaconing; Midland, Mt. Savage, Potomac, Westernport; Barton, Luke, LaVale, Cresaptown, Borden Shaft, McCoole and Corriganville.

Critic Of City Jail Held On Drunk Count

John Hensel, whose complaint to Mayor Thomas S. Post about "bad conditions" in the city jail, where he served a 10-day sentence, was being held in Allegany County Jail today in default of $300 bond after being arrested on a drunk charge less than 15 hours after he was freed.

The defendant attracted considerable attention in Police Court yesterday when he declined to testify requesting that the charge being transferred to Trial Magistrates Court.

Before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti, Hensel explained further that he did not wish to be held in the City Jail and requested a trial by jury on the drunk charge which is preferred against him. He was ordered held in default of the $300 bond.

Hensel's complaint to the Mayor Thursday caused an inspection of the city jail, but Mayor Post later declared conditions "are excellent." The prisoner is described by police as an "habitual drunkard."

VFW Leader Notified Of Location Of Permanent Military Cemeteries

Although many families are having the bodies of their soldier dead returned to this country for reburial, numerous relatives have decided to have the remains stay in the Theatres of War, where their heroes fell.

James J. Kloran, commander of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, has received a list of the locations of 14 permanent American military cemeteries which the Department of the Army plans to establish as a final resting place for members of the armed forces who died in World War II outside the continental United States.

All of these cemeteries, temporarily laid out during the war years, have now been designated as permanent resting places:

U. S. Military Cemetery at Cambridge, England, 50 miles from London.

U. S. Military Cemetery at Margraten, Holland, ten miles west of Aachen, Germany.

U. S. Military Cemetery at Hamm, Luxembourg, two and a half miles east of the City of Luxembourg.

U. S. Military Cemetery at Henri Chapelle, Belgium, 18 miles northeast of Liege.

U. S. Military Cemetery at Neuville-en-Condroz, Belgium, nine miles southwest of Liege.

U. S. Military Cemetery at St. Laurent, France, 20 miles northeast of St. Lo.

U. S. Military Cemetery at St. James, France, 33 miles northwest of Rennes.

U. S. Military Cemetery at Draguignan, France, 11 miles from St. Rafael, France.

U. S. Military Cemetery at Epinal, France, two and a half miles south of Epinal.

U. S. Military Cemetery at Fort McKinley, Philippine Islands, 4 miles southeast of Manila.

U. S. Military Cemetery at Florence, Italy, 6 miles south of Florence.

U. S. Military Cemetery at Tunis (Carthage), North Africa, 11 miles from Tunis.

Council Approves Fire Hydrant Plan For Bowling Green

The Mayor and Council granted permission to members of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department yesterday to make arrangements for installing eight fire hydrants in that community.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said each hydrant would cost approximately $450 and that the Water Department would charge $50 yearly water rent fee for each outlet.

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz estimated the service would cost each user only about $2 per year, and Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan pointed out that the rent would probably be offset by a reduction in fire insurance rates.

The hydrants will be tapped on the seven six-inch water mains serving Bowling Green.

Samuel Smith, spokesman for the Bowling Green delegation, said a plan will be worked out with the 263 users of city water to finance the service.

Members of Mountain City Chapter, Military Order of the Purple Heart, held an informal discussion with the council concerning conventions here this year, but no action was taken.

The city payroll for the first part of January was approved.

Roeder Will Head IOOF Encampment

Charles A. Roeder was installed as chief patriarch of Cumberland Encampment No. 23, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at the semi-annual installation of officers held Tuesday in the IOOF Temple, South Mechanic Street.

Howard M. Smith, manager of the Cumberland telephone office, and L. E. # Court Reverses Decisions Of Employment Unit

Appeals Of Two Workers Upheld

In two opinions handed down in Circuit Court yesterday, Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., reversed the Maryland Employment Security Board in appeal cases filed by workers who had been denied unemployment compensation.

In the first case the appeal of Cora G. Dawson, a Celanese employe, was granted. Judge Bruce ruled:

"This is an appeal by Cora G. Dawson from a decision of the Maryland Employment Security Board denying claimant unemployment benefits on the grounds that she had voluntarily quit work.

"The testimony is that the Emery Bus Line was on strike, leaving no public transportation available and that the claimant worked on an odd shift and, therefore, she was not able to ride with other workers to and from the Celanese plant; that on a few occasion she was able to get someone to take her to work and that on some occasions she walked a distance of five or six miles (each way) to the nearest public transportation; that she became ill and was unable to work and had someone call her supervisor and report her illness.

"On behalf of the employer, R. W. Brown testified that the rule or agreement in effect between the union and employer requires that an absent employe report within five days and give reason for absence and that there is no record of such reports by the claimant; however, he further says that, 'We have no record of any of the calls. She may have called in, but we have no record of it'. Thus it will be seen, there is no denial of the claimant's testimony with respect to the reports giving reasons for her absence.

"The claimant further testified that upon receipt of a letter from the employer stating that they were assuming she had resigned, she wrote a letter informing them she had not resigned, but that nothing further was heard from the employer.

"The court can, therefore, arrive at no other conclusion than that the evidence does not sustain the findings of the referee and the board that the claimant quit work voluntarily, but on the contrary must find that she did not quit work voluntarily, but was absent due to the bus strike and illness. It follows that the decision appealed from must be reversed.

"The Circuit Court therefore orders that the appeal in this case be and is hereby sustained and the decision of the Maryland Employment Security Board be and is hereby reversed."

The second case is the appeal of James W. Miller from a decision of the board denying benefits to him on the ground that he had knowingly failed to disclose material facts when filing a claim for benefits for the week ending April 28, 1947, the period of his suspension being until March 31, 1949 and until certain alleged overpayments are returned to the board.

"The court has carefully read and considered the testimony taken before the referee sitting in the case and can arrive at no other conclusion than that the evidence does not sustain the finding of the referee and board. The claimant testified that he did tell the clerk who took his application that he had worked on the day in question. To this, there was no denial.

"The court is, therefore, of the opinion that the claimant is entitled to the benefits denied and that the period of suspension was not lawfully imposed."

A court order has been passed reversing the Maryland Employment Security Board in its decision.

Commissioners Back Bill To Aid Fire Companies

A proposed bill to authorize the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to increase the allowances of each volunteer fire company in the county by $100 was approved at the meeting of the commissioners yesterday morning.

A legislative committee of the firemen's group headed by Nelson W. Russler, appeared before the board to explain that cost of maintenance of fire fighting equipment has increased so much that additional funds are needed.

Under the bill, only two companies, Canada Hose Company and Chapel Hill Company would not receive an increase since they do not function on a full-time basis.

The total fund of $15,675 under the new measure would provide increases for the following companies: Bowman's Addition, Clarysville, Flintstone, District No. 16, Oldtown Road; Bedford Road, Baltimore Pike, Ellerslie, Bowling Green, Frostburg, Goodwill, Lonaconing; Midland, Mt. Savage, Potomac, Westernport; Barton, Luke, LaVale, Cresaptown, Borden Shaft, McCoole and Corriganville.

Critic Of City Jail Held On Drunk Count

John Hensel, whose complaint to Mayor Thomas S. Post about "bad conditions" in the city jail, where he served a 10-day sentence, was being held in Allegany County Jail today in default of $300 bond after being arrested on a drunk charge less than 15 hours after he was freed.

The defendant attracted considerable attention in Police Court yesterday when he declined to testify requesting that the charge being transferred to Trial Magistrates Court.

Before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti, Hensel explained further that he did not wish to be held in the City Jail and requested a trial by jury on the drunk charge which is preferred against him. He was ordered held in default of the $300 bond.

Hensel's complaint to the Mayor Thursday caused an inspection of the city jail, but Mayor Post later declared conditions "are excellent." The prisoner is described by police as an "habitual drunkard."

Council Approves Fire Hydrant Plan For Bowling Green

The Mayor and Council granted permission to members of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department yesterday to make arrangements for installing eight fire hydrants in that community.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said each hydrant would cost approximately $450 and that the Water Department would charge $50 yearly water rent fee for each outlet.

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz estimated the service would cost each user only about $2 per year, and Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan pointed out that the rent would probably be offset by a reduction in fire insurance rates.

The hydrants will be tapped on the seven six-inch water mains serving Bowling Green.

Samuel Smith, spokesman for the Bowling Green delegation, said a plan will be worked out with the 263 users of city water to finance the service.

Members of Mountain City Chapter, Military Order of the Purple Heart, held an informal discussion with the council concerning conventions here this year, but no action was taken.

The city payroll for the first part of January was approved.

Oakland Council Hits Phone Rate Increase

OAKLAND — The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland went on record this week against any proposed increase in the telephone rates at this time.

A motion was passed at the regular monthly meeting directing the clerk to write a letter to the Public Service Commission asking it to give "careful consideration to the application of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company for a rate increase," and that "no increase in rates be granted."

Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh amplified the motion by stating that "We feel that any increase at this time would work a hardship on the citizens of our town and community."

Howard M. Smith, manager of the Cumberland telephone office, and L. E. Glaser, local manager, appeared before the council to explain the reasons for the proposed rate increase which the company is asking. They pointed out that the company's earnings were declining rapidly and that expenses were at an all-time high.

The company was granted its first general rate increase in 21 years in 1947, but company officials stated the rate relief granted was substantially less than necessary to restore and maintain the company's earnings at an adequate level.

Mental Hospital Study Underway

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 14 (AP) — A study of Maryland's five state-operated mental hospitals is underway, Gov. Lane reported today.

Three out-of-state experts will make independent investigations to help the Governor decide what should be done to raise the standards of the institutions.

The Governor, in a busy round of conferences while the General Assembly is in recess, discussed the hospital problems, received a report from a committee studying legislation against subversives, and met with some of his financial experts.

The conference on the state hospitals lasted for a couple of hours. Meeting with the Governor "for an exchange of ideas" were superintendents of the five hospitals, Dr. George H. Preston, commissioner of mental hygiene, and Dr. Riley M. Guthrie, head of the division of mental hygiene of the United States Public Health Service.

Dr. Guthrie is one of the three experts who will make surveys of the hospitals. His preliminary report, Gov. Lane said, will be ready within eight days.

The other experts are Dr. Samuel W. Hamilton, Cedar Grove, N. J., and formerly in the position now filled by Dr. Guthrie, and Dr. Ralph M. Chambers, chief inspector of the Central Inspection Board of the American Psychiatric Association.

Frank B. Ober, Baltimore attorney, led most of his 15-man committee to report to the Governor the result of their six month's study of subversives in Maryland. The study was aimed at producing a law to implement a constitutional amendment of last October which barred Communists and other subversives from holding public office.

The law proposed by Ober's commission would provide 20-year prison terms and/or $20,000 fines for persons who actively advocate violent overthrow of the government.

The legislature will reconvene Monday night at 8 o'clock. It will be the third week of the 1949 session and bills are expected to move with dispatch toward becoming law.

Two Federal Budget Items Loom Large For Cumberland

Cumberland and other communities in this section of Western Maryland fare very well in President Truman's budget. There are a couple of items in the list of suggested appropriations which look like small change in the grand total of close to $42,000,000,000. But they mean a lot to this city and towns bordering the Potomac river which stand to benefit very materially by two projects they are intended to advance.

One is the $1,700,000 Mr. Truman has earmarked for use in the work of completing the Savage River Dam. The construction of this reservoir will not only help take up any slack in unemployment but it ties in with the flood control program Cumberland plans in the interest of itself and its neighboring town across the Potomac—Ridgeley, W. Va.

For the latter undertaking, the Federal budget contains the item of $1,000,000 to be applied to the task of providing a channel of sufficient width and depth to prevent the flow of water through Cumberland, during periods of heavy precipitation and runoff from the surrounding watersheds, from overflowing into the city's downtown thoroughfares. The Mayor and City Council have voted $1,500,000 and the Allegany County Board of Commissioners has made available the sum of $1,000,000 for this purpose.

As pointed out, against the total Federal budget, these are trifling sums. But they loom large in the eyes of the people in this area. These projects serve a dual purpose. For one thing, the elimination of the constant threat of devastatiton by high water to Cumberland property will encourage business expansion programs in the sections now branded as "flood zones," and therby enhance the economy and welfare of the entire city.

The Savage River Dam, of course, will make possible the impounding of water emptying into it from Garrett county streams when those tributaries are swollen with an overly supply. It also will serve as a governor to control the flow of those waters into the Potomac river during excessive wet periods. At the same time it will make possible the building up a backlog of water to be released during seasons of the year when the Potomac needs replenishing to provide industries lining the shores with a sufficient supply to carry on operations. The assurance of a plentiful flow could very well prove an inducement to industries to locate along the banks of this stream.

To Representative J. Glenn Beall must go much of the credit for the securing of these Federal appropriations. He was able to convince the government of the many advantages to be derived from such projects and has, by keeping in constant touch with the various Federal agencies, steered them through the various stages of government red tape into the hands of Congress.

Congress should have no difficulty in seeing the justification of such appropriations as these.

Government Moving In On Towns And Cities

A resolution adopted by the Indiana General Assembly makes these challenging statements:

"Indiana needs no guardian and intends to have none. We Hoosiers—like the people of our sister states—were fooled for quite a spell with the magician's trick that a dollar taxed out of our pockets and sent to Washington will be bigger when it comes back to us. We find that it lost weight in its journey to Washington and back. The political brokerage of the bureaucrats has been deducted. We have decided that there is no such thing as Federal aid. We know that there is no wealth to tax that is not already within the boundaries of the 48 states."

A comparison between the 1929 and the 1948 tax situation underscores these words. In 1929 total taxes were $10,100,000,000, of which the Federal Government got $3,300,000,000, the state governments got $2,000,000,000, and the local governments got the lion's share, $4,800,000,000. In 1948, out of total revenues of $53,900,000,000, the Federal government got the lion's share of $40,000,000,000, the state governments got $7,900,000,000, and the local governments were a poor third with $6,000,000,000. In other words, the Federal Government's share rose from 33 per cent to 74 per cent, the state government's share dropped from 20 per cent to 15 per cent, and the local governments' share dropped from 47 per cent to 11 per cent.

This showing is to be set alongside President Truman's message proposing to take $4,000,000,000 more from the country and spend it largely for so-called social gains—such as education—which are the primary concern of local governments. Naturally, some of it would come back (although not to the same states and localities), but it would be subject to the "brokerage" discounts, recited in the Indiana resolution.

What the New Deal program (which is the Truman program) amounts to is that the Federal Government would move into our counties, cities and towns and run our affairs for us and—if it can—make us assent by taking away our own means of doing so. This, of course, is national Socialism—and isn't Communism just around the corner from that?

And Snow Covers Golden State of California

Snow, in anything but the mountain areas, is rare in California. The warm Pacific winds keep it away from the coastal region. But when those winds are not strong enough to cope with a mass of cold air flowing down into valleys, the unusual happens. The result is to catch the confident Californians unawares.

This has been a peculiar winter. Blizzards have raged over the Great Plains. New York has had record snowfalls two years in a row. The country east of the Mississippi has yet to feel a severe cold wave. And now snow has blanketed California while Florida basks in warm breezes and a heat wave grips the southeast.

Aye, there's the rub. Worse than the snow, worse than the problem of coping inexpertly with slippery streets, worse than anything except the damage to crops and citrus groves, must be the thought to Californians that Florida is all right. The white blanket over the Golden State hits hard.

Small-town beauties have little chance for success in Hollywood, says a film executive. Perhaps they should stay home and marry a rich plumber.

Curing Warts Through Psychology

Not long ago a chemist friend of mine told me how an acquaintance of his had been cured of warts. The gentleman in question had so many of these embellishments on the face that his unsightly appearance was a handicap. Years before, a fruitless attempt had been made to remove the blemishes and, according to the story, the disappointment had been so great that the victim decided to make the best of his handicap. Several days ago, the chemist met this man and, to his surprise, noted that all the warts had gone. He was informed that vitamin B had done the trick. This remedy had been recommended and had proved successful.

Dr. Van Dellen

The episode is mentioned merely to demonstrate the unpredictable nature of warts. It is difficult to see how the vitamin could have been responsible because many individuals with lesions of this type are taking this preparation for other reasons, without the same results. On the other hand, numerous references have appeared in the medical literature on effective psychological treatment of warts. Moreover, the growths have disappeared in others subsequent to the application of such unlikely healing agents as tobacco juice, bacon rind, axle grease, and potato peelings. There are also instances in which one of several warts was cauterized and the patient was told that the remainder would depart. This is exactly what happened.

• — • — •

Bloch was probably the first to utilize suggestive therapy alone and in his series, 88 per cent of flat and 44 per cent of common warts vanished. Carl L. Brundage quotes two other authors who followed the progress of 140 cases; in 70, psychotherapy was employed and an equal number were used as controls. At the end of a six-month period, 17 of the treated and 20 of the untreated were cured. This sounds fantastic but is true. A prerequisite is to have enough faith in the treatment. When I was a boy, my gullibility paid dividends in that I lost a handful of warts in the same manner.

There is another phase of lesions of this kind that is not fully appreciated. The cause is a virus and the peculiar surface manifestations represents the manner in which the skin reacts to the infection. The organism generally gains entrance through cut, bruised, or scratched areas and this explains why the hands, feet, knees, scalp, face, and neck are favored sites. When a susceptible individual encounters a person with measles, ten days to two weeks will elapse before coming down with the illness. This is known as the "incubation period." In warts, two to three months usually pass between the time the virus enters the skin and the appearance of the outbreak. Because the lesions are contagious, after the first (mother wart) occurs, others may arise at a later date. The blemishes may persist for 30 years or more but the majority fade away when the body develops an immunity against them.

Countless remedies are available, varying from acids of all sorts to complete surgical removal. They can be burned out by means of electrolysis or surgical diathermy or frozen into submission with solid carbon dioxide snow. X-ray and radium are popular also but care must be exercised lest the surrounding tissue be damaged. This is true especially with plantar warts on the soles of the feet. All too often, years later an ulcer forms that is difficult to heal.

ABDOMINAL PAIN

Mrs. O. writes: My 11 year old daughter has had a nagging pain in the pit of her stomach for almost two years off and on. Doctors have examined her, and X-rayed the bowel but everything seems normal and there are no signs of appendicitis. She never runs a fever and continues to gain weight normally. What is the next step?

Reply

If the tests have been done properly and the results are negative, the symptom may be of nervous origin or due to spasm. In the circumstances, it might be advisable to investigate along this line.

• — • — •

KIDNEY OPERATION

H. L. J. D. writes: During operation for removal of a kidney, can the other be examined at the same time?

Reply

This is rarely possible because in the usual operation, the incision is made through the back and not into the abdominal cavity.

• — • — •

Foot Infection

A. T. writes: Is there any such disease as Japanese rot which some say was brought to America by our veterans?

Reply

To my knowledge, no one has acquired the disease in the United States. Furthermore, we are not certain as to exact cause of jungle rot except that it is believed to be a fungous infection which attacks the hands and feet principally.

• — • — •

FOOT PERSPIRATION

E. U. writes: Is there any way to stop excessive perspiration of the feet? This condition prevails all the year round and ruins my shoes.

Reply

Many remedies are available, including preparations of formaldehyde, alum, potassium chloride. Frequent bathing and dusting the feet with powder containing boric acid often prove helpful. As a last resort, X-ray therapy may be recommended.

New Congress Has Plenty Of Promising Raw Material; Representatives Range From Newsmen To School-teachers; 81st Congress Will Be Hard To Restrain

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 — The new House of Representatives has now been shaken down, had a chance to settle in new offices, and has taken a look at each other. Also outsiders have had a chance to look at them. The results have not been disappointing.

In brief, the new Congress looks good. It has more war veterans, more youngsters who take their work seriously, more promising raw material than any since before Pearl Harbor. Many never dreamed they would be elected. Many are nervous, shy, and worried about which fork to pick up in Washington. But the main thing is that they know what happened to the 80th Congress, and, if they can help it, they aren't going to let history repeat.

Obviously, most of the new Congressmen are Democrats. But the new Republicans seem to have a lot on the ball, too. Anyway, here is a cross-section of the 81st freshmen, the men who hold the balance of power on Capitol Hill and who will shape your lives for the next few years:

Newsmen to schoolteachers: Harry Davenport, Pennsylvania Democrat—Publisher of weekly newspaper; ran against GOP John McDowell of the Un-American Affairs Committee, never expecting to win. Now that he's in Congress—much to his surprise—he'll push hard for the liberal program he advocated. . . . Chuck Gross, Iowa Republican—popular Midwest radio commentator of Waterloo; defeated reactionary John Gwynne in the Republican primaries by going to the voters over the heads of the political machines. . . . Jerry Ford, Michigan Republican — healthy replacement for Bartel Jonkman, who was one of the most backward of the 80th Congress. Just married, with a new home and a new job, Ford will be a mighty Congressman. . . Thurman Crook, Democrat, of South Bend, Ind.—Known as the only "legalized crook" in Congress, he comes to Washington after 35 years as a high school teacher. Will work for better educational benefits.

New Southern solons: Thurmond Chatham, North Carolina—Wealthy manufacturer of blankets, tweeds and textiles (Chatham Mills) with outstanding war record in submarine service. Open-minded on major issues. . . . Charles Bennett, Jacksonville, Florida—A 38-year-old attorney who's proud the real estate lobby fought him. Led troops behind Jap lines during the Philippine invasion—until stricken with polio. Still fighting . . . Syd Herlong, Florida—Great friend of the orange. Will steer middle-of-road course while squeezing last drop of political juice from his district's citrus crops . . . . Carl Elliott, Jasper, Alabama—Successfully bucked local political machine with 129 speeches in 35 days—all pointing up need for improved rural housing and higher educational standards. . . . Hugo Sims, South Carolina—Battled against real estate lobby, and will keep on battling. Among the top nominees for "young men of the nation" selected by Junior Chamber of Commerce . . . John Golden, Kentucky—one of the few new Republicans elected in the South. Careful, conscientious.

The industrial East: Foster Furcolo, Massachusetts Democrat—Came up the hard way, washing dishes and waiting on table at Yale. Got a law degree, saw naval action in the Pacific, elected in a GOP district by fighting high prices and bad housing . . . Harry O'Neill, Pennsylvania Democrat—son of a Scranton coal miner. Harry had 14 brothers and sisters, began life as a barber, switched to insurance, is a strong union man, will go down the line for the Fair Deal . . . Abraham Rubicoff, Connecticut—gave up lucrative law practice to run for Congress. Handsome, intelligent, big vote-getter, will follow liberal line . . . John McGuire, Connecticut Democrat—friendly, small-town insurance agent who's been undefeated in local and state elec-Connecticut's new Governor, Chestions. In his spare time, he'll boost ter Bowles, for the White House... Peter Rodino, Newark, N. J., Democrat—fills the seat of Fred Hartley of Taft-Hartley Act fame, and has political views exactly the opposite. . . . Hugh Addonizio, Newark, N. J., Democrat—may have the makings of a new Fiorello La Guardia.

Rocky Mountain States — Wayne Aspinall, Colorado Democrat—furious campaign through one of nation's largest Congressional districts. Crossed 16 mountain passes with elevations over 10,000 feet searching votes. Dyed-in-the-wool New Dealer, he'll see that the West is heard in Congress—if he has to do all the talking himself . . . John Marsalis, Pueblo, Colo., Democrat—Batchelor at 44, a staff sergeant in the war, he learned the GI side of the Army. Interested chiefly in reclamation and labor; will vote for straight repeal of Taft-Hartley . . . Reva Beck Bosone, Utah Democrat — capable, charming amazon; keen mind, was a good judge in Utah and should make a good Congresswoman . . . Walter Baring, Reno, Nev., Democrat—won Nevada's solitary Congressional seat by covering 30,000 miles of mountains and sagebrush in eight weeks. A mild-mannered, easygoing young Westerner, he'll support the Truman Fair Deal and work for development of his state's vast mineral wealth.

Southwest Congressmen: Harold Patton, Arizona Democrat—41-year-old life insurance executive. Son of railroad engineer, he got help from both labor and business. Favors better treatment for stricken Navajo Indians . . . John Miles of New Mexico—Former Democratic governor of his state and an old hand at government. Quiet, mild-mannered, able. Should be good middle-of-road Congressman . . . Dixie Gilmer, Oklahoma Democrat—Came to Congress as a page boy at the age of 12. Today he's back after defeating GOP conservative George Schwabe of Tulsa. Can deliver fiery speeches. . . . George Wilson of Enid, Oklahoma—Former FBI agent, idealistic and deeply religious. Real possibilities. Elected to the seat of Ross Rizley, pocketbook Congressman . . Lloyd Bentsen, McAllen, Texas—In only 27 years of life he's been lawyer, judge, bomber pilot and Congressman; even has a good-looking wife. If he doesn't get spoiled early, he should be good . . . Homer Thornberry, Austin, Texas — Good replacement for Senator-elect Lyndon Johnson. Will battle for rural electrification and public power . . . Tom Steed, Shawnee, Oklahoma, Democrat — Former editor of the Shawnee Morning News and Shawnee Evening Star, has served as secretary to three former Congressmen, knows Washington inside out, is slated to go far.

Foreign Policy And How GOP Views Administration's Moves

By MARK SULLIVAN

An atmosphere arising in Washington is illustrated by two current incidents. One is an action taken by the Democrats in the Senate, reducing conspicuously the number of Republicans on the Foreign Relations Committee.

When the election caused the Republicans to become the minority party in the Senate as a whole, it followed as a matter of course that they must become the minority also in the Committee on Foreign Relations. But the reduction on this committee is out of proportion to the reduction in the Senate as a whole. In the old Foreign Relations Committee the proportion was 7 Republicans to 6 Democrats. Republicans felt that this proportion between the minority and majority parties should be retained in the committee as newly constituted. The Democrats, however, made the new proportion 8 Democrats to 5 Republicans.

Part of the reason for Republican complaint lay in the fact that our policy about foreign relations, especially our relations with Russia, has been bi-partisan. Some Republicans apprehended possibility that the Administration might intend to change our policy about Russia, and might wish the Republicans to have less part in the policy. The Republicans found additional grievance in the fact that Mr. Truman, in appointing a new Secretary of State, who will coduct our foreign relations, did not consult Republican leaders in advance. Some Republicans felt that, in the spirit of bi-partisanship about foreign relations as conducted in the past, so important a step, bearing so directly on foreign relations, ought not to have been taken without previous consultation with Republican leaders.

Two Views Of Whole Matter

For light on all this, the whole matter may be divided, theoretically, into two parts. One is our relation with Russia as it now is and our policy about Russia as it now stands. The other is how our present relation to Russia arose, how did it become necessary that our policy about Russia be what it now is?

About our present relation to Russia, the necessity of bi-partisanship is well recognized. It is part of the idea commonly expressed by saying that in foreign policy we should have unity, that politics should end at the water's edge. But how our relations with a country in the past, in this case Russia, have been conducted by the party in power is legitimate for the opposition party to raise as an issue.

But if theoretically the two can be kept separate, keeping them separate in practice raises difficulty. Logically the two are not separate at all, they have been the relation of cause and effect, the policy about a foreign country, at any time, in this case Russia, is a consequence of the history of our relations with that country. This the Republicans sense, they sensed it during the campaign and instinctively felt frustrated by the necessity for not raising our Russian policy as an issue.

The history of our relation to Russia is associated with peculiar directness with the party in power. The whole period in which we have had any official relations with Soviet Russia at all is a period in which the Administration in Washington was in the hands of the Democratic Party, and in which the party leadership in office reflected a special school of thought that determined its policies, both domestic and foreign. This period consisted of the combined administration of Roosevelt and Truman.

Boundaries Of The Period

The boundaries of the period, as bearing on our relations with Russia, lend themselves to simple statement. The period began with recognition of the Communist government of Russia by the Roosevelt administration in its first year, 1933, after four preceding administrations had withheld recognition. The end of the period, so far, is our relations with Russia as they now stand.

Merely to state the beginning and the end is to suggest how appropriate the period is for attack by the party that was out of power throughout the period. Yet the Republicans, because of the necessity for bi-partisanship on existing policy about Russia, feels restraint about attack on the history of how the policy came about. This sense of restraint accounts in large part for the restiveness about bi-partisan policy which simmers in the present atmosphere of Washington. Hardly anything could be more incumbent on the Truman Administration than to keep the Republicans content to cooperate in foreign policy.

Is This The Time To Legislate Huge Sums To Federal Officials?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14—This is the administration of the "little fellows"—the one, it will be recalled, that the "little people" everywhere elected last November. And yet about the first thing the Democrats are doing in the new session of Congress is to vote on a proposal to raise the pay of President Truman to an income equivalent to about $240,000 before taxes.

Various devices are suggested to give Mr. Truman $50,000 expense money which he would not have to account for to anybody and which would be free from taxation, and, in addition, a raise in salary.

There is a general move on to raise salaries in the government and the principal reason cited for it is that it is hard to attract executives of ability into the government service at present salary rates. But it would appear that there are plenty of men with executive ability—some of them even in Congress—who would be glad to serve as President at the present salary rate of $75,000 a year and only $40,000 instead of $90,000 for expenses. Some of them are Democrats, too, and they are not at all men of independent means. Perhaps it would be embarrassing to mention them but sometime between now and the national conventions of 1952 their names doubtless will be revealed to the public.

In Bad Taste

The idea of raising the President's pay is presumably something which Mr. Truman himself didn't start. A commission headed by Herbert Hoover has been studying government salaries and has recommended more pay for the President, the Vice President, the Speaker of the House, cabinet members and so on. All this is unquestionably due to the devaluation of the purchasing power of the dollar.

But it has been supposed for years that men who entered the public service did not do so for materialistic reasons. Only people influenced by the profit motive in business were presumed to be materialistic in their attitudes.

Mr. Truman may feel that this is something from which he can remain aloof. But his signature will be required to make the bill into a law. By approving the measure he will be raising his own pay in almost the first legislative act since he was elected.

It would not appear in such bad taste if it were not for the fact Mr. Truman is announcing that he wants everybody in America with an income over $6,000 a year to pay increased taxes. The theory that certain citizens in effect shall be tax exempt and others shall bear the added costs of government implies that only a few shall be privileged to pay these higher taxes. There was a time when the American theory of good citizenship included the right of every citizen to be permitted to share in the obligations of government. Certainly it would be odd if all labor unions, for example, decided to exempt from the payment of dues those who earned less than a certain amount per week. The idea always has been that those who share the benefits should always pay a part of the cost.

Mr. Truman is asking that an additional $4,000,000,000 in taxes be imposed on both business and individual incomes, and that a $2,000,000,000 increase in social security taxes be deducted from payrolls each week.

Things Voters Might Question

It might be questioned by the voters—including many who voted for a Democratic Congress, as did this correspondent—whether the people gave a "mandate" to increase taxes for everybody over $6,000 and to exempt everybody else from the increases, and whether the people voted to give more pay to the officials of government, at least in such sums as are being mentioned.

If the budget has to be balanced, the first step is to reduce expenses. If it remains unbalanced even then, the next step is to spread the burdens of taxes equitably so that all citizens pay a fair share of the cost of maintaining government, a fair share of the expense of feeding Europe and the money needed to prepare the Army, Navy and Air Forces to give America military security. Certainly many citizens upon reflection will want to pay something more at least toward the additional costs of armament. It doesn't look, moreover, as if this is the time to raise by huge sums the pay of those officials who went up and down the country denouncing the Republicans as men who would enrich themselves at the expense of the government. The "little fellows" may not like it.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Drift To Socialism

OF all of us in Petrograd in October, 1917, John Reed was most stirred by the Bolshevik revolution. He wrote a little book, "Ten Days That Shook the World," in which he said in 1919:

"It is still fashionable, after a whole year of the Soviet government ,to speak of the Bolshevik insurrection as an 'adventure'. Adventure it was, and one of the most marvelous mankind ever embarked upon, sweeping into history at the head of the toiling masses, and staking everything on their vast and simple desires. . . ."

John Reed did not live long enough to discover that the ten days that shook the world produced not freedom but slavery. Many followed Reed into Russia. Young men and women, in particular young intellectuals, viewing the inequalities of the world in which they live and from which they benefit, often confuse the word for the act, the promise for the deed.

And so for 31 years, the vast propagandistic organization of international communism has been focusing attention on the faults of every country. In the United States, young people found inequalities, discriminations, prejudices which disturbed them: In fact, among the rich, the socially elect, those benefitting by every advantage in life, young men and women who in the 1890's and early 1900's might have gone into reform movements or social work, found an outlet in fighting against the effects of the depression, against the inequalities of opportunity.

They joined what became communist front organizations. A young man I know first joined various organizations favorable to more popular movements in China and other far eastern countries. He soon found himself involved in movements against discrimination of negroes. He found that his huge contributions (he is a millionaire) were acceptable everywhere. His counsel, his education, his personality were always welcome. Nearly all the people he met on one committee were on another—and they were an interesting crowd, writers, poets, artists, revolutionists. He is now a big-shot in American communism.

Did he drift? Maybe. Maybe he drifted as a boy drifts into any gang. But there is more to it than that—much more. In the first place, this young man suffered from a guilt complex. Why did his ancestors gather together millions of dollars while others, working along with them, got so little? Why did they own palaces when so many lived in hovels and tenements? This, to such a young man, was a deeply emotional matter; he could not appraise the problems he faced with cold logic. He had been to our best schools; he had been to our best university; he had traveled the world.

He had read all the books that an intelligent young man should read. He had studied modern economics, modern sociology; he knew there is no God; he believed in the materialistic interpretation of history.

But here is what happened not to the particular young man I have in mind but to others like him. They got jobs in various departments of government. They fell into a pattern. They produced an altogether new form of administration, one as closely modeled on the Russian pattern as was possible in the United States. They used a new language; wrote new history books; established a new concept of economic for our country.

They used their power to build here the welfare state—a state in which by taxation, by administrative law, by decrees issued by administrative agencies, the middle class would be driven into the proletariat, and the proletariat would become the spoils of labor unions which they controlled by gaining the administrative positions in them.

While the war helped them to move into important positions, they nevertheless were not sufficiently efficient to succeed altogether. It is a miracle that they did so little, for the revolutionary forces let loose in 1917 were moving swiftly and effectively throughout the world. They failed in the United States, but the resistance of the American people was being worn down. A generation appeared which had come under their influence.

It could not accept Russia nor even communism—but it did not possess the background, the knowledge, the ideals to resist the welfare state—the inevitable forerunner of socialism.

Two Federal Budget Items Loom Large For Cumberland

Cumberland and other communities in this section of Western Maryland fare very well in President Truman's budget. There are a couple of items in the list of suggested appropriations which look like small change in the grand total of close to $42,000,000,000. But they mean a lot to this city and towns bordering the Potomac river which stand to benefit very materially by two projects they are intended to advance.

One is the $1,700,000 Mr. Truman has earmarked for use in the work of completing the Savage River Dam. The construction of this reservoir will not only help take up any slack in unemployment but it ties in with the flood control program Cumberland plans in the interest of itself and its neighboring town across the Potomac—Ridgeley, W. Va.

For the latter undertaking, the Federal budget contains the item of $1,000,000 to be applied to the task of providing a channel of sufficient width and depth to prevent the flow of water through Cumberland, during periods of heavy precipitation and runoff from the surrounding watersheds, from overflowing into the city's downtown thoroughfares. The Mayor and City Council have voted $1,500,000 and the Allegany County Board of Commissioners has made available the sum of $1,000,000 for this purpose.

As pointed out, against the total Federal budget, these are trifling sums. But they loom large in the eyes of the people in this area. These projects serve a a dual purpose. For one thing, the elimination of the constant threat of devastatiton by high water to Cumberland property will encourage business expansion programs in the sections now branded as "flood zones," and therby enhance the economy and welfare of the entire city.

The Savage River Dam, of course, will make possible the impounding of water emptying into it from Garrett county streams when those tributaries are swollen with an overly supply. It also will serve as a governor to control the flow of those waters into the Potomac river during excessive wet periods. At the same time it will make possible the building up a backlog of water to be released during seasons of the year when the Potomac needs replenishing to provide industries lining the shores with a sufficient supply to carry on operations. The assurance of a plentiful flow could very well prove an inducement to industries to locate along the banks of this stream.

To Representative J. Glenn Beall must go much of the credit for the securing of these Federal appropriations. He was able to convince the government of the many advantages to be derived from such projects and has, by keeping in constant touch with the various Federal agencies, steered them through the various stages of government red tape into the hands of Congress.

Congress should have no difficulty in seeing the justification of such appropriations as these.

Government Moving In On Towns And Cities

A resolution adopted by the Indiana General Assembly makes these challenging statements:

"Indiana needs no guardian and intends to have none. We Hoosiers—like the people of our sister states—were fooled for quite a spell with the magician's trick that a dollar taxed out of our pockets and sent to Washington will be bigger when it comes back to us. We find that it lost weight in its journey to Washington and back. The political brokerage of the bureaucrats has been deducted. We have decided that there is no such thing as Federal aid. We know that there is no wealth to tax that is not already within the boundaries of the 48 states."

A comparison between the 1929 and the 1948 tax situation underscores these words. In 1929 total taxes were $10,100,000,000, of which the Federal Government got $3,300,000,000, the state governments got $2,000,000,000, and the local governments got the lion's share, $4,800,000,000. In 1948, out of total revenues of $53,900,000,000, the Federal government got the lion's share of $40,000,000,000, the state governments got $7,900,000,000, and the local governments were a poor third with $6,000,000,000. In other words, the Federal Government's share rose from 33 per cent to 74 per cent, the state government's share dropped from 20 per cent to 15 per cent, and the local governments' share dropped from 47 per cent to 11 per cent.

This showing is to be set alongside President Truman's message proposing to take $4,000,000,000 more from the country and spend it largely for so-called social gains—such as education—which are the primary concern of local governments. Naturally, some of it would come back (although not to the same states and localities), but it would be subject to the "brokerage" discounts, recited in the Indiana resolution.

What the New Deal program (which is the Truman program) amounts to is that the Federal Government would move into our counties, cities and towns and run our affairs for us and—if it can—make us assent by taking away our own means of doing so. This, of course, is national Socialism—and isn't Communism just around the corner from that?

And Snow Covers Golden State of California

Snow, in anything but the mountain areas, is rare in California. The warm Pacific winds keep it away from the coastal region. But when those winds are not strong enough to cope with a mass of cold air flowing down into valleys, the unusual happens. The result is to catch the confident Californians unawares.

This has been a peculiar winter. Blizzards have raged over the Great Plains. New York has had record snowfalls two years in a row. The country east of the Mississippi has yet to feel a severe cold wave. And now snow has blanketed California while Florida basks in warm breezes and a heat wave grips the southeast.

Aye, there's the rub. Worse than the snow, worse than the problem of coping inexpertly with slippery streets, worse than anything except the damage to crops and citrus groves, must be the thought to Californians that Florida is all right. The white blanket over the Golden State hits hard.

Small-town beauties have little chance for success in Hollywood, says a film executive. Perhaps they should stay home and marry a rich plumber.

Curing Warts Through Psychology

Not long ago a chemist friend of mine told me how an acquaintance of his had been cured of warts. The gentleman in question had so many of these embellishments on the face that his unsightly appearance was a handicap. Years before, a fruitless attempt had been made to remove the blemishes and, according to the story, the disappointment had been so great that the victim decided to make the best of his handicap. Several days ago, the chemist met this man and, to his surprise, noted that all the warts had gone. He was informed that vitamin B had done the trick. This remedy had been recommended and had proved successful.

Dr. Van Dellen

The episode is mentioned merely to demonstrate the unpredictable nature of warts. It is difficult to see how the vitamin could have been responsible because many individuals with lesions of this type are taking this preparation for other reasons, without the same results. On the other hand, numerous references have appeared in the medical literature on effective psychological treatment of warts. Moreover, the growths have disappeared in others subsequent to the application of such unlikely healing agents as tobacco juice, bacon rind, axle grease, and potato peelings. There are also instances in which one of several warts was cauterized and the patient was told that the remainder would depart. This is exactly what happened.

Bloch was probably the first to utilize suggestive therapy alone and in his series, 88 per cent of flat and 44 per cent of common warts vanished. Carl L. Brundage quotes two other authors who followed the progress of 140 cases; in 70, psychotherapy was employed and an equal number were used as controls. At the end of a six-month period, 17 of the treated and 20 of the untreated were cured. This sounds fantastic but is true. A prerequisite is to have enough faith in the treatment. When I was a boy, my gullibility paid dividends in that I lost a handful of warts in the same manner.

There is another phase of lesions of this kind that is not fully appreciated. The cause is a virus and the peculiar surface manifestations represents the manner in which the skin reacts to the infection. The organism generally gains entrance through cut, bruised, or scratched areas and this explains why the hands, feet, knees, scalp, face, and neck are favored sites. When a susceptible individual encounters a person with measles, ten days to two weeks will elapse before coming down with the illness. This is known as the "incubation period." In warts, two to three months usually pass between the time the virus enters the skin and the appearance of the outbreak. Because the lesions are contagious, after the first (mother wart) occurs, others may arise at a later date. The blemishes may persist for 30 years or more but the majority fade away when the body develops an immunity against them.

Countless remedies are available, varying from acids of all sorts to complete surgical removal. They can be burned out by means of electrolysis or surgical diathermy or frozen into submission with solid carbon dioxide snow. X-ray and radium are popular also but care must be exercised lest the surrounding tissue be damaged. This is true especially with plantar warts on the soles of the feet. All too often, years later an ulcer forms that is difficult to heal.

ABDOMINAL PAIN

Mrs. O. writes: My 11 year old daughter has had a nagging pain in the pit of her stomach for almost two years off and on. Doctors have examined her, and X-rayed the bowel but everything seems normal and there are no signs of appendicitis. She never runs a fever and continues to gain weight normally. What is the next step?

Reply

If the tests have been done properly and the results are negative, the symptom may be of nervous origin or due to spasm. In the circumstances, it might be advisable to investigate along this line.

KIDNEY OPERATION

H. L. J. D. writes: During operation for removal of a kidney, can the other be examined at the same time?

Reply

This is rarely possible because in the usual operation, the incision is made through the back and not into the abdominal cavity.

Foot Infection

A. T. writes: Is there any such disease as Japanese rot which some say was brought to America by our veterans?

Reply

To my knowledge, no one has acquired the disease in the United States. Furthermore, we are not certain as to exact cause of jungle rot except that it is believed to be a fungous infection which attacks the hands and feet principally.

●—●—●

FOOT PERSPIRATION

E. U. writes: Is there any way to stop excessive perspiration of the feet? This condition prevails all the year round and ruins my shoes.

Reply

Many remedies are available, including preparations of formaldehyde, alum, potassium chloride. Frequent bathing and dusting the feet with powder containing boric acid often prove helpful. As a last resort, X-ray therapy may be recommended.

New Congress Has Plenty Of Promising Raw Material; Representatives Range From Newsmen To School-teachers; 81st Congress Will Be Hard To Restrain

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 — The new House of Representatives has now been shaken down, had a chance to settle in new offices, and has taken a look at each other. Also outsiders have had a chance to look at them. The results have not been disappointing.

In brief, the new Congress looks good. It has more war veterans, more youngsters who take their work seriously, more promising raw material than any since before Pearl Harbor. Many never dreamed they would be elected. Many are nervous, shy, and worried about which fork to pick up in Washington. But the main thing is that they know what happened to the 80th Congress, and, if they can help it, they aren't going to let history repeat.

Obviously, most of the new Congressmen are Democrats. But the new Republicans seem to have a lot on the ball, too. Anyway, here is a cross-section of the 81st freshmen, the men who hold the balance of power on Capitol Hill and who will shape your lives for the next few years:

Newsmen to schoolteachers: Harry Davenport, Pennsylvania Democrat—Publisher of weekly newspaper; ran against GOP John McDowell of the Un-American Affairs Committee, never expecting to win. Now that he's in Congress—much to his surprise—he'll push hard for the liberal program he advocated. . . . Chuck Gross, Iowa Republican—popular Midwest radio commentator of Waterloo; defeated reactionary John Gwynne in the Republican primaries by going to the voters over the heads of the political machines. . . . Jerry Ford, Michigan Republican — healthy replacement for Bartel Jonkman, who was one of the most backward of the 80th Congress. Just married, with a new home and a new job, Ford will be a mighty Congressman. . . Thurman Crook, Democrat, of South Bend, Ind.—Known as the only "legalized crook" in Congress, he comes to Washington after 35 years as a high school teacher. Will work for better educational benefits.

New Southern solons: Thurmond Chatham, North Carolina—Wealthy manufacturer of blankets, tweeds and textiles (Chatham Mills) with outstanding war record in submarine service. Open-minded on major issues. . . . Charles Bennett, Jacksonville, Florida—A 38-year-old attorney who's proud the real estate lobby fought him. Led troops behind Jap lines during the Philippine invasion—until stricken with polio. Still fighting . . . Syd Herlong, Florida—Great friend of the orange. Will steer middle-of-road course while squeezing last drop of political juice from his district's citrus crops . . . . Carl Elliott, Jasper, Alabama—Successfully bucked local political machine with 129 speeches in 35 days—all pointing up need for improved rural housing and higher educational standards. . . . Hugo Sims, South Carolina—Battled against real estate lobby, and will keep on battling. Among the top nominees for "young men of the nation" selected by Junior Chamber of Commerce . . . John Golden, Kentucky—one of the few new Republicans elected in the South. Careful, conscientious.

The industrial East: Foster Furcolo, Massachusetts Democrat—Came up the hard way, washing dishes and waiting on table at Yale. Got a law degree, saw naval action in the Pacific, elected in a GOP district by fighting high prices and bad housing . . . Harry O'Neill, Pennsylvania Democrat—son of a Scranton coal miner. Harry had 14 brothers and sisters, began life as a barber, switched to insurance, is a strong union man, will go down the line for the Fair Deal . . . Abraham Rubicoff, Connecticut—gave up lucrative law practice to run for Congress. Handsome, intelligent, big vote-getter, will follow liberal line . . . John McGuire, Connecticut Democrat—friendly, small-town insurance agent who's been undefeated in local and state elections. In his spare time, he'll boost Connecticut's new Governor, Chester Bowles, for the White House... Peter Rodino, Newark, N. J., Democrat—fills the seat of Fred Hartley of Taft-Hartley Act fame, and has political views exactly the opposite. . . . Hugh Addonizio, Newark, N. J., Democrat—may have the makings of a new Fiorello La Guardia.

Rocky Mountain States — Wayne Aspinall, Colorado Democrat—furious campaign through one of nation's largest Congressional districts. Crossed 16 mountain passes with elevations over 10,000 feet searching votes. Dyed-in-the-wool New Dealer, he'll see that the West is heard in Congress—if he has to do all the talking himself . . . John Marsalis, Pueblo, Colo., Democrat—Batchelor at 44, a staff sergeant in the war, he learned the GI side of the Army. Interested chiefly in reclamation and labor; will vote for straight repeal of Taft-Hartley . . . Reva Beck Bosone, Utah Democrat — capable, charming amazon; keen mind, was a good judge in Utah and should make a good Congresswoman . . . Walter Baring, Reno, Nev., Democrat—won Nevada's solitary Congressional seat by covering 30,000 miles of mountains and sagebrush in eight weeks. A mild-mannered, easygoing young Westerner, he'll support the Truman Fair Deal and work for development of his state's vast mineral wealth.

Southwest Congressmen: Harold Patton, Arizona Democrat—41-year-old life insurance executive. Son of railroad engineer, he got help from both labor and business. Favors better treatment for stricken Navajo Indians . . . John Miles of New Mexico—Former Democratic governor of his state and an old hand at government. Quiet, mild-mannered, able. Should be good middle-of-road Congressman . . . Dixie Gilmer, Oklahoma Democrat—Came to Congress as a page boy at the age of 12. Today he's back after defeating GOP conservative George Schwabe of Tulsa. Can deliver fiery speeches. . . . George Wilson of Enid, Oklahoma—Former FBI agent, idealistic and deeply religious. Real possibilities. Elected to the seat of Ross Rizley, pocketbook Congressman . . Lloyd Bentsen, McAllen, Texas—In only 27 years of life he's been lawyer, judge, bomber pilot and Congressman; even has a good-looking wife. If he doesn't get spoiled early, he should be good . . . Homer Thornberry, Austin, Texas — Good replacement for Senator-elect Lyndon Johnson. Will battle for rural electrification and public power . . . Tom Steed, Shawnee, Oklahoma, Democrat — Former editor of the Shawnee Morning News and Shawnee Evening Star, has served as secretary to three former Congressmen, knows Washington inside out, is slated to go far.

Foreign Policy And How GOP Views Administration's Moves

By MARK SULLIVAN

An atmosphere arising in Washington is illustrated by two current incidents. One is an action taken by the Democrats in the Senate, reducing conspicuously the number of Republicans on the Foreign Relations Committee.

When the election caused the Republicans to become the minority party in the Senate as a whole, it followed as a matter of course that they must become the minority also in the Committee on Foreign Relations. But the reduction on this committee is out of proportion to the reduction in the Senate as a whole. In the old Foreign Relations Committee the proportion was 7 Republicans to 6 Democrats. Republicans felt that this proportion between the minority and majority parties should be retained in the committee as newly constituted. The Democrats, however, made the new proportion 8 Democrats to 5 Republicans.

Part of the reason for Republican complaint lay in the fact that our policy about foreign relations, especially our relations with Russia, has been bi-partisan. Some Republicans apprehended possibility that the Administration might intend to change our policy about Russia, and might wish the Republicans to have less part in the policy. The Republicans found additional grievance in the fact that Mr. Truman, in appointing a new Secretary of State, who will coduct our foreign relations, did not consult Republican leaders in advance. Some Republicans felt that, in the spirit of bi-partisanship about foreign relations as conducted in the past, so important a step, bearing so directly on foreign relations, ought not to have been taken without previous consultation with Republican leaders.

Two Views Of Whole Matter

For light on all this, the whole matter may be divided, theoretically, into two parts. One is our relation with Russia as it now is and our policy about Russia as it now stands. The other is how our present relation to Russia arose, how did it become necessary that our policy about Russia be what it now is?

About our present relation to Russia, the necessity of bi-partisanship is well recognized. It is part of the idea commonly expressed by saying that in foreign policy we should have unity, that politics should end at the water's edge. But how our relations with a country in the past, in this case Russia, have been conducted by the party in power is legitimate for the opposition party to raise as an issue.

But if theoretically the two can be kept separate, keeping them separate in practice raises difficulty. Logically the two are not separate at all, they have been the relation of cause and effect, the policy about a foreign country, at any time, in this case Russia, is a consequence of the history of our relations with that country. This the Republicans sense, they sensed it during the campaign and instinctively felt frustrated by the necessity for not raising our Russian policy as an issue.

The history of our relation to Russia is associated with peculiar directness with the party in power. The whole period in which we have had any official relations with Soviet Russia at all is a period in which the Administration in Washington was in the hands of the Democratic Party, and in which the party leadership in office reflected a special school of thought that determined its policies, both domestic and foreign. This period consisted of the combined administration of Roosevelt and Truman.

Boundaries Of The Period

The boundaries of the period, as bearing on our relations with Russia, lend themselves to simple statement. The period began with recognition of the Communist government of Russia by the Roosevelt administration in its first year, 1933, after four preceding administrations had withheld recognition. The end of the period, so far, is our relations with Russia as they now stand.

Merely to state the beginning and the end is to suggest how appropriate the period is for attack by the party that was out of power throughout the period. Yet the Republicans, because of the necessity for bi-partisanship on existing policy about Russia, feels restraint about attack on the history of how the policy came about. This sense of restraint accounts in large part for the restiveness about bi-partisan policy which simmers in the present atmosphere of Washington. Hardly anything could be more incumbent on the Truman Administration than to keep the Republicans content to cooperate in foreign policy.

Is This The Time To Legislate Huge Sums To Federal Officials?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14—This is the administration of the "little fellows"—the one, it will be recalled, that the "little people" everywhere elected last November. And yet about the first thing the Democrats are doing in the new session of Congress is to vote on a proposal to raise the pay of President Truman to an income equivalent to about $240,000 before taxes.

Various devices are suggested to give Mr. Truman $50,000 expense money which he would not have to account for to anybody and which would be free from taxation, and, in addition, a raise in salary.

There is a general move on to raise salaries in the government and the principal reason cited for it is that it is hard to attract executives of ability into the government service at present salary rates. But it would appear that there are plenty of men with executive ability—some of them even in Congress—who would be glad to serve as President at the present salary rate of $75,000 a year and only $40,000 instead of $90,000 for expenses. Some of them are Democrats, too, and they are not at all men of independent means. Perhaps it would be embarrassing to mention them but sometime between now and the national conventions of 1952 their names doubtless will be revealed to the public.

In Bad Taste

The idea of raising the President's pay is presumably something which Mr. Truman himself didn't start. A commission headed by Herbert Hoover has been studying government salaries and has recommended more pay for the President, the Vice President, the Speaker of the House, cabinet members and so on. All this is unquestionably due to the devaluation of the purchasing power of the dollar.

But it has been supposed for years that men who entered the public service did not do so for materialistic reasons. Only people influenced by the profit motive in business were presumed to be materialistic in their attitudes.

Mr. Truman may feel that this is something from which he can remain aloof. But his signature will be required to make the bill into a law. By approving the measure he will be raising his own pay in almost the first legislative act since he was elected.

It would not appear in such bad taste if it were not for the fact Mr. Truman is announcing that he wants everybody in America with an income over $6,000 a year to pay increased taxes. The theory that certain citizens in effect shall be tax exempt and others shall bear the added costs of government implies that only a few shall be privileged to pay these higher taxes. There was a time when the American theory of good citizenship included the right of every citizen to be permitted to share in the obligations of government. Certainly it would be odd if all labor unions, for example, decided to exempt from the payment of dues those who earned less than a certain amount per week. The idea always has been that those who share the benefits should always pay a part of the cost.

Mr. Truman is asking that an additional $4,000,000,000 in taxes be imposed on both business and individual incomes, and that a $2,000,000,000 increase in social security taxes be deducted from payrolls each week.

Things Voters Might Question

It might be questioned by the voters—including many who voted for a Democratic Congress, as did this correspondent—whether the people gave a "mandate" to increase taxes for everybody over $6,000 and to exempt everybody else from the increases, and whether the people voted to give more pay to the officials of government, at least in such sums as are being mentioned.

If the budget has to be balanced, the first step is to reduce expenses. If it remains unbalanced even then, the next step is to spread the burdens of taxes equitably so that all citizens pay a fair share of the cost of maintaining government, a fair share of the expense of feeding Europe and the money needed to prepare the Army, Navy and Air Forces to give America military security. Certainly many citizens upon reflection will want to pay something more at least toward the additional costs of armament. It doesn't look, moreover, as if this is the time to raise by huge sums the pay of those officials who went up and down the country denouncing the Republicans as men who would enrich themselves at the expense of the government. The "little fellows" may not like it.

These Days

The Drift To Socialism

OF all of us in Petrograd in October, 1917, John Reed was most stirred by the Bolshevik revolution. He wrote a little book, "Ten Days That Shook the World," in which he said in 1919:

"It is still fashionable, after a whole year of the Soviet government ,to speak of the Bolshevik insurrection as an 'adventure'. Adventure it was, and one of the most marvelous mankind ever embarked upon, sweeping into history at the head of the toiling masses, and staking everything on their vast and simple desires. . . ."

John Reed did not live long enough to discover that the ten days that shook the world produced not freedom but slavery. Many followed Reed into Russia. Young men and women, in particular young intellectuals, viewing the inequalities of the world in which they live and from which they benefit, often confuse the word for the act, the promise for the deed.

And so for 31 years, the vast propagandistic organization of international communism has been focusing attention on the faults of every country. In the United States, young people found inequalities, discriminations, prejudices which disturbed them: In fact, among the rich, the socially elect, those benefitting by every advantage in life, young men and women who in the 1890's and early 1900's might have gone into reform movements or social work, found an outlet in fighting against the effects of the depression, against the inequalities of opportunity.

They joined what became communist front organizations. A young man I know first joined various organizations favorable to more popular movements in China and other far eastern countries. He soon found himself involved in movements against discrimination of negroes. He found that his huge contributions (he is a millionaire) were acceptable everywhere. His counsel, his education, his personality were always welcome. Nearly all the people he met on one committee were on another—and they were an interesting crowd, writers, poets, artists, revolutionists. He is now a big-shot in American communism.

Did he drift? Maybe. Maybe he drifted as a boy drifts into any gang. But there is more to it than that—much more. In the first place this young man suffered from a guilt complex. Why did his ancestors gather together millions of dollars while others, working along with them, got so little? Why did they own palaces when so many lived in hovels and tenements? This, to such a young man, was a deeply emotional matter; he could not appraise the problems he faced with cold logic. He had been to our best schools; he had been to our best university; he had traveled the world.

He had read all the books that an intelligent young man should read. He had studied modern economics, modern sociology; he knew there is no God; he believed in the materialistic interpretation of history.

But here is what happened not to the particular young man I have in mind but to others like him. They got jobs in various departments of government. They fell into a pattern. They produced an altogether new form of administration, one as closely modeled on the Russian pattern as was possible in the United States. They used a new language; wrote new history books; established a new concept of economic for our country.

They used their power to build here the welfare state—a state in which by taxation, by administrative law, by decrees issued by administrative agencies, the middle class would be driven into the proletariat, and the proletariat would become the spoils of labor unions which they controlled by gaining the administrative positions in them.

While the war helped them to move into important positions, they nevertheless were not sufficiently efficient to succeed altogether. It is a miracle that they did so little, for the revolutionary forces let loose in 1917 were moving swiftly and effectively throughout the world. They failed in the United States, but the resistance of the American people was being worn down. A generation appeared which had come under their influence.

It could not accept Russia nor even communism—but it did not possess the background, the knowledge, the ideals to resist the welfare state—the inevitable forerunner of socialism.

Good that Ben Franklin isn't around to see what Congress is paying for its whistle. Ben would be the first to blow it.

If memory doesn't stutter, Mr. Truman was elected on an economy plank. That sure was a short boardwalk.

Cat Eyes . . .

Have you ever seen the eyes of a cat at night—with light reflected in their glassy stare?

And the eyes of this tabby—there is an eerie quality in them, something hypnotic and almost without life.

Yet these are the eyes of a living creature, the eyes of an animal that sleeps and eats and walks and runs.

What then is the mystery of cat eyes? What do these eyes lack that would give them softness, kindness, and radiance.

IMMORTALITY is the answer—for a cat has no soul.

A cat has nothing of the spiritual, which in man makes him the unique being among God's creatures. Man has a little something of the Divine in him—the immortal soul. And to develop this soul is one of the greatest responsibilities we have in life.

With the help of God's Holy Word and through the guidance of the Church, man is able to add new lustre to his life, a lustre that shines in his eyes and mirrors the soul within.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Go To Church This Sunday, Your Church, Any Church, But Go!

Cat Eyes...

Have you ever seen the eyes of a cat at night—with light reflected in their glassy stare?

And the eyes of this tabby—there is an eerie quality in them, something hypnotic and almost without life.

Yet these are the eyes of a living creature, the eyes of an animal that sleeps and eats and walks and runs.

What then is the mystery of cat eyes? What do these eyes lack that would give them softness, kindness, and radiance.

IMMORTALITY is the answer—for a cat has no soul.

A cat has nothing of the spiritual, which in man makes him the unique being among God's creatures. Man has a little something of the Divine in him—the immortal soul. And to develop this soul is one of the greatest responsibilities we have in life.

With the help of God's Holy Word and through the guidance of the Church, man is able to add new lustre to his life, a lustre that shines in his eyes and mirrors the soul within.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Frostburg Stores To Stay Open On Saturday Nights

Banks To Be Asked To Adopt New Hours

FROSTBURG—Members of the Frostburg Business Association voted at a meeting at City Hall Thursday night to keep their stores open on Saturday nights starting next week. They decided to contact Frostburg bankers to determine if an agreement can be reached to open banks on Saturdays.

The proposal to extend store hours to 9 p. m. one night a week was approved by a two-thirds majority in the voting.

A suggestion that Monday night be designated for late store hours in place of Saturday met with little response, with only one member speaking in favor of the plan. Several Cumberland merchants agreed recently to late store hours on Monday nights.

In nearby Meyersdale, Pa., business men pointed out, business on Saturday nights has increased greatly until Saturday night sales there are higher than ever before.

The increase in Meyersdale was ascribed partly to the reversion to 6 p. m. or 5 p. m. closing on Saturdays in most area towns, including Frostburg and Cumberland.

Many farmers and other rural dwellers find it inconvenient to do their shopping during the week or before 5 or 6 p. m. Saturdays. Much of the farm business which formerly was distributed throughout the area has gone to Meyersdale and to other area towns which have kept late closing hours on Saturday in effect.

Local merchants pointed out at Thursday night's meeting that the closing of banks on Saturdays creates a hardship for business people, staff workers, local industrial plants, office workers, school teachers and others whose work week ends with Friday.

Thomas Elias, president of the association, appointed Richard Hamill, Ira Langluttig and Robert Hohing to contact officers of both local banks to arrange for a conference.

Polio Campaign Meeting Called

LONACONING—Morgan S. Riley, chairman of the Lonaconing March of Dimes, announces that an important meeting will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in James P. William Gephart, Church Street, was named treasurer of the current drive which began January 14 and continues to January 31.

Hugh Tennent was named chairman of the dance committee.

Riley asks that all contributions be made payable to William Gephart, treasurer.

Parsons Girls Is Wed In Church Ceremony

For her marriage the bride wore a tan two-piece suit of gabardine with which she chose brown accessories complimented with a corsage of gardenias.

PIEDMONT—A panel discussion on Federal Aid for Education by H. L. Idleman, Mineral County superintendent of public schools; Olyn Shaffer, a member of the Keyser High School faculty and Vernon A. Staggers, principal of Piedmont High School featured the meeting of the Piedmont Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night in the school auditorium.

Resolutions were ordered sent to President Harry S. Truman, Senator Mansfield M. Neely and Senator Harley M. Kilgore from West Virginia thanking them for supporting the bill.

The group voted last fall to donate $100 for school library books and $100 to puchase musical instruments for the school orchestra. Both were ordered to be paid Thursday.

At the request of Raymond C. Hudson, chairman of the Piedmont Chapter of the American Red Cross, the association will sponsor the Red Cross drive again this year. Last year it was the second chapter in the state to report it had oversubscribed its quota.

Objections To Crossing Gates Are Voiced

OAKLAND—Objections to the placing of safety gates at the railroad crossing on Second Street were voiced at the regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council.

Objections were brought to the attention of the council by Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh who declared several citizens of town had made the complaints that the proposed safety gates not only were dangerous but would retard traffic both ways.

At the December meeting the City Council gave approval of the safety gates which had been recommended by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce after a meeting with B. and O. officials. At that time the council accepted an invitation of the railroad company to go to Paw Paw in the near future to inspect the ones in operation there.

Mayor Hinebaugh said the trip probably would be made on January 26 and that council members also wanted several business men to accompany them. The railroad company, it is understood, will take the group on the Diplomat, entertain them at Paw Paw, and get them back the same afternoon.

The council announced that the annual registration day for qualified voters in Oakland's municipal election, who had not previously been registered, would be on Monday, January 24. Miss Elizabeth West and Mrs. Lewis R. Jones were named as clerks.

Mr. Finnell has been active in moral and social reform work for a lifetime. His lectures on these lines have taken him into 46 states where he has spoken in schools, colleges, churches and before lyceum, chautauqua and convention audiences.

Temperance leaders point out that the demand for National Prohibition is growing due to the increase of drinking by women and girls, the higher taxes due to costs of caring for the results of drinking and the mounting deaths from highway accidents.

Frostburg Stores To Stay Open On Saturday Nights

Banks To Be Asked To Adopt New Hours

FROSTBURG—Members of the Frostburg Business Association voted at a meeting at City Hall Thursday night to keep their stores open on Saturday nights starting next week. They decided to contact Frostburg bankers to determine if an agreement can be reached to open banks on Saturdays.

The proposal to extend store hours to 9 p. m. one night a week was approved by a two-thirds majority in the voting.

A suggestion that Monday night be designated for late store hours in place of Saturday met with little response, with only one member speaking in favor of the plan. Several Cumberland merchants agreed recently to late store hours on Monday nights.

In nearby Meyersdale, Pa., business men pointed out, business on Saturday nights has increased greatly until Saturday night sales there are higher than ever before.

The increase in Meyersdale was ascribed partly to the reversion to 6 p. m. or 5 p. m. closing on Saturdays in most area towns, including Frostburg and Cumberland.

Many farmers and other rural dwellers find it inconvenient to do their shopping during the week or before 5 or 6 p. m. Saturdays. Much of the farm business which formerly was distributed throughout the area has gone to Meyersdale and to other area towns which have kept late closing hours on Saturday in effect.

Local merchants pointed out at Thursday night's meeting that the closing of banks on Saturdays creates a hardship for business people, staff workers, local industrial plants, office workers, school teachers and others whose work week ends with Friday.

Thomas Elias, president of the association, appointed Richard Hamill, Ira Langluttig and Robert Hohing to contact officers of both local banks to arrange for a conference.

Objections To Crossing Gates Are Voiced

OAKLAND—Objections to the placing of safety gates at the railroad crossing on Second Street were voiced at the regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council.

Objections were brought to the attention of the council by Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh who declared several citizens of town had made the complaints that the proposed safety gates not only were dangerous but would retard traffic both ways.

At the December meeting the City Council gave approval of the safety gates which had been recommended by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce after a meeting with B. and O. officials. At that time the council accepted an invitation of the railroad company to go to Paw Paw in the near future to inspect the ones in operation there.

Mayor Hinebaugh said the trip probably would be made on January 26 and that council members also wanted several business men to accompany them. The railroad company, it is understood, will take the group on the Diplomat, entertain them at Paw Paw, and get them back the same afternoon.

The council announced that the annual registration day for qualified voters in Oakland's municipal election, who had not previously been registered, would be on Monday, January 24. Miss Elizabeth West and Mrs. Lewis R. Jones were named as clerks.

OAKLAND — Virgil C. Finnell, Winona Lake, Indiana, chairman of the Prohibition National Committee and editor of the "National Prohibitionist," is to speak in this area on the topic, "God Save America."

This address will be delivered at meetings to be held at Oak Grove Church of the Brethren, Wednesday, January 19, 8 p. m., and the Accident Church of the Brethren, Thursday, January 20, at 8 p. m.

by
Pat Robinson
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (INS)—We have known hundreds of fight managers. Most of them honest, some larcenous, many stupid, a few smart.

We've known all the top notchers from Leo P. Flynn, Jimmy Johnston, Dan McKettrick and Dumb Dan Morgan down to scores of riffraff now operating.

And in our book the best of them all was and is Jack Hurley.

Why? Because he's honest, intelligent and knows how to spot, then train, teach and properly match a fighter better than anybody we've known. Soft-spoken and unassuming, he still manages to make any fighter he handles behave and keep in condition at all times.

Jack is articulate as well as observant and that's why we like to listen to him.

Which brings us to a discussion we had recently about the dominance of negro fighters in the fight game today. We mentioned Joe Louis, Ray Robinson, Ike Williams and Sandy Saddler—all champions—as examples.

"That's true," Jack said, "but neither a new situation nor a surprising one.

"There's a sound reason for it. Most fighters are very young. They have to be because it's a young man's game.

"Now a colored boy 18 years old is far more mature, physically, than a white boy the same age. I don't know why that should be so but I do know it's a fact.

"I've watched thousands of fighters in the last 25 years and I've come to the conclusion that the average colored boy of 18 is as matured as a white boy 25 years old. Negroes seem to develop earlier in a physical way and often fade more quickly.

"Another factor for the negro's success is that he seems to have a natural rythm of movement which few white boys possess."

Reverting to the old days—say, 30 or more years ago—Jack pointed out that negro dominance in the prize ring was even more pronounced than today because there were comparatively few negro fighters then while now there are thousands.

"Look back over the old heavyweights and you'll see what I mean," said Jack. "There was Jack Johnson, Sam Langford, Sam McVey, Joe Jeannette, John Lester Johnson, the fellow who broke Jack Dempsey's ribs and almost finished Jack's career, and mony others.

"Then there were great welterweights like Joe Walcott and the Dixie Kid. Joe was so good that he could and did fight heavyweights and beat them.

"As for the lightweights we had Jack Blackburn who taught Joe Louis all he knows about fighting and Joe Gans. Gans still is rated the greatest lightweight champion of all time.

"Gans was just as shifty and quick as a jungle cat.

"Then there was George Dixon who, although he scaled only about 116 pounds, held both the bantamweight and featherweight titles at the same time.

"No," Jack concluded, "there's nothing new or surprising about negro dominance in the fight game. And that dominance is likely to become greater before it becomes less, because more and more colored boys are taking to the ring while fewer white boys are donning gloves."

ROTTERDAM—(AP)—"Do you buy cigarettes in the black market?" the management of a Rotterdam office asked the staff recently. Only three of the 94 answers were in the negative. They were from non-smokers.

New Symphonies For Youth Series Returns To Mutual

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—Another series of Symphonies for youth come to the MBS network on Saturdays. As before, they will be supplied by the Los Angeles Philharmonic under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein.

Each weekly program, for an hour, starts at 1:30 p. m. This will be the fourth season for the concerts.

As a matter of fact, Saturday has become the music high spot of the week, what with all these events extant. It is more so even than Sunday used to be. Here are the shows:

ABC 2 p. m. Metropolitan opera in "Love of the Three Kings."

NBC 3 Orchestras of the Nation by the Nashville symphony.

NBC 6:30 NBC Symphony, guest conductor Guido Cantello, protege of Toscanini.

MBS 10 Chicago Theater doing Gilbert and Sullivan's "HMS Pinafore."

The higher tax program of the Truman administration will be the question for Cross Section USA on CBS at 3:30. . . Miss K. T. Stevens is joining Junior Miss on CBS at 11:30 so that she play Lois. . . Coast Guard on Parade, for MBS at 11 a. m., is to salute the forthcoming presidential inauguration.

Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (INS)—We have known hundreds of fight managers. Most of them honest, some larcenous, many stupid, a few smart.

We've known all the top notchers from Leo P. Flynn, Jimmy Johnston, Dan McKettrick and Dumb Dan Morgan down to scores of riffraff now operating.

And in our book the best of them all was and is Jack Hurley.

Why? Because he's honest, intelligent and knows how to spot, then train, teach and properly match a fighter better than anybody we've known. Soft-spoken and unassuming, he still manages to make any fighter he handles behave and keep in condition at all times.

Jack is articulate as well as observant and that's why we like to listen to him.

Which brings us to a discussion we had recently about the dominance of negro fighters in the fight game today. We mentioned Joe Louis, Ray Robinson, Ike Williams and Sandy Saddler—all champions—as examples.

"That's true," Jack said, "but neither a new situation nor a surprising one.

"There's a sound reason for it. Most fighters are very young. They have to be because it's a young man's game.

"Now a colored boy 18 years old is far more mature, physically, than a white boy the same age. I don't know why that should be so but I do know it's a fact.

"I've watched thousands of fighters in the last 25 years and I've come to the conclusion that the average colored boy of 18 is as matured as a white boy 25 years old. Negroes seem to develop earlier in a physical way and often fade more quickly.

"Another factor for the negro's success is that he seems to have a natural rythm of movement which few white boys possess."

Reverting to the old days—say, 30 or more years ago—Jack pointed out that negro dominance in the prize ring was even more pronounced than today because there were comparatively few negro fighters then while now there are thousands.

"Look back over the old heavyweights and you'll see what I mean," said Jack. "There was Jack Johnson, Sam Langford, Sam McVey, Joe Jeannette, John Lester Johnson, the fellow who broke Jack Dempsey's ribs and almost finished Jack's career, and mony others.

"Then there were great welterweights like Joe Walcott and the Dixie Kid. Joe was so good that he could and did fight heavyweights and beat them.

"As for the lightweights we had Jack Blackburn who taught Joe Louis all he knows about fighting and Joe Gans. Gans still is rated the greatest lightweight champion of all time.

"Gans was just as shifty and quick as a jungle cat.

"Then there was George Dixon who, although he scaled only about 116 pounds, held both the bantamweight and featherweight titles at the same time.

"No," Jack concluded, "there's nothing new or surprising about negro dominance in the fight game. And that dominance is likely to become greater before it becomes less, because more and more colored boys are taking to the ring while fewer white boys are donning gloves."

Fort Hill's Sentinels tied Allegany for first place in the W.M.I. League last night by defeating Bruce High in a hard-fought contest by the score of 40-35 on the Fort Hill court.

The Westernport quint held a 22-20 edge at the half but Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's floormen pulled the game out of the fire in the final period.

Flashing the form that gave him the city and W.M.I. League scoring titles last season, Charley Lattimer led the Fort Hill attack with 18 points on eight field goals and two free throws. Don Moran sparked Bruce with 13 points on five double-deckers and three one-pointers.

The victory was the ninth for Fort Hill's unbeaten team and the third straight in W.M.I. League competition.

Fort Hill's Reserves crushed the Bruce Reserves in the preliminary contest, 33-15. Beightol and Cage with nine and six markers led the scorers of the winning quint.

Central Trims Barton

At Lonaconing, Central High's cagers scored a 39 to 26 victory over Barton High's Braves.

Ray Ralston featured on the offense for Coach Meyers' Orange and Black aggregation by ringing up 14 points. Tichnell topped the Barton scorers with 15 points.

Barton held an 18-17 lead at halftime but Central was in front 27-20 when the third quarter ended. Donald McKenzie and Bobby Lee starred on defense for Central.

Central's Reserves downed Barton in the opening game, 30-19. Lineups:

Tripleheader Slated At Morgantown Today

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 14 — The season's first tripleheader will be offered at West Virginia University tomorrow night, highlighted by the varsity basketball battle between the Mountaineers and Waynesburg College.

The complete program follows:

6 p. m., varsity wrestling, West Virginia vs. Washington and Jefferson College.

8 p. m., varsity basketball, West Virginia vs. Waynesburg College.

9:30 p. m., freshman basketball, West Virginia vs. Waynesburg College.

More than usual interest centers in the appearance of the Waynesburg cagers and their well known coach, Frankie Gustine of major league baseball fame. It will be Gustine's first visit to Morgantown since he took over the mentorship at Waynesburg last season.

Gustine directed his 1948 quint to a 16-5 record and the Yellow Jackets are off to a good start this winter with a 6-2 showing to date. They have bowed to W. & J. and Youngstown.

Waynesburg last played here in 1947, losing 83-60.

Tropical Park Race Season Closes Today

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 14 (AP)—Calumet farm's Faultless is slated to face 14 rivals in the $10,000 Tropical Handicap, mile and a sixteenth feature which rings down the curtain on the first 40 days of Florida's racing season.

Warren Wright's five-year-old is certain to be the favorite with an impost of 115 pounds. He was 8-5 in the early line.

Mrs. Helen K. Haggerty's Rampart and G. R. Watkins' Cat Bridge, going as an entry, were held at 3-1, the same odds as quoted on Bermill Farm's Bug Juice. Rampart will carry 116 pounds and Cat Bridge 114, the same impost on Bug Juice.

COLLEGE BOXING

MARKED MAN — Eventually, anyone who plays ice hockey very long becomes a marked man. Marked with stitches, that is. And while it's a rough way to make it, there's money in those cuts and gashes. To most hockey players, a wound which needs a needle is worth $10. It comes from special insurance carried by the lads in this rough and tumble sport. Time was when the insurance paid $5 per stitch. Above is a retouched photo of Tulsa Oiler veteran Jud McAtee and shows where 76 stitches have been taken in his face.

Underdog Foster Kayoes Pellone In Seventh Round

Lil' Arthur King Wins Garden Bout

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Vince Foster, a sensational Johnny-come-lately from Omaha, Nebr., knocked out Tony Pellone, a 5 to 11 favorite, tonight in 44 seconds of the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round feature bout on an all-star card at Madison Square Garden. Pellone weighed 146½ and Foster 146.

Foster, a two-fisted slugger with a paralyzing wallop in his right mitt, dropped Pellone four times before Referee Mark Conn finally tolled over the thoroughly beaten New York welter.

Walking out of his corner to start the seventh, Jack Hurley's brilliant 22-year-old prospect caught Pellone with a smashing right that dropped Pellone in his tracks.

Tough Tony, dazed and shaken, tried to get up at five but dropped back to take a seven count. No sooner was he up than Foster was on him again. Another smashing right sent him down for keeps. Although Pellone tried to make it, he obviously was in no condition to continue.

As Referee Conn counted, Pellone's seconds cried from the corner to stop the contest without bothering to make the 10-count official. Mark could have counted to 25 without trouble.

The big crowd of 14,421 which paid $44,639 for the all-tar card gave Foster a tremendous cheer as he left the ring. It was the most exciting victory scored in the Garden since Sandy Saddler knocked out Willie Pep in October.

Lil' Arthur King, British Empire lightweight champion from Toronto, floored Willie Beltram, Bronx lightweight, six times in winning a rough eight-round bout on the all-star card, featuring winners of recent Garden semi-finals.

Roland La Starza, unbeaten Bronx heavyweight, racked up win No. 29 by an eight-round decision over Bill Weinberg, New York and Boston veteran, in a slow semi-final.

Giving height and some 28 pounds to his giant-sized foe, La Starza took a split decision.

Eagles Are Sued

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League today were sued in U. S. District Court for $18,565.37 by a former ticket sales manager and accountant.

Victor Ruby, employed by the Eagles from February 19, 1946, to October 6, 1947, charged the club with breach of contract. He claims he was dismissed without cause after working only one year and eight months.

Yellow Jackets Stop Franklin In 50-33 Tilt

Keyser High Scores Over Romney, 39-29

Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High Ylelow Jackets handed Franklin High School's Panthers their first setback of the season in seven starts by winning in a Potomac Valley Conference game last night in Franklin, W. Va., by the score of 50 to 33.

Keyser High remained on even footing with Moorefield in the P.V.C. rave by rallying in the closing minutes of play to defeat Romney High School's Pioneers at Romney by the score of 39-29.

Moorefield, Franklin and Keyser now have 3-1 records in the conference.

An overflow crowd turned out at Franklin to see the Panthers bow for the first time this season to the Hardy County invaders. The Jackets sewed up the game in the first half by rolling up a 33-14 score.

Bill Harman and W. Hott headed the Moorefield attack with 17 and 12 points while Pope paced Franklin with an even dozen tallies. The losers converted 17 of 23 free throws to Moorefield's 10 of 16 but the latter team racked up 20 fielders to the Panthers' 13.

Held to a 31-28 score at the automatic time-out, Keyser tossed in eight points in the closing minutes of play to win over Coach Dick McElwee's floormen.

Coach John Shelton's passers held the lead at the close of the first three periods, 10-8, 15-13 and 29-24.

Jaworek, Calhoun and Nelson shared 27 points for the Golden Tornado while Maphis sparked the Romney attack offensive with 12 markers. Baird and Jaworek were ejected on personal fouls. The lineups:

Davis High Beats Petersburg, 38-30

Whitehair Racks Up 16 Points In P.V.C. Game

DAVIS, W. Va., Jan. 14—Davis High School's Wildcats took Petersburg High's Vikings into camp tonight in a Potomac Valley Conference game by the score of 38-30.

Playing without the services of Gus Smith, their high scoring forward, who suffered an ankle injury in a scrimmage earlier in the week, Coach Walt Owens' aggregation put up a great battle before going down to defeat. Davis led at the close of the quarters, 9-6, 13-11 and 22-17.

Whitehair was the "big gun" for Coach Weider Pell's team with 16 points to his credit. Crites, Ours and Vance collected 27 of Petersburg's 30 points. The lineups:

The Ladies Needle Us — Say We're Not Bell Fan
Take Red Klotz Apart — Oh, Those Phone Calls

By C. V. BURNS

A survey of the tri-state basketball front indicates that the two top songs of the week are:

"Referees Are Coming From Far Away Places" and "Our Referees Will Not Be There."

• — • — •

The following letter reached our desk this week:

Dear Mr. Burns,

"We have just read your column in the Tuesday morning paper (January 11, 1949). We hate to disagree with a couple of the statements you made but it just can't be helped. You said and we shall quote: "Cumberland Dukes have an able leader in the person of Louis H. "Red" Klotz." You see Mr. Burns in our opinion an able player and coach is one who woesn't show partiality, one who doesn't show off and one who will give others a chance to show if they can play basketball and not have to sit on the bench game after game. We do agree with you that Red Klotz is a nice little basketball player but maybe some of the local boys could show up some if they only had the chance.

"You also mentioned the amount of points and the averages of Mr. Klotz but have you ever sat and counted the number of times he shoots in a ball game. For example, in last Sunday night's game between Wheeling and the Dukes, Red had nine points, five of which were foul shots. We counted how many times he shot the ball and he had approximately 20 tries at the basket.

"Don't you agree that he should be high scorer in the league for the Dukes? Think how many times he must shoot when he makes 12 or 15 points. We know what you are thinking Mr. Burns, he just had a off night. If that is the case he has had quite a few of them lately. In Sunday night's game Lou Bell raked up 16 points and Monday night 18. Can't you ever give him praise? We have seen Lou play in all of the games and we have never seen a fellow play as hard and acted so interested as him.

"So please Mr. Burns would you explain to us what you would call an able leader?

"Thank you.

Margaret Lancaster,
Verna Craze,
Marian Devlin,
Esther Hollern."

This letter brings to light something that we did not know existed before and concerns the charge that Mr. Klotz has shown partiality and is a show off. Could such a statement be inspired by a disgruntled player or players on the squad?

In his role as player-coach Mr. Klotz is handling a group of men with different temperaments. Naturally, some get sore because they can't see more action but the coach has been hired for the purpose of developing what in his opinion is the best combination. It's not high school ball—it's professional ball and a survival of the fittest. "Red" knows just what each player is capable of doing and he acts accordingly. That's his job and we believe that he's handled it exceptionally well. But please don't get us wrong. He makes mistakes, don't we all?

Our records of games played by the Dukes indicate that Coach Klotz has used never less than 10 players in eight of the 10 contests played here this year and in two of the games he had 12 players in action.

If there are any certain individuals whom you think are being slighted why not discuss the matter with Mr. Klotz and I'm sure he'll give you a logical reason.

Klotz is the team's playmaker and a pretty clever ball handler, at that. It's true he has been off in his shooting lately but have you forgotten his brilliant set shooting in many other games? The way basketball is played today if you keep throwing that ball up there it's bound to go in and the oftener you fire it the better your chances of scoring, provided you can control it, and you know that the Dukes have controlled the ball the greater part of most of the games they have played here to date.

We referred to Mr. Klotz as being an able leader because he is doing double duty as coach and player and was leading the club in scoring at the time. In six of the 12 league games he has been at the top in scoring. In praising "Red" it was not our intention to discredit any other player on the team. If we did, we're sorry.

There's no doubt that Lou Bell is the "fightingest" member on the squad. In fact, he is tops in our book. And we are certain we gave him ample credit for his performances on the court. We've seen him play in every home game, too. And we'll say he was "terrific" in last Sunday's contest.

However, our opinion of Mr. Klotz remains unchanged.

We want to thank the four ladies for their letter and their interest in the Dukes, including the boys they're trying to yank off the bench.

— o —

We believe telephone calls received at the Times-News office late Monday night and early Tuesday morning set an all-time high for requests on the score of a professional basketball game.

Calls usually swamp the office when the city high school teams tangle but it's unusual to receive so many for a pro game.

"How did the Dukes make out at Wheeling?" was the request that came over wires.

The majority of calls seemed to come from women.

As long as the Dukes can get the women's vote they're O. K. Political experts remind us that the housewives elected Truman!

• — • — •

There is no use weeping because the Dukes are losing on the road. Show us a team in the league that is winning away from home? Wheeling, now in first place, has five defeats on its record—all on the road.

The Altoona (Pa.) School Board has an antiquated rule which bars high school girls as cheerleaders. And they're having quite a squabble over it now.

The gold rush is still on not only here but in Pennsylvania.

Southpaw Mound Star To Get About $55,000

By FRANK KENESSON

DETROIT, Jan. 14 (AP) — Hal Newhouser, the Detroit Tigers' 27-year-old southpaw pitching star, came up with a new and different delivery today.

For the first time in his 10 years with the Tigers, Newhouser became the first player on the club to deliver his signed 1949 contract. Frequently he has been the last.

The salary figure wasn't announced, but Hal's 1949 pay check will be at least $55,000 and possibly as much as the $60,000 he earned two years ago. Last year he received an estimated $50,000.

As the only American League hurler to win 21 game last season, Newhouser signed for a "substantial raise" this morning after conferring for an hour with General Manager Billy Evans at Briggs Stadium.

Neither Evans nor Newhouser would discuss the contract figure, following a policy of the Detroit ball club.

"But you can say that both of us are well satisfied with the terms of the contract," Evans told reporters. "And you can be sure you are eminently correct in assuming it carries a substantial raise."

By appearing at Briggs Stadium in person to sign his new contract Newhouser beat the mail man to it in a photo finish. The rest of the Detroit player contracts — 36 in number — were stacked on Evans' desk ready to be mailed this afternoon.

Ironically, the Tigers' highest paid player is the first one to sign. Newhouser has been Detroit's best paid performer since Hank Greenberg earned $80,000 here in 1946 prior to his sale to Pittsburgh.

Evans said he had reached verbal agreements with four other Detroit players but none besides Newhouser actually is signed.

Newhouser's 21-12 won-lost record in 1948 put him in the 20-victories bracket for the fourth time in the last five years. His earned run mark last season was 3.01.

In nine years with the Tigers Hal has won 152 games and lost 108.

LaSalle took an 11-10 lead in the first quarter but trailed at intermission, 21-16, and at the conclusion of the third period, 29-26.

Alline Sprouse Irked Over Lee's Slap At South

Would Like To Sock Ohio AAU Official

ATLANTA, Jan. 14 (AP)—Alline Banks Sprouse angrily let down her pretty red curls today in a northern direction and broke a week's silence on statements of an A.A.U. official.

"This Jimmy Lee character just saw a chance for some publicity," she said. Lee claimed that negro track star Harrison Dillard missed the Sullivan Award because Dixie's support went against the negro and for Alline. Lee is an Amateur Athletic Union executive committeeman, of Cleveland.

The usual even temper of Alline Sprouse—nine times an All-America women's basketball player—became uneven when Lee accused sports writers of discriminating in her behalf in balloting for the award.

"He got his name in the papers like a lot of folks do, by saying nasty things about the South. He makes me sick." Alline made a face as illustration.

"Make some crack, it doesn't have to be true, about how we southerners mistreat the negro and you're made. Write a book about it and your book gets published.

"Lee," (Alline had to swallow before continuing), "owes me an apology. You know, my husband almost blew up when he saw all that in the papers. We'd sure like to go to Cleveland and sock Lee."

(The Sprouse's aggregate weight is 345 pounds and their combined height is 12 feet, one-half inch.)

Mrs. Sprouse wasn't near through talking. "Dillard and I didn't deserve the Sullivan. The boy who deserved it got it—Bob Mathias. Winning the decathlon in the Olympics was more than Dillard or I did.

"If they canvass votes Feb 20 they'll find plenty of southern support for Dillard. Dan Ferris (of New York, A. A. U. secretary and treasurer) said Dillard got more southern votes than two other white athletes.

"It was a swell compliment getting even one vote for the Sullivan. Now this gink spoils it. Maybe I shouldn't care. After this insult I might not stick with the AAU."

East Pittsburgh's Pirates, one of the most improved clubs in the circuit, will make their first appearance in Cumberland since November 27 when they play the Dukes in an important All-American Professional Basketball League game Sunday night at 9 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

The Pittsburghers, coached by Freddie Crum and Joe Urso, lost their first three games of the league season but have copped five of their last six starts. One of their early season defeats was a 61-47 setback at the hands of Coach Louis "Red" Klotz's warriors.

Tomorrow's game is important to the Dukes as a victory for the locals would tie them with the Altoona Flyers for the runner-up position in the six-club circuit, a half game in the rear of the pace setting Wheeling Blues.

Bucs Could Take 2nd Place

The Steel City team opens its two-game road trip by playing in Butler tonight. The Buccaneers have lost less games than Wheeling, Altoona and Cumberland and if they can cop two games on the road from Butler and Cumberland they'll gain undisputed possession of second place after Sunday night's contest here. Altoona would be third and the Dukes fourth.

A loss for the Dukes and an even break for Pittsburgh would place the Corsairs in third place and drop Cumberland into 4th place.

Kelly Sparks Pirates

One of the outstanding players in the recent success of the Pittsburgh team is John Kelly, 6-foot-2 sharpshooter, formerly of the Homestead (Pa.) High School champions of Pennsylvania and St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa. Kelly has sparked the Bucs to most of their wins with his accurate shooting and brilliant floor play.

Other members of the Pittsburgh team are Freddie Crum, Joe Urso, Joe Fabel, Matt Vaniel, Bill McHelliney, of Connelsville, former Westminster College captain, Sam Radkovich, Johnny Alzo, Sid Levine and Mike Semyan.

The Sunday tilt will be the 8th of the league season at home for the Klotzmen. The locals have won six out of seven here and dropped four of five on the road. It will be the 16th start of the season for the locals whose over-all record is 9 and 6.

Dukes To Have Guests

Coaches and members of two teams of the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League will be guests of the Dukes' management at tomorrow's contest. Invitations have been forwarded to the mentors and members of the First Presbyterian and St. Mark's Reformed teams.

There will be a preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

MISS TILLY HEADS 74 ELIGIBLES FOR 1949 HAMBLETONIAN STAKE

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Miss Tilly, sensational Connecticut-owned 3-year-old filly, heads the list of 74 eligibles for the 1949 Hambletonian Stake, the Hambletonian Society announced today.

The trotting classic, harness racing's Kentucky Derby, will be held at Good Time Park, Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 10.

Thus, for the second consecutive year Connecticut looms large in pre-Hambletonian speculation. Demon Hanover, owned and driven by the Bethel, Conn., amateur, Harrison Hoyt, captured the 1948 race in two straight heats.

Miss Tilly, a sturdy bay owned by Charles W. Phellis, Greenwich sportsman, became the largest money-winning 2-year-old trotter of all time last season. The daughter of Nibble Hanover captured five major stake races over mile tracks without the loss of a heat, collecting $49,876. Thus she displaced the Peter Chenault filly, Ruth M. Chenault, leader in earnings since 1926 with a total of $37,377.

Tripleheader Slated At Morgantown Today

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 14 — The season's first tripleheader will be offered at West Virginia University tomorrow night, highlighted by the varsity basketball battle between the Mountaineers and Waynesburg College.

The complete program follows:

6 p. m., varsity wrestling, West Virginia vs. Washington and Jefferson College.

8 p. m., varsity basketball, West Virginia vs. Waynesburg College.

9:30 p. m., freshman basketball, West Virginia vs. Waynesburg College.

More than usual interest centers in the appearance of the Waynesburg cagers and their well known coach, Frankie Gustine of major league baseball fame. It will be Gustine's first visit to Morgantown since he took over the mentorship at Waynesburg last season.

Gustine directed his 1948 quint to a 16-5 record and the Yellow Jackets are off to a good start this winter with a 6-2 showing to date. They have bowed to W. & J. and Youngstown.

Waynesburg last played here in 1947, losing 83-60.

Tropical Park Race Season Closes Today

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 14 (AP)—Calumet farm's Faultless is slated to face 14 rivals in the $10,000 Tropical Handicap, mile and a sixteenth feature which rings down the curtain on the first 40 days of Florida's racing season.

Warren Wright's five-year-old is certain to be the favorite with an impost of 115 pounds. He was 8-5 in the early line.

Mrs. Helen K. Haggerty's Rampart and G. R. Watkins' Cat Bridge, going as an entry, were held at 3-1, the same odds as quoted on Bermill Farm's Bug Juice. Rampart will carry 116 pounds and Cat Bridge 114, the same impost on Bug Juice.

MARKED MAN — Eventually, anyone who plays ice hockey very long becomes a marked man. Marked with stitches, that is. And while it's a rough way to make it, there's money in those cuts and gashes. To most hockey players, a wound which needs a needle is worth $10. It comes from special insurance carried by the lads in this rough and tumble sport. Time was when the insurance paid $5 per stitch. Above is a retouched photo of Tulsa Oiler veteran Jud McAtee and shows where 76 stitches have been taken in his face.

Underdog Foster Kayoes Pellone In Seventh Round

Lil' Arthur King Wins Garden Bout

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Vince Foster, a sensational Johnny-come-lately from Omaha, Nebr., knocked out Tony Pellone, a 5 to 11 favorite, tonight in 44 seconds of the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round feature bout on an all-star card at Madison Square Garden. Pellone weighed 146½ and Foster 146.

Foster, a two-fisted slugger with a paralyzing wallop in his right mitt, dropped Pellone four times before Referee Mark Conn finally tolled over the thoroughly beaten New York welter.

Walking out of his corner to start the seventh, Jack Hurley's brilliant 22-year-old prospect caught Pellone with a smashing right that dropped Pellone in his tracks.

Tough Tony, dazed and shaken, tried to get up at five but dropped back to take a seven count. No sooner was he up than Foster was on him again. Another smashing right sent him down for keeps. Although Pellone tried to make it, he obviously was in no condition to continue.

As Referee Conn counted, Pellone's seconds cried from the corner to stop the contest without bothering to make the 10-count official. Mark could have counted to 25 without trouble.

The big crowd of 14,421 which paid $44,639 for the all-tar card gave Foster a tremendous cheer as he left the ring. It was the most exciting victory scored in the Garden since Sandy Saddler knocked out Willie Pep in October.

Lil' Arthur King, British Empire lightweight champion from Toronto, floored Willie Beltram, Bronx lightweight, six times in winning a rough eight-round bout on the all-star card, featuring winners of recent Garden semi-finals.

Roland La Starza, unbeaten Bronx heavyweight, racked up win No. 29 by an eight-round decision over Bill Weinberg, New York and Boston veteran, in a slow semi-final.

Giving height and some 28 pounds to his giant-sized foe, La Starza took a split decision.

Eagles Are Sued

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League today were sued in U. S. District Court for $18,565.37 by a former ticket sales manager and accountant.

Victor Ruby, employed by the Eagles from February 19, 1946, to October 6, 1947, charged the club with breach of contract. He claims he was dismissed without cause after working only one year and eight months.

Yellow Jackets Stop Franklin In '50-33 Tilt

Keyser High Scores Over Romney, 39-29

Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High Ylelow Jackets handed Franklin High School's Panthers their first setback of the season in seven starts by winning in a Potomac Valley Conference game last night in Franklin, W. Va., by the score of 50 to 33.

Keyser High remained on even footing with Moorefield in the P.V.C. rave by rallying in the closing minutes of play to defeat Romney High School's Pioneers at Romney by the score of 39-29.

Moorefield, Franklin and Keyser now have 3-1 records in the conference.

An overflow crowd turned out at Franklin to see the Panthers bow for the first time this season to the Hardy County invaders. The Jackets sewed up the game in the first half by rolling up a 33-14 score.

Bill Harman and W. Hott headed the Moorefield attack with 17 and 12 points while Pope paced Franklin with an even dozen tallies. The losers converted 17 of 23 free throws to Moorefield's 10 of 16 but the latter team racked up 20 fielders to the Panthers' 13.

Held to a 31-28 score at the automatic time-out, Keyser tossed in eight points in the closing minutes of play to win over Coach Dick McElwee's floormen.

Coach John Shelton's passers held the lead at the close of the first three periods, 10-8, 15-13 and 29-24.

Jaworek, Calhoun and Nelson shared 27 points for the Golden Tornado while Maphis sparked the Romney attack offensive with 12 markers. Baird and Jaworek were ejected on personal fouls. The lineups:

SPORT SLANTS

The Ladies Needle Us — Say We're Not Bell Fan
Take Red Klotz Apart — Oh, Those Phone Calls

By C. V. BURNS

A survey of the tri-state basketball front indicates that the two top songs of the week are:

"Referees Are Coming From Far Away Places" and "Our Referees Will Not Be There."

• — • — •

The following letter reached our desk this week:

Dear Mr. Burns,

"We have just read your column in the Tuesday morning paper (January 11, 1949). We hate to disagree with a couple of the statements you made but it just can't be helped. You said and we shall quote: "Cumberland Dukes have an able leader in the person of Louis H. "Red" Klotz." You see Mr. Burns in our opinion an able player and coach is one who woesn't show partiality, one who doesn't show off and one who will give others a chance to show if they can play basketball and not have to sit on the bench game after game. We do agree with you that Red Klotz is a nice little basketball player but maybe some of the local boys could show up some if they only had the chance.

"You also mentioned the amount of points and the averages of Mr. Klotz but have you ever sat and counted the number of times he shoots in a ball game. For example, in last Sunday night's game between Wheeling and the Dukes, Red had nine points, five of which were foul shots. We counted how many times he shot the ball and he had approximately 20 tries at the basket.

"Don't you agree that he should be high scorer in the league for the Dukes? Think how many times he must shoot when he makes 12 or 15 points. We know what you are thinking Mr. Burns, he just had a off night. If that is the case he has had quite a few of them lately. In Sunday night's game Lou Bell raked up 16 points and Monday night 18. Can't you ever give him praise? We have seen Lou play in all of the games and we have never seen a fellow play as hard and acted so interested as him.

"So please Mr. Burns would you explain to us what you would call an able leader?

"Thank you.

Margaret Lancaster,
Verna Craze,
Marian Devlin,
Esther Hollern."

• — • — •

This letter brings to light something that we did not know existed before and concerns the charge that Mr. Klotz has shown partiality and is a show off. Could such a statement be inspired by a disgruntled player or players on the squad?

In his role as player-coach Mr. Klotz is handling a group of men with different temperaments. Naturally, some get sore because they can't see more action but the coach has been hired for the purpose of developing what in his opinion is the best combination. It's not high school ball—it's professional ball and a survival of the fittest. "Red" knows just what each player is capable of doing and he acts accordingly. That's his job and we believe that he's handled it exceptionally well. But please don't get us wrong. He makes mistakes, don't we all?

Our records of games played by the Dukes indicate that Coach Klotz has used never less than 10 players in eight of the 10 contests played here this year and in two of the games he had 12 players in action.

If there are any certain individuals whom you think are being slighted why not discuss the matter with Mr. Klotz and I'm sure he'll give you a logical reason.

Klotz is the team's playmaker and a pretty clever ball handler, at that. It's true he has been off in his shooting lately but have you forgotten his brilliant set shooting in many other games? The way basketball is played today if you keep throwing that ball up there it's bound to go in and the oftener you fire it the better your chances of scoring, provided you can control it, and you know that the Dukes have controlled the ball the greater part of most of the games they have played here to date.

We referred to Mr. Klotz as being an able leader because he is doing double duty as coach and player and was leading the club in scoring at the time. In six of the 12 league games he has been at the top in scoring. In praising "Red" it was not our intention to discredit any other player on the team. If we did, we're sorry.

There's no doubt that Lou Bell is the "fightingest" member on the squad. In fact, he is tops in our book. And we are certain we gave him ample credit for his performances on the court. We've seen him play in every home game, too. And we'll say he was "terrific" in last Sunday's contest.

However, our opinion of Mr. Klotz remains unchanged.

We want to thank the four ladies for their letter and their interest in the Dukes, including the boys they're trying to yank off the bench.

— o —

We believe telephone calls received at the Times-News office late Monday night and early Tuesday morning set an all-time high for requests on the score of a professional basketball game.

Calls usually swamp the office when the city high school teams tangle but it's unusual to receive so many for a pro game.

"How did the Dukes make out at Wheeling?" was the request that came over wires.

The majority of calls seemed to come from women.

As long as the Dukes can get the women's vote they're O. K. Political experts remind us that the housewives elected Truman!

• — • — •

There is no use weeping because the Dukes are losing on the road. Show us a team in the league that is winning away from home? Wheeling, now in first place, has five defeats on its record—all on the road.

Eddie Crescenze, the little third baseman with the powerful arm, who finished the 1948 season as regular third sacker of the Queen City Brewers, champions of the Bi-State League, is playing a guard position on the University of Maryland's varsity basketball team.

The Altoona (Pa.) School Board has an antiquated rule which bars high school girls as cheerleaders. And they're having quite a squabble over it now.

The gold rush is still on not only here but in Pennsylvania.

Basketball officials are seeking more money for their services in this section while at Altoona the high school coaches are demanding an increase in pay.

Hal Newhouser Is First Tiger Signed For '49

Southpaw Mound Star To Get About $55,000

By FRANK KENESSON

DETROIT, Jan. 14 (AP) — Hal Newhouser, the Detroit Tigers' 27-year-old southpaw pitching star, came up with a new and different delivery today.

For the first time in his 10 years with the Tigers, Newhouser became the first player on the club to deliver his signed 1949 contract. Frequently he has been the last.

The salary figure wasn't announced, but Hal's 1949 pay check will be at least $55,000 and possibly as much as the $60,000 he earned two years ago. Last year he received an estimated $50,000.

As the only American League hurler to win 21 games last season, Newhouser signed for a "substantial raise" this morning after conferring for an hour with General Manager Billy Evans at Briggs Stadium.

Neither Evans nor Newhouser would discuss the contract figure, following a policy of the Detroit ball club.

"But you can say that both of us are well satisfied with the terms of the contract," Evans told reporters. "And you can be sure you are eminently correct in assuming it carries a substantial raise."

By appearing at Briggs Stadium in person to sign his new contract Newhouser beat the mail man to it in a photo finish. The rest of the Detroit player contracts — 36 in number — were stacked on Evans' desk ready to be mailed this afternoon.

Ironically, the Tigers' highest paid player is the first one to sign. Newhouser has been Detroit's best paid performer since Hank Greenberg earned $80,000 here in 1946 prior to his sale to Pittsburgh.

Evans said he had reached verbal agreements with four other Detroit players but none besides Newhouser actually is signed.

Newhouser's 21-12 won-lost record in 1948 put him in the 20-victories bracket for the fourth time in the last five years. His earned run mark last season was 3.01.

In nine years with the Tigers Hal has won 152 games and lost 108.

Alline Sprouse Irked Over Lee's Slap At South

Would Like To Sock Ohio AAU Official

ATLANTA, Jan. 14 (AP)—Alline Banks Sprouse angrily let down her pretty red curls today in a northern direction and broke a week's silence on statements of an A.A.U. official.

"This Jimmy Lee character just saw a chance for some publicity," she said. Lee claimed that negro track star Harrison Dillard missed the Sullivan Award because Dixie's support went against the negro and for Alline. Lee is an Amateur Athletic Union executive committeeman, of Cleveland.

The usual even temper of Alline Sprouse—nine times an All-America women's basketball player—became uneven when Lee accused sports writers of discriminating in her behalf in balloting for the award.

"He got his name in the papers like a lot of folks do, by saying nasty things about the South. He makes me sick." Alline made a face as illustration.

"Make some crack, it doesn't have to be true, about how we southerners mistreat the negro and you're made. Write a book about it and your book gets published.

"Lee," (Alline had to swallow before continuing), "owes me an apology. You know, my husband almost blew up when he saw all that in the papers. We'd sure like to go to Cleveland and sock Lee."

(The Sprouse's aggregate weight is 345 pounds and their combined height is 12 feet, one-half inch.)

Mrs. Sprouse wasn't near through talking. "Dillard and I didn't deserve the Sullivan. The boy who deserved it got it—Bob Mathias. Winning the decathlon in the Olympics was more than Dillard or I did.

"If they canvass votes Feb 20 they'll find plenty of southern support for Dillard. Dan Ferris (of New York, A. A. U. secretary and treasurer) said Dillard got more southern votes than two other white athletes.

"It was a swell compliment getting even one vote for the Sullivan. Now this gink spoils it. Maybe I shouldn't care. After this insult I might not stick with the AAU."

Oakland Noses Out Grantsville, 26-24

The game was close throughout, Oakland holding the edge at the close of each period, 9-5, 13-8 and 19-16.

Keister of Grantsville was the game's high scorer with 13 points. Kelly and Fauber collected eight points each for the visitors.

Shirley Keister's goal with a half minute to play gave Grantsville High's girls a 27-26 victory over the Oakland High sextet in the opening game. Yommer paced the victors with 12 points.

Grantsville will play at Friendsville next Tuesday. Proceeds of the game will go toward the "March of Dimes" fund. Lineups:

Savold Is Popular

LIVERPOOL, England, Jan. 14 (AP) —Losing to British heavyweight boxing champion Bruce Woodcock hasn't hurt Lee Savold's popularity.

Lee boxed an exhibition last night before a packed house and hundreds were turned away from the Liverpool Stadium, capacity 5,500.

Lee performed to a sellout Monday at Leyton Baths, London.

Game Tonight
Pittsburgh at Butler

Games Next Week
Sunday—Pittsburgh at Cumberland
Monday—Altoona at Wheeling
Wednesday—Washington at Pittsburgh
Thursday—Pittsburgh at Washington
Saturday—Cumberland at Butler

East Pittsburgh's Pirates, one of the most improved clubs in the circuit, will make their first appearance in Cumberland since November 27 when they play the Dukes in an important All-American Professional Basketball League game Sunday night at 9 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court.

The Pittsburghers, coached by Freddie Crum and Joe Urso, lost their first three games of the league season but have copped five of their last six starts. One of their early season defeats was a 61-47 setback at the hands of Coach Louis "Red" Klotz's warriors.

Tomorrow's game is important to the Dukes as a victory for the locals would tie them with the Altoona Flyers for the runner-up position in the six-club circuit, a half game in the rear of the pace setting Wheeling Blues.

Bucs Could Take 2nd Place

The Steel City team opens its two-game road trip by playing in Butler tonight. The Buccaneers have lost less games than Wheeling, Altoona and Cumberland and if they can cop two games on the road from Butler and Cumberland they'll gain undisputed possession of second place after Sunday night's contest here. Altoona would be third and the Dukes fourth.

A loss for the Dukes and an even break for Pittsburgh would place the Corsairs in third place and drop Cumberland into 4th place.

Kelly Sparks Pirates

One of the outstanding players in the recent success of the Pittsburgh team is John Kelly, 6-foot-2 sharpshooter, formerly of the Homestead (Pa.) High School champions of Pennsylvania and St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa. Kelly has sparked the Bucs to most of their wins with his accurate shooting and brilliant floor play.

Other members of the Pittsburgh team are Freddie Crum, Joe Urso, Joe Fabel, Matt Vaniel, Bill McHelliney, of Connelsville, former Westminster College captain, Sam Radkovich, Johnny Alzo, Sid Levine and Mike Semyan.

The Sunday tilt will be the 8th of the league season at home for the Klotzmen. The locals have won six out of seven here and dropped four of five on the road. It will be the 16th start of the season for the locals whose over-all record is 9 and 6.

Dukes To Have Guests

Coaches and members of two teams of the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League will be guests of the Dukes' management at tomorrow's contest. Invitations have been forwarded to the mentors and members of the First Presbyterian and St. Mark's Reformed teams.

There will be a preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

MISS TILLY HEADS 74 ELIGIBLES FOR 1949 HAMBLETONIAN STAKE

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Miss Tilly, sensational Connecticut-owned 3-year-old filly, heads the list of 74 eligibles for the 1949 Hambletonian Stake, the Hambletonian Society announced today.

The trotting classic, harness racing's Kentucky Derby, will be held at Good Time Park, Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 10.

Thus, for the second consecutive year Connecticut looms large in pre-Hambletonian speculation. Demon Hanover, owned and driven by the Bethel, Conn., amateur, Harrison Hoyt, captured the 1948 race in two straight heats.

Miss Tilly, a sturdy bay owned by Charles W. Phellis, Greenwich sportsman, became the largest money-winning 2-year-old trotter of all time last season. The daughter of Nibble Hanover captured five major stake races over mile tracks without the loss of a heat, collecting $49,876. Thus she displaced the Peter Chenault filly, Ruth M. Chenault, leader in earnings since 1926 with a total of $37,377.

Philadelphia Group Would Buy Pro Club

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14. (AP)—A small group of Philadelphia businessmen has made a definite financial bid for the Philadelphia Eagles football team in opposition to a syndicate Headed by James P. Clark.

Arthur Rosenberg, vice president of a large grocery chain, heads the group. He said today he had sent a $25,000 check to Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League to show good faith.

Bell said the check was presented to him at the Racquet Club with a receipt to sign. The commissioner said he told the bearer to bring it to his office tomorrow and he would make the acknowledgement by letter.

Today's announcement was the first identification of one of the groups in market for the NFL franchise other than Clark's syndic

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14—(INS)—Today, three companies are plotting and planning stories with a Palestine background. With this part of the world so much in the headlines, stories about it are increasingly timely.

Louella Parsons

On February 7, Universal - International will go into full action with their Palestine story, "Desert Legion," before the cameras. Stephen McNally, the lad who gave up a good law practice to become an actor, gets the lead, with Paul Christian in an important role.

• — • — •

Freddie Kohlmar has gone to Sun Valley to talk over his next picture, "Father Was a Fullback," with Darryl Zanuck.

I saw Freddie lunching at 20th with Fred MacMurray before he left, and the truth comes out. He was talking to Fred about playing the father, and it's all but set. Curiously enough, this is only remotely concerned with football. It's the story of a coach, and the reaction of his family when he loses a game. It's just the sort of thing Fred MacMurray does so well.

At Sun Valley Zanuck has set up an office and between skiing is reading scripts and working.

For the past six months, ever since she was well enough to work after her serious automobile accident, Marjorie Rambeau has been testing her strength.

She played a bit in "Walls Of Jericho," then took on a slightly bigger role in "Lucky Stiff."

Now, she's raring to go in a full-length role—and she gets it in "Any Number Can Play," with Clark Gable. In fact, Mervyn Leroy tells me that Marjorie runs all through the story as a wealthy woman with a yen for Clark.

Speaking of King Gable—he is going to have his heartbeats recorded for a scene in this movie. That should be interesting considering all the hearts he has made pound and pound and pound.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Horace Schmidlapp's new gal friend is Gay Poling. They were at Ciro's—so pleased with each other. His lawsuit in the Carole Landis estate is still pending.

The snow pictures Claire Trevor was to have made at Sun Valley were shot in her own front yard during the big Hollywood snow.

A happy dinner foursome at the Brown Derby — Ava Gardner with the devoted Howard Duff, and June Havoc with her favorite boy friend, Bill Spier.

The Pat O'Briens will celebrate their 18th wedding anniversary on the 21st. Here's hoping they will invite me to their golden wedding.

Gloria Lloyd, Harold's pretty daughter, is on the "Mabel's Fables" tele-radio show with Susan Peters. Jim Schwartz, the producer, believes Gloria has real action talent. As for looks, well, we know she has them!

Rita Johnson's father is here to see her and her mother, who has been with Rita ever since her accident.

Virginia Van Upp, who holds the enviable record of never having written a movie script that didn't reach the screen, has almost finished the life of Valentino, which she's doing for Edward Small.

Happy as happy can be, and so in love, were little Jane Powell and Geary Steffan in a party at the Biltmore Bowl. They were with the Arthur Lakes and Paula Stone.

Lex Barker and his wife have gone with the Gary Coopers to Aspen, Colorado, for skiing.

Connie Haines flies in from Florida Sunday to discuss taking a girl vocalist job on one of the big NBC shows.

"I Remember Mama," which has been re-leased to give the voters who hadn't seen it a chance before Academy time, is doing a fine business at the Gordon Theater.

Color blindness is about 20 times more common in men than women.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14—(INS)—Today, three companies are plotting and planning stories with a Palestine background. With this part of the world so much in the headlines, stories about it are increasingly timely.

Louella Parsons

On February 7, Universal-International will go into full action with their Palestine story, "Desert Legion," before the cameras. Stephen McNally, the lad who gave up a good law practice to become an actor, gets the lead, with Paul Christian in an important role.

Freddie Kohlmar has gone to Sun Valley to talk over his next picture, "Father Was a Fullback," with Darryl Zanuck.

I saw Freddie lunching at 20th with Fred MacMurray before he left, and the truth comes out. He was talking to Fred about playing the father, and it's all but set. Curiously enough, this is only remotely concerned with football. It's the story of a coach, and the reaction of his family when he loses a game. It's just the sort of thing Fred MacMurray does so well.

At Sun Valley Zanuck has set up an office and between skiing is reading scripts and working.

For the past six months, ever since she was well enough to work after her serious automobile accident, Marjorie Rambeau has been testing her strength.

She played a bit in "Walls Of Jericho," then took on a slightly bigger role in "Lucky Stiff."

Now, she's raring to go in a full-length role—and she gets it in "Any Number Can Play," with Clark Gable. In fact, Mervyn Leroy tells me that Marjorie runs all through the story as a wealthy woman with a yen for Clark.

Anti-Monopoly Suit Notice Brings Drop In American Telephone

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—A slow-poke stock market gained speed on the downgrade today.

Sudden weakness in American Telephone & Telegraph stock touched off a flurry of selling soon after the opening which carried prices down all along the line. It was the second sharpest setback of the year.

A. T. & T. started to slip within minutes after the news was at that the Department of Justice had filed an anti-monopoly suit against the company.

At the worst the telephone company's stock was marked down 1½ points to 147¾, the lowest price paid since 1943. A late comeback shaded the extreme loss and the issue closed down 1 at 148¼.

Among the few issues striking against the trend were American Broadcasting, up ¼ at 9¼; North American Co., up ¾ at 16¾; Dow Chemical, up ½ at 48; and Electric Power & Light, up ⅜ at 22⅞.

In the minus column were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, Admiral Corp., Commonwealth Edison, American Can, General Electric, DuPont, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penny, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe, Nickel Plate, Standard Oil (NJ), Skelly Oil (off 5 at 122½), Paramount Pictures, and Eastern Air Lines.

Warren Railroad 3½s gained 3½ on modest turnover to finish at 55, while Chicago & Erie 5s advanced 2⅛ at 120¾ in light trading. Gaining from a fraction to a point were Pennsylvania Railroad General 4¼s Texas & New Orleans 3⅜s and Great Northern 3⅛s of '90.

Down fractions to nearly 2 points were Baltimore & Ohio 5s of 2000, Milwaukee Railroad income 4½s, Erie 4½s, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico 5½s, New Haven income 4½s, Philippine Railray 4s and West Shore 4s.

JUST BETWEEN US

By NANCY MOTTRAM

If You're Just a Date, Forget Him

(Q) "Dear Nancy: One of my closest friends and I have been double dating with two brothers. Last week, the other couple had a fight and decided to call it quits. Since then, I haven't heard a word from the boy I'd been dating. The other girl and I have discussed this, and frankly, I'm afraid that everything's over between us, too. I don't want to stop seeing him, but what can I do about it?"

Nancy Mottram

(A) If it turns out that he's willing to take his brother's attitude, about he situation, and since you won't be double dating any longer, he just won't bother to call you, he's not worth thinking about. If you mean anything to him, he won't let the bust-up of the other romance make any difference. But if he's been seeing you just to keep brother company on dates, you won't hear from him again, and don't waste any time bemoaning the fact. You'll do far better to forget him, and start seeing boys who want to see you for yourself.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: Our club is having a formal dance very soon, and I already have decided which boy I want to ask. I've talked it over with my mother, and since he's never asked me for a date, she doesn't think I ought to invite him. I've already told all my friends that I intend to take him, and I think he knows about it. I haven't the slightest idea as to what to do. Can you help me?"

(A) Many girls invite boys they haven't dated before to girl-asks-boy affairs, and your mother's objection might be that she doesn't know him. If he's heard that you're planning to invite him, he'll be waiting for a word from you, so why don't you strike a happy medium by asking him to your home some evening. You might ask another couple, too, and turn it into a small party. That way, your mother can get to know him, and that very same evening, you can tell him of your plans and ask him to go with you.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: For the past three months, a certain boy has been calling me at least once a day, asking me for a date. I don't want to go out with him, and I have refused every time, but he won't give up. This is annoying me, but I don't know how to make him take the hint. What can I say or do?"

(A) Evidently, he's a hard lad to convince. If you really want to say no for once and all, the next time he calls, coat your voice in ice, and tell him you're busy on that evening, and you plan to be busy from now on. Add that that's the way it is, say goodbye, and hang up. Something as final as that will certainly drive home your attitude.

If you have a school, family, or friend problem, Nancy can help you. Letters are answered in this column.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

James A. McNeill Whistler, the talented but imperious American artist, once summoned a great English surgeon to his suburban home in the middle of a freezing winter night. The surgeon arrived in a state of anxiety that changed to black rage when he discovered that it wasn't Whistler who required emergency treatment, but his poodle!

The surgeon squared accounts at a fashionable dinner party shortly thereafter. In the hearing of Whistler's richest patrons, not to mention London's leading art critics, he asked loudly, "Say, Whistler, what will you charge to paint my kitchen and pantry?"

Ray Washburne, proprietor of the Williamstown Bookstore, received a rush order the other day for "one copy of Dale Carnegie's 'How to Stop Living and Start Worrying'."

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Can you really "marry the wrong person"?

Answer: You can marry someone with whom you are sure to be unhappy without knowing consciously what you are doing. But the psychoanalysts insist that this is never "accidental"—what attracts you to a person who will make you miserable is the secret feeling that he (or she) represents a way of answering the "unsolved problem" around which your whole life revolves, but which you will never solve because you do not understand it. Finding a way to regain the adoration that your mother gave you as a baby might be such a problem.

Was loss of self-confidence a cause of "battle fatigue"?

Answer: Yes, say two psychiatrists in the Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases. The "illusion of strength"—that is, the belief that we are old and strong enough to take care of ourselves—keeps us going under normal circumstances, but when this is shattered by the realization that there's nothing we can do to save ourselves from immediate and deadly danger, our Ego's are shattered and our instincts and emotions become like an army with no one to lead it. Under such conditions we quite literally "go to pieces".

Does honesty really "pay off"?

Answer: Not always in money or immediate success, perhaps, but in the peace of mind that comes from feeling we have nothing to hide from our neighbors—and still more important, ourselves. Some unusually "tough-minded" people appear able to ignore the tension that results from knowing there are things about them which no one must ever find out, but most of us would eventually "crack" under the strain of such a situation, even though our secrets were securely buried. The fact that so many criminals "confess" shows how true this is.

Anti-Monopoly Suit Notice Brings Drop In American Telephone

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—A slowpoke stock market gained speed on the downgrade today.

Sudden weakness in American Telephone & Telegraph stock touched off a flurry of selling soon after the opening which carried prices down all along the line. It was the second sharpest setback of the year.

A. T. & T. started to slip within minutes after the news was at that the Department of Justice had filed an anti-monopoly suit against the company.

At the worst the telephone company's stock was marked down 1½ points to 147¾, the lowest price paid since 1943. A late comeback shaded the extreme loss and the issue closed down 1 at 148¼.

Among the few issues striking against the trend were American Broadcasting, up ¼ at 9¼; North American Co., up ⅝ at 16¾; Dow Chemical, up ½ at 48; and Electric Power & Light, up ⅝ at 22⅞.

In the minus column were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, Admiral Corp., Commonwealth Edison, American Can, General Electric, DuPont, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penny, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe, Nickel Plate, Standard Oil (NJ), Skelly Oil (off 5 at 122½), Paramount Pictures, and Eastern Air Lines.

Warren Railroad 3½s gained 3½ on modest turnover to finish at 55, while Chicago & Erie 5s advanced 2⅛ at 120¾ in light trading. Gaining from a fraction to a point were Pennsylvania Railroad General 4¼s Texas & New Orleans 3⅜s and Great Northern 3⅛s of '90.

Down fractions to nearly 2 points were Baltimore & Ohio 5s of 2000, Milwaukee Railroad income 4½s, Erie 4½s, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico 5½s, New Haven income 4½s, Philippine Railray 4s and West Shore 4s.

JUST BETWEEN US

By NANCY MOTTRAM

If You're Just a Date, Forget Him

(Q) "Dear Nancy: One of my closest friends and I have been double dating with two brothers. Last week, the other couple had a fight and decided to call it quits. Since then, I haven't heard a word from the boy I'd been dating. The other girl and I have discussed this, and frankly, I'm afraid that everything's over between us, too. I don't want to stop seeing him, but what can I do about it?"

Nancy Mottram

(A) If it turns out that he's willing to take his brother's attitude, about he situation, and since you won't be double dating any longer, he just won't bother to call you. If he's not worth thinking about. If you mean anything to him, he won't let the bust-up of the other romance make any difference. But if he's been seeing you just to keep brother company on dates, you won't hear from him again, and don't waste any time bemoaning the fact. You'll do far better to forget him, and start seeing boys who want to see you for yourself.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: Our club is having a formal dance very soon, and I already have decided which boy I want to ask. I've talked it over with my mother, and since he's never asked me for a date, she doesn't think I ought to invite him. I've already told all my friends that I intend to take him, and I think he knows about it. I haven't the slightest idea as to what to do. Can you help me?"

(A) Many girls invite boys they haven't dated before to girl-asks-boy affairs, and your mother's objection might be that she doesn't know him. If he's heard that you're planning to invite him, he'll be waiting for a word from you, so why don't you strike a happy medium by asking him to your home some evening. You might ask another couple, too, and turn it into a small party. That way, your mother can get to know him, and that very same evening, you can tell him of your plans and ask him to go with you.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: For the past three months, a certain boy has been calling me at least once a day, asking me for a date. I don't want to go out with him, and I have refused every time, but he won't give up. This is annoying me, but I don't know how to make him take the hint. What can I say or do?"

(A) Evidently, he's a hard lad to convince. If you really want to say no for once and all, the next time he calls, coat your voice in ice, and tell him you're busy on that evening, and you plan to be busy from now on. Add that's the way it is, say goodbye, and hang up. Something as final as that will certainly drive home your attitude.

If you have a school, family, or friend problem, Nancy can help you. Letters are answered in this column.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

James A. McNeill Whistler, the talented but imperious American artist, once summoned a great English surgeon to his suburban home in the middle of a freezing winter night. The surgeon arrived in a state of anxiety that changed to black rage when he discovered that it wasn't Whistler who required emergency treatment, but his poodle!

The surgeon squared accounts at a fashionable dinner party shortly thereafter. In the hearing of Whistler's richest patrons, not to mention London's leading art critics, he asked loudly, "Say, Whistler, what will you charge to paint my kitchen and pantry?"

Ray Washburne, proprietor of the Williamstown Bookstore, received a rush order the other day for "one copy of Dale Carnegie's 'How to Stop Living and Start Worrying'."

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Can you really "marry the wrong person"?

Answer: You can marry someone with whom you are sure to be unhappy without knowing consciously what you are doing. But the psychoanalysts insist that this is never "accidental"—what attracts you to a person who will make you miserable is the secret feeling that he (or she) represents a way of answering the "unsolved problem" around which your whole life revolves, but which you will never solve because you do not understand it. Finding a way to regain the adoration that your mother gave you as a baby might be such a problem.

Was loss of self-confidence a cause of "battle fatigue"?

Answer: Yes, say two psychiatrists in the Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases. The "illusion of strength"—that is, the belief that we are old and strong enough to take care of ourselves—keeps us going under normal circumstances, but when this is shattered by the realization that there's nothing we can do to save ourselves from immediate and deadly danger, our Ego's are shattered and our instincts and emotions become like an army with no one to lead it. Under such conditions we quite literally "go to pieces".

Does honesty really "pay off"?

Answer: Not always in money or immediate success, perhaps, but in the peace of mind that comes from feeling we have nothing to hide from our neighbors—and still more important, ourselves. Some unusually "tough-minded" people appear able to ignore the tension that results from knowing there are things about them which no one must ever find out, but most of us would eventually "crack" under the strain of such a situation, even though our secrets were securely buried. The fact that so many criminals "confess" shows how true this is.

Chamber Group Urges Vote On New Charter

Asks Repeal Of Intentions Act

The Public Affairs committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce yesterday recommended that the Board of Directors of the Chamber urge the Allegany County delegation to approve the proposed new charter so that citizens of Cumberland may express their views on the legislation through a referendum.

The action was taken as the committee headed by George L. Buchanan met in the Chamber of Commerce offices to consider pending state and national legislation.

Final action on the committee's recommendation will be taken at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber Thursday, January 20, at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber offices, according to Harold W. Smith, manager.

City Will Act

Printed copies of the charter, which follows rather closely the recommendations of the Ray Report and provides for a city manager, revision of the city's financial department, a city purchasing agent and legislative home rule, were made available early this week.

The Mayor and City Council will meet with the Charter Commission Monday night to go over provisions of the 57-page document. The commission will hold a similar conference with Allegany County legislaters January 29.

Make Recommendations

The Public Affairs committee also recommend that the Chamber directors approve the following:

Repeal of the Declarations of Intentions Act in Maryland.

Roadside Control legislation in Maryland, which would control billboards and buildings along highways of the state.

Voted to favor the attitude of the United States Chamber of Commerce in its position of delivered pricing.

Judicial and administrative rulings, the Chamber said, have created uncertainties as to the legal status of delivered pricing practices.

The Chamber's position is that it is in the public interest to enact legislation to make certain that a seller in one locality is free to compete with sellers elsewhere despite different delivery costs, and that in order so to compete, the seller is permitted to absorb or equalize transportation costs.

Timber Cutting, Reforestation To Be Resumed

Project Underway At Lake Gordon

A timber cutting and reforestation project, underway for several months in the 4,000 acres of watershed owned by the Evitts Creek Water Company, will be resumed this spring, George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the company, said yesterday.

Hitchcock estimated that the acreage contains approximately 500,000 board feet of harvestable timber.

He said present plans call for harvesting about 50,000 board feet annually and replacing old timber with seedlings.

Co-operating in the program is Carl G. Heczko, assistant district forester of the Maryland Department of State Forests and Parks, who is stationed at Green Ridge.

Hitchcock explained that co-operation of Maryland authorities was obtained because the watershed supplies Cumberland. The property itself is located across the state line in Pennsylvania.

The superintendent said aerial views of the forested area, which is adjacent to Lakes Gordon and Koon, were obtained through the aerial photo and engineering service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

After wood is stored on the ground and dried, it is milled by a concern near Lake Koon, Hitchcock said.

Approximately 10,000 board feet were harvested last year and used for maintenance work at buildings at Lake Gordon dam, he added.

About 12,500 seedlings have been planted, including white ash, elm and yellow pine.

In addition, a grove of 1,000 black walnut trees was planted near the dam, Hitchcock said.

Testimonials Of Appreciation Are Presented To 1948 Chest Leaders

Five Directors Are Named At Meeting

Testimonials of appreciation for their work in the 1948-49 Cumberland Community Chest campaign, which raised over 98 per cent of the highest peacetime budget in the Chest's history, were presented to Henry C. Swearingen, general campaign chairman, and Mrs. Arthur C. Bright, chairman of the Women's division, at a dinner held last night in Central YMCA.

The resolutions of appreciation were presented by Former Chief Judge William A. Huster at a testimonial dinner which preceded the 22nd annual meeting of the Cumberland Community Chest.

Five directors of the Chest were elected. They are:

James W. Bishop, secretary of the Queen City Brewing Company; David T. Davis, local insurance representative; Roy W. Eves, superintendent of the B. and O. Bolt and Forge shop; Clarence Lippel, local attorney, and R. A. J. Morrison, division superintendent of the B. and O. Railroad.

In presenting the testimonials, Huster paid tribute to work of the Chest leaders and workers declaring the good that has been accomplished by the Chest is beyond measure.

The testimonials, he declared, are just a token of respect for loyal work in the drive. "Your real reward will be the love and affection that people of the community feel for you and your efforts," he added.

In a brief speech of acceptance, Swearingen paid tribute to the work of Community Chests everywhere, saying you can't laugh off the some $277 millions the people of America have given for essential Chest services.

The Community Chest, he added, is one of the great constructive forces of America.

Eiler, after expressing appreciation of the work of the Chest leaders, said the praise is also meant for the more than 300 other volunteers who assisted in the campaign.

He called upon the group to maintain its interest in the operations of the Chest and its agencies throughout the year.

He termed the securing of $82,940 or 98.7 per cent of the Chest goal and 107 per cent of last year's drive, a Red Feather in the cap of Cumberland.

The annual report, presented by Mrs. Emma Everstine, treasurer, was approved at the meeting. The report of an audit by Berman, Goldman, Levin and Company showed a balance of $49,737.06 on November 30, 1947, with receipts of $80,912.96 and disbursements of $74,465.63, leaving a balance of $56,150.89 on November 30.

County Receives Report Of Audit On School Board

All Receipts Have Been Accounted For

Copies of a special audit of the funds of the Board of Education, ordered last summer by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, were distributed to members of the board at their meeting yesterday.

The audit, made by the firm of Berman, Goldman, Levin and company, accountants, Baltimore, for a two-year period shows that "all receipts have been accounted for and that all disbursements have been properly made."

However, some discrepancies in accounting of receipts and disbursements were found, according to Myer L. Siegel, certified public accountant who signed the report. All funds, however, were accounted for.

Differences were noted in accounting of funds set aside for Beall High School; for New School Furniture; and for General Maintenance. In the Beall High fund, which stood at $48,000 July 1, 1946, the school board's books showed a balance of $6,126.34; the audit shows a balance of $4,730.94.

The balance of the new school furniture fund, which originally had $14,000, was noted to be $14,000 by the school board, with no disbursements charged against it. However, the auditors found a balance of $7,542.57.

The general maintenance fund showed a balance of $5,151.39 in the audit, while only 751.24 was entered on the school board's books.

Difference In Breakdown

The auditors explained the differences "are due to the breakdown of disbursements for the year 1946-47. . . . . ."

The breakdown showed disbursements from the Beall High School fund, according to the school board books, as $33,130.82, and according to the audit $22,273.54, or a difference of $10,000.

No disbursements were charged against the New School Furniture fund on the books, but the audit showed disbursements of $6,457.43.

The auditors also found a difference of $4,399.85 in disbursements from the General Maintenance fund. The books showed $7,158.57 had been paid out of the fund, but the audit showed $11,558.42 in disbursements.

The report of the auditors explained that "As per the records of the Board of Education an amount of $120,000 was voluntarily set up in separately designated bank accounts and encumbered for various and special purposes. Disbursements for the various purposes were charged against the appropriate account."

Slight Bookkeeping Errors

County Commissioners said the auditors indicated the discrepancies were due to bookkeeping errors. Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, was not available for comment last night.

The audit, which covered the period from July 1, 1946, to June 30, 1948, showed in a summary of cash transactions for the period a balance of $250,377.81 as of June 30, 1948.

Total receipts were $5,705,572.72 and disbursements totaled $5,455,194.91. The balance at the beginning of the period covered by the audit was $286,109.15. The balance at the close of that period was over $35,000 less than the balance brought forward from the 1945-46 year.

The largest single source of receipts, the state, contributed a total of $2,670,961.66 to the board in the two-year period. An analysis of receipts and disbursements by funds shows the building fund had the largest balance at the end of the audit period, $160,323.90.

All Funds Accounted For

In closing their report, the auditors said "It is our opinion, based upon this detailed audit of cash receipts and disbursements, that all receipts have been accounted for and that all disbursements have been properly made.

"At this completion of our audit there are no particular errors of any importance other than that noted in our comments, or any irregularities we can point out regarding the books of the Board of Education of Allegany County."

The report expresses appreciation to Dr. Kopp and other school board personnel for co-operation with the auditors.

The Board ordered a check for $1,400 to be drawn to pay the balance owed the accounting firm for the audit.

Claims Office To Be Reopened In Westernport

Weekly Visits To Begin January 25

Arrangements have been made to reopen a claims office in Westernport, effective January 25, Francis A. Kenney, manager of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Division, reported yesterday.

The Westernport office was discontinued six or eight months ago after funds were curtailed by the 80th Congress, Kenney said.

Wayne A. Ritchie said that after Kenney notified him of the reopening, he obtained permission from Mayor William Ravenscroft to use space in the Westernport city building for the office.

Ritchie is president of Luke Local No. 676, United Paper Workers of America, CIO, which is seeking improved facilities in the Tri-Towns area for claimants.

Personnel of the Cumberland office will visit Westernport every Tuesday, starting January 25. Office hours in Westernport will be from 9:30 a. m. until 3 p. m. those days, Kenney said.

If funds prove insufficient, however, the schedule may be reduced to every other Tuesday, he added.

Kenney pointed out that the move will relieve pressure on the Lonaconing office. Beginning January 26, that office will be open each Wednesday.

Kenney said he was notified by Stephen C. Cromwell, state director of the Unemployment Compensation Commission in Baltimore, that reopening of the Westernport office had been approved.

The action will return the service in that area to its former status, Kenney said.

Ritchie had previously been informed by Russell S. Davis, chairman of the Maryland Department of Employment Security, that a cut in appropriations to the agency by the last Congress was responsible for lack of full service at the Lonaconing office.

Soil Officials Map County Land For Conservation

Merl F. Hershberger, College Park, state soil scientist, and William W. Nace, Oakland, Allegany and Garrett County district conservationist, conferred Thursday at local headquarters on a propesd mapping of county land according to its capabilities.

Taken from surveys of county lands made since 1940, the map will be added to data from other counties to give a picture of the entire state, Hershberger said.

The entire United States will be mapped to show which parts of the country have similar soil conservation problems. The picture will be used in over-all conservation efforts.

The data gathered will be used to separate lands into those needing attention immediately, according to Hershberger, and lands which will need attention within a few years.

Present conservation plans have been based on a map made in 1943. However, the gathering of more complete and more accurate data makes the revision of the map necessary, he said.

Detailed work on Maryland conservation needs has only been done since the state law authorizing the division of the state into conservation districts in 1940, Hershberger stated.

He illustrated the need for a detailed map by explaining that two counties as geographically close as Garrett and Allegany need different conservation measures.

Allegany County has thiner topsoil than Garrett County and averages 30 to 35 inches of rainfall a year to the western county's 40. Garrett County thus has better grass land. On the other hand, there is relatively more land farmed in Garrett and farmed land presents more conservation problems.

The present may will probably be completed in a week from available surveys, but Nace pointed out that the Conservation Service will continue surveying county soil needs to keep maps up-to-date.

Harris To Speak At Foresters' Training Meet

Dinner Set Thursday Night In Frostburg

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris will address members of Western Maryland District of the Department of State Forests and Parks at a dinner at Tally-[illegible] Restaurant at 7 p. m. Thursday, William A. Parr, district forester, announced yesterday.

Parr said the dinner will be held in connection with the annual two-day training meeting of district forest workers.

Harris will speak on enforcement of forestry laws and the proper presentation of evidence, Parr said.

The sessions are scheduled to start at 10 a. m. Thursday in the Auxiliary Court room at the Court House, Parr related, adding the Thursday session should end at 5 p. m.

Friday morning's session will open at 9 a. m. and close at 2 p. m., Parr said.

Subjects of the training meeting will be preparation for the spring forest fire season, with emphasis on organization on "bad fire days."

A review of the fire record for the past year will be presented and a report of progress during the year will be given. Parr said members of the department district will probably discuss new uniforms.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners has been invited to attend the meetings and dinner and Pennsylvania and West Virginia have been asked to send representatives from adjoining districts.

State Forester H. C. Buckingham is expected to attend. Others who have indicated they will attend are A. R. Bond, assistant forester; D. M. Parr, radio technician, and D. O. Prince, roadside tree supervisor.

2 Area Men Unhurt In Army C-82 Crash

Two area men were among 36 soldiers who parachuted to safety yesterday from a falling C-82 "flying boxcar," that crash landed near Fayettesville, N. C., killing three of the crew members.

The men were listed as Pvt. Thomas H. Podelco, Piedmont, and Pvt. James R. Ault, Flintstone. Army personnel said the pair landed safely after the emergency jump from the plane which crash landed in a wooded area, four miles from Pope Field, Fort Bragg, N. C.

Many of the paratroopers landed in tree tops and a few suffered minor injuries, according to Army officials. The jump master, Sgt. Robert Lee Hodgkiss, Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, rode the plane into the crash landing without injury. The dead were not identified immediately.

Army officers said it was the duty of the sergeant to stay in the plane until all of his charges had leaped to safety.

Lowered Postoffice Flag Is Tribute To War Dead

The furor over the Mayor's upside-down flag Sunday seemed to remind Cumberlanders to wonder why the Postoffice's flag is sometimes at half-mast.

Postmaster William C. McDermott who has received several phone calls from curious citizens, reminded the city of the office's pledge to lower the flag whenever a local soldier, killed during World War II, is reburied here.

Amvets Auxiliary To Receive New Official Constitution Next Month

A new official constitution being drawn up by national headquarters of the Amvets Auxiliary will be distributed to members of the Auxiliary of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1 at the first meeting in February.

This was announced by Miss Freda Skelly, president of the local Amvets Auxiliary, at a meeting Thursday night in the post home.

Previously, each auxiliary drew up its own constitution.

A joint Amvets-Auxiliary executive meeting is scheduled Tuesday, January 18, at 8 p. m. in the post home. All executive members are asked to attend, Miss Skelly said.

A family with four children has been "adopted" for 1949 by the Auxiliary, which will assist the parents in food and clothing needs, and in time of sickness.

Mrs. Margaret McGann, chairman of Christmas welfare work, reported that clothing and toys were sent to six families. The Amvets sent food baskets to 28 families.

The Auxiliary's current membership campaign has been extended to February 28. A prize will be awarded to the member securing the most new applications.

Mrs. Mary Franques has assumed her new duties as editor of the Auxiliary advance paper, which is issued bi-monthly.

Mrs. Naomi Beckman reported on the national convention held last fall in Columbus, O.

Miss Skelly and Mrs. Hilda Willard reported on the organization meeting this week of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association.

Auxiliary meeting nights were changed to the first and third Thursday of each month.

Divorces Granted

Romano M. Ways was granted an absolute divorce from Harry C. Ways and Georgia I. Connelly was granted a partial divorce from Richard F. Connelly.

City To Ask Re-enactment Of Flood Acts

Two Bond Issues To Be Clarified

City officials reported yesterday they will ask the State Legislature to repeal and re-enact two legislative acts involving flood bond issues amounting to $600,000.

The action was taken at a meeting of Mayor Thomas S. Post and the City Council to discuss legislation to be introduced during the current session of the General Assembly.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained the Baltimore law firm of Niles, Barton, Morrow and Yost was requested several months ago to pass on the constitutionality and legality of various acts of the Legislature in recent years involving bond issues for the Cumberland flood control project.

Opinions Required

Such opinions from an independent source are required by bonding companies before they submit bids.

Legal sufficiency of Chapter 456, Acts of 1937, was questioned by the firm because the title fails to list purposes for which proceeds of the bonds are authorized to be spent.

"The Legislature can only grant authority to incur indebtedness for a valid, public purpose," the firm's six-page opinion said.

Clarification of language of Chapter 42 of the Acts of 1933 was also suggested by the firm. That act was drawn up to provide for issuance of bonds without a referendum.

Valid authority is necessary with reference to the $600,000 bond issues so that the funds will be available as needed during the long-term flood project, officials explained.

The city has already sold $700,000 worth of flood bonds.

Total estimated cost of the project is about $12,000,000. Of this amount, the local share is estimated at $2,310,000, which is covered by the city and county authorizations.

Work on construction of four pressure conduits, first phase of the project, is expected to begin March 1. Contract for the work was let to a New Jersey firm by Army Engineers last fall.

City officials also discussed the possibility of recommending legislation to make permanent the wartime salary increases granted all city employes. The wartime bonuses aggregated 30 per cent over base pay. They are due to expire April.

Nothing would be done to affect public local law on salaries of police and firemen, which are already established by the Legislature, Finan said.

The Mayor and Council voted unanimously to propose to the General Assembly an amendment to the Allegany County Liquor Law which would give the city all fees from liquor licenses issued in the corporate limits.

Finan reported that under the amendment the city would receive all license fees less the cost of the administration of the law by the County Liquor Control Board.

Amounts To $23,000

He explained the city, under the present law, is given one-half of the the fees in the city, and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson reported this amounts to $23,000 per year. City police have the task of enforcing the law and because of this the council feels it should get the full amount.

The council will also present a bill placing the authority to levy 90 cents on each $100 of assessable property for operation costs of the city on a permanent basis.

The charter provides for only a 75-cent levy, but a 1943 an emergency measure was passed by the state legislature allowing for the 90-cent tax. The measure has been renewed each two years since then.

The council will also submit a bill to increase the contingent fund of the city from $10,000 to $25,000.

The Mayor and Council decided to request that a bill be passed to place city policemen under the Workmen's Compensation Law of Maryland.

This action will require an amend*ment of Sec. 33, Article 101 of the* law. Finan stated that under the present policeman's compensation, a man receives full pay for time off due to injuries, but there is no provision for a death benefit.

Under the proposed legislation, Finan explained, the policeman would receive less injury compensation, but his dependents over a period of years would be given as much as $7,500 in death benefits if he died as a result of injuries suffered in line of duty.

18 Year Olds Must Register For Draft

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, Selective Service director for Maryland, said today that "Under the Selective Service Act of 1948 as men become 18 years of age, they must register within five days of the 18th anniversary of the day of their birth."

County men reaching 18 years of age will be registered at the local board office in their counties, he said.

LOST WITH CHILDREN — Tucker County, W. Va., authorities expressed belief last night that John Helmick, (above) 17, Davis, W. Va., and two children, Robert Carr, 7, and Eston Carr, 9, whom he was taking to visit their parents were "froze" to death and buried under snow drifts in a wooded area near Davis. # Latest Company D News Now Told In Unit's New Paper, "The Wedge"

Volume I, Number I, of Company D, Marine Reserve's new weekly publication, "The Wedge" was distributed to members this week.

Designed to keep the unit informed of the latest Marine Reserve news, it is a three page mimeographed edition put out by the unit aided by regular staff members.

At present, M. Sgt. Roger R. Jernigan of the instructor-inspector staff is editor but will relinquish his position to a member of Company D. S. Sgt Everett F. Gibbs is managing editor.

Others on the staff are Sgt. Paul Divico of the staff and Pfc. Ronald L. Harper, art editors, and Pvt. William E. Kelly and George M. Miller, sports staff.

Eventually a special room at the Training Center on McKaig's Hill will be set aside for the paper. The staff will form a public information section of the unit. At present, the only member of that section is S. Sgt. Robert B. Davis a photographer.

Special mention was given to Sgt. Divico in the first edition for his idea of an appropriate name. The wedge is a basic formation of the fire team of a rifle squad which makes in an appropriate name for an infantry battalion publication.

The masthead bears the name, "The Wedge" above a picture of a triangular wedge. Under the symbol is the slogan, "It provides all around protection and readiness for action in any direction."

All members are asked for contributions and invftations have been issued for staff members who can type or have journalistic experience. The publication will strive for the John Barberio Trophy for publishing the best unit newspaper for each calendar year.

Missing Davis Trio Believed Dead In Woods

Youth, 2 Children Froze, Police Say

A 16-year-old Davis, W. Va., youth and two minor children in his care were believed frozen to death and buried under six-inches of snow, Tucker County authorities said last night as a dense fog halted the fruitless search in a wooded area where the trio vanished Tuesday.

Searchers were hoping for a quick thaw in the wooded section between Davis and a lumber camp where the missing John Helmcik was taking Robert Carr, 7, and his brother, Eston Carr, 9, to visit their parents. The children lived at the Helmick home in Davis.

Tucker County Sheriff D. E. Crosten who with West Virginia State Police headed the search yesterday said hope of finding the trio alive virtually vanished yesterday after an extensive check of relatives in three states failed to locate Helmick and the two children.

Helmick, an employe of the missing children's father, Eston Carr, at the lumber camp, left home with the two boys Tuesday at 2 p. m. during a heavy rain storm and dense fog. Authorities said they believe the trio lost their way in the woods and were overcome by the cold.

Last Seen By Grocer

A grocery store proprietor near the Davis municipal limits reported seeing the three take a path that was considered a shortcut to the main road. He was the last person to see the youth and two children.

Authorities said the shortcut leads through a marshy field and wooded area before the improved road leading to the lumber camp is reached. The possibility that the fog caused Helmick to take the wrong path in the wooded area was considered likely by searchers.

The children were scantly dressed in light jackets and coveralls, authorities were informed. This added weight to the belief that the three may have been overcome by the cold after becoming lost. The area was buried under a six-inch snow that fell Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning.

Sheriff Crosten said a series of pits, some 75 feet deep, created by strip mining operations also dot the area where the trio vanished. Despite that fact that many are partially filled with water as a result of recent rains they were examined extensively yesterday.

The Sheriff said the inspection leaves no doubt in his mind that the missing trio did not fall into any of the pits. The searching party followed the exact route over the short cut and along the road to the lumber camp on foot yesterday, but failed to find a clue.

Chain of Bad Luck

The family has suffered a series of misfortunes in the past several years, according to Sheriff Crosten, who declared yesterday he will check every possibility to find Helmick and the two Carr children, whose maternal grandmother died Thursday.

The grandmother did not know that the children were missing, the sheriff declared. The children's father lost a farm home and dairy barn about a year ago in a fire. And Helmick's mother's home was burned to the ground last year while she was confined to a hospital.

The sheriff said a searching party will recheck the entire area today in an effort to find the missing trio. He added that he plans to search all hunting lodges in the area on the theory that the boys may have sought shelter in one of the lodges after becoming lost.

Following the charter presentation, Mrs. McBroom installed the recently elected officers of the group and obligated members of the organization. Installed were:

Conlon introduced members of area veteran organizations who assisted in the ceremonies.

NAACP Will Install

The installation of officers of the N.A.A.C.P. will be held at the evening worship service at McKendree Methodist Church, 229 North Centre Street, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Rev. Jesse K. Beale, pastor, will be in charge of the service.

Chamber Group Urges Vote On New Charter

Asks Repeal Of Intentions Act

The Public Affairs committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce yesterday recommended that the Board of Directors of the Chamber urge the Allegany County delegation to approve the proposed new charter so that citizens of Cumberland may express their views on the legislation through a referendum.

The action was taken as the committee headed by George L. Buchanan met in the Chamber of Commerce offices to consider pending state and national legislation.

Final action on the committee's recommendation will be taken at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber Thursday, January 20, at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber offices, according to Harold W. Smith, manager.

City Will Act

Printed copies of the charter, which follows rather closely the recommendations of the Ray Report and provides for a city manager, revision of the city's financial department, a city purchasing agent and legislative home rule, were made available early this week.

The Mayor and City Council will meet with the Charter Commission Monday night to go over provisions of the 57-page document. The commission will hold a similar conference with Allegany County legislaters January 29.

Make Recommendations

The Public Affairs committee also recommend that the Chamber directors approve the following:

Repeal of the Declarations of Intentions Act in Maryland.

Roadside Control legislation in Maryland, which would control billboards and buildings along highways of the state.

Voted to favor the attitude of the United States Chamber of Commerce in its position of delivered pricing.

Judicial and administrative rulings, the Chamber said, have created uncertainties as to the legal status of delivered pricing practices.

The Chamber's position is that it is in the public interest to enact legislation to make certain that a seller in one locality is free to compete with sellers elsewhere despite different delivery costs, and that in order so to compete, the seller is permitted to absorb or equalize transportation costs.

Project Underway At Lake Gordon

A timber cutting and reforestation project, underway for several months in the 4,000 acres of watershed owned by the Evitts Creek Water Company, will be resumed this spring, George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the company, said yesterday.

Hitchcock estimated that the acreage contains approximately 500,000 board feet of harvestable timber.

He said present plans call for harvesting about 50,000 board feet annually and replacing old timber with seedlings.

Co-operating in the program is Carl G. Heczko, assistant district forester of the Maryland Department of State Forests and Parks, who is stationed at Green Ridge.

Hitchcock explained that co-operation of Maryland authorities was obtained because the watershed supplies Cumberland. The property itself is located across the state line in Pennsylvania.

The superintendent said aerial views of the forested area, which is adjacent to Lakes Gordon and Koon, were obtained through the aerial photo and engineering service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

After wood is stored on the ground and dried, it is milled by a concern near Lake Koon, Hitchcock said.

Approximately 10,000 board feet were harvested last year and used for maintenance work at buildings at Lake Gordon dam, he added.

About 12,500 seedlings have been planted, including white ash, elm and yellow pine.

In addition, a grove of 1,000 black walnut trees was planted near the dam, Hitchcock said.

Harris To Speak At Foresters' Training Meet

Dinner Set Thursday Night In Frostburg

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris will address members of Western Maryland District of the Department of State Forests and Parks at a dinner at Tally- ) Restaurant at 7 p. m. Thursday, William A. Parr, district forester, announced yesterday.

Parr said the dinner will be held in connection with the annual two-day training meeting of district forest workers.

Harris will speak on enforcement of forestry laws and the proper presentation of evidence, Parr said.

The sessions are scheduled to start at 10 a. m. Thursday in the Auxiliary Court room at the Court House, Parr related, adding the Thursday session should end at 5 p. m.

Friday morning's session will open at 9 a. m. and close at 2 p. m., Parr said.

Subjects of the training meeting will be preparation for the spring forest fire season, with emphasis on organization on "bad fire days."

A review of the fire record for the past year will be presented and a report of progress during the year will be given. Parr said members of the department district will probably discuss new uniforms.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners has been invited to attend the meetings and dinner and Pennsylvania and West Virginia have been asked to send representatives from adjoining districts.

State Forester H. C. Buckingham is expected to attend. Others who have indicated they will attend are A. R. Bond, assistant forester; D. M. Parr, radio technician, and D. O. Prince, roadside tree supervisor.

The payroll will total $4,882.52 and no checks will be delivered other than on regular drill night, Capt. Algieri said.

2 Area Men Unhurt In Army C-82 Crash

Two area men were among 36 soldiers who parachuted to safety yesterday from a falling C-82 "flying boxcar," that crash landed near Fayettesville, N. C., killing three of the crew members.

The men were listed as Pvt. Thomas H. Podelco, Piedmont, and Pvt. James R. Ault, Flintstone. Army personnel said the pair landed safely after the emergency jump from the plane which crash landed in a wooded area, four miles from Pope Field, Fort Bragg, N. C.

Many of the paratroopers landed in tree tops and a few suffered minor injuries, according to Army officials. The jump master, Sgt. Robert Lee Hodgkiss, Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, rode the plane into the crash landing without injury. The dead were not identified immediately.

Army officers said it was the duty of the sergeant to stay in the plane until all of his charges had leaped to safety.

Lowered Postoffice Flag Is Tribute To War Dead

The furor over the Mayor's upside-down flag Sunday seemed to remind Cumberlanders to wonder why the Postoffice's flag is sometimes at half-mast.

Postmaster William C. McDermott who has received several phone calls from curious citizens, reminded the city of the office's pledge to lower the flag whenever a local soldier, killed during World War II, is reburied here.

Testimonials Of Appreciation Are Presented To 1948 Chest Leaders

Five Directors Are Named At Meeting

Testimonials of appreciation for their work in the 1948-49 Cumberland Community Chest campaign, which raised over 98 per cent of the highest peacetime budget in the Chest's history, were presented to Henry C. Swearingen, general campaign chairman, and Mrs. Arthur C. Bright, chairman of the Women's division, at a dinner held last night in Central YMCA.

The resolutions of appreciation were presented by Former Chief Judge William A. Huster at a testimonial dinner which preceded the 22nd annual meeting of the Cumberland Community Chest.

Five directors of the Chest were elected. They are:

James W. Bishop, secretary of the Queen City Brewing Company; David T. Davis, local insurance representative; Roy W. Eves, superintendent of the B. and O. Bolt and Forge shop; Clarence Lippel, local attorney, and R. A. J. Morrison, division superintendent of the B. and O. Railroad.

In presenting the testimonials, Huster paid tribute to work of the Chest leaders and workers declaring the good that has been accomplished by the Chest is beyond measure.

The testimonials, he declared, are just a token of respect for loyal work in the drive. "Your real reward will be the love and affection that people of the community feel for you and your efforts," he added.

In a brief speech of acceptance, Swearingen paid tribute to the work of Community Chests everywhere, saying you can't laugh off the some $277 millions the people of America have given for essential Chest services.

The Community Chest, he added, is one of the great constructive forces of America.

Eiler, after expressing appreciation of the work of the Chest leaders, said the praise is also meant for the more than 300 other volunteers who assisted in the campaign.

He called upon the group to maintain its interest in the operations of the Chest and its agencies throughout the year.

He termed the securing of $82,940 or 98.7 per cent of the Chest goal and 107 per cent of last year's drive, a Red Feather in the cap of Cumberland.

The annual report, presented by Mrs. Emma Everstine, treasurer, was approved at the meeting. The report of an audit by Berman, Goldman, Levin and Company showed a balance of $49,737.06 on November 30, 1947, with receipts of $80,912.96 and disbursements of $74,465.63, leaving a balance of $56,150.89 on November 30.

Amvets Auxiliary To Receive New Official Constitution Next Month

A new official constitution being drawn up by national headquarters of the Amvets Auxiliary will be distributed to members of the Auxiliary of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1 at the first meeting in February.

This was announced by Miss Freda Skelly, president of the local Amvets Auxiliary, at a meeting Thursday night in the post home.

Previously, each auxiliary drew up its own constitution.

A joint Amvets-Auxiliary executive meeting is scheduled Tuesday, January 18, at 8 p. m. in the post home. All executive members are asked to attend, Miss Skelly said.

A family with four children has been "adopted" for 1949 by the Auxiliary, which will assist the parents in food and clothing needs, and in time of sickness.

Mrs. Margaret McGann, chairman of Christmas welfare work, reported that clothing and toys were sent to six families. The Amvets sent food baskets to 28 families.

The Auxiliary's current membership campaign has been extended to February 28. A prize will be awarded to the member securing the most new applications.

Mrs. Mary Franques has assumed her new duties as editor of the Auxiliary advance paper, which is issued bi-monthly.

Mrs. Naomi Beckman reported on the national convention held last fall in Columbus, O.

Miss Skelly and Mrs. Hilda Willard reported on the organization meeting this week of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association.

Auxiliary meeting nights were changed to the first and third Thursday of each month.

County Receives Report Of Audit On School Board

All Receipts Have Been Accounted For

Copies of a special audit of the funds of the Board of Education, ordered last summer by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, were distributed to members of the board at their meeting yesterday.

The audit, made by the firm of Berman, Goldman, Levin and company, accountants, Baltimore, for a two-year period shows that "all receipts have been accounted for and that all disbursements have been properly made."

However, some discrepancies in accounting of receipts and disbursements were found, according to Myer L. Siegel, certified public accountant who signed the report. All funds, however, were accounted for.

Differences were noted in accounting of funds set aside for Beall High School; for New School Furniture; and for General Maintenance. In the Beall High fund, which stood at $48,000 July 1, 1946, the school board's books showed a balance of $6,126.34; the audit shows a balance of $4,730.94.

The balance of the new school furniture fund, which originally had $14,000, was noted to be $14,000 by the school board, with no disbursements charged against it. However, the auditors found a balance of $7,542.57.

The general maintenance fund showed a balance of $5,151.39 in the audit, while only 751.24 was entered on the school board's books.

Difference In Breakdown

The auditors explained the differences "are due to the breakdown of disbursements for the year 1946-47. . . . . ."

The breakdown showed disbursements from the Beall High School fund, according to the school board books, as $33,130.82, and according to the audit $22,273.54, or a difference of $10,000.

No disbursements were charged against the New School Furniture fund on the books, but the audit showed disbursements of $6,457.43.

The auditors also found a difference of $4,399.85 in disbursements from the General Maintenance fund. The books showed $7,158.57 had been paid out of the fund, but the audit showed $11,558.42 in disbursements.

The report of the auditors explained that "As per the records of the Board of Education an amount of $120,000 was voluntarily set up in separately designated bank accounts and encumbered for various and special purposes. Disbursements for the various purposes were charged against the appropriate account."

Slight Bookkeeping Errors

County Commissioners said the auditors indicated the discrepancies were due to bookkeeping errors. Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, was not available for comment last night.

The audit, which covered the period from July 1, 1946, to June 30, 1948, showed in a summary of cash transactions for the period a balance of $250,377.81 as of June 30, 1948.

Total receipts were $5,705,572.72 and disbursements totaled $5,455,194.91. The balance at the beginning of the period covered by the audit was $286,109.15. The balance at the close of that period was over $35,000 less than the balance brought forward from the 1945-46 year.

The largest single source of receipts, the state, contributed a total of $2,670,961.66 to the board in the two-year period. An analysis of receipts and disbursements by funds shows the building fund had the largest balance at the end of the audit period, $160,323.90.

All Funds Accounted For

In closing their report, the auditors said "It is our opinion, based upon this detailed audit of cash receipts and disbursements, that all receipts have been accounted for and that all disbursements have been properly made.

"At this completion of our audit there are no particular errors of any importance other than that noted in our comments, or any irregularities we can point out regarding the books of the Board of Education of Allegany County."

The report expresses appreciation to Dr. Kopp and other school board personnel for co-operation with the auditors.

The Board ordered a check for $1,400 to be drawn to pay the balance owed the accounting firm for the audit.

Claims Office To Be Reopened In Westernport

Weekly Visits To Begin January 25

Arrangements have been made to reopen a claims office in Westernport, effective January 25, Francis A. Kenney, manager of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Division, reported yesterday.

The Westernport office was discontinued six or eight months ago after funds were curtailed by the 80th Congress, Kenney said.

Wayne A. Ritchie said that after Kenney notified him of the reopening, he obtained permission from Mayor William Ravenscroft to use space in the Westernport city building for the office.

Ritchie is president of Luke Local No. 676, United Paper Workers of America, CIO, which is seeking improved facilities in the Tri-Towns area for claimants.

Personnel of the Cumberland office will visit Westernport every Tuesday, starting January 25. Office hours in Westernport will be from 9:30 a. m. until 3 p. m. those days, Kenney said.

If funds prove insufficient, however, the schedule may be reduced to every other Tuesday, he added.

Kenney pointed out that the move will relieve pressure on the Lonaconing office. Beginning January 26, that office will be open each Wednesday.

Kenney said he was notified by Stephen C. Cromwell, state director of the Unemployment Compensation Commission in Baltimore, that reopening of the Westernport office had been approved.

The action will return the service in that area to its former status, Kenney said.

Ritchie had previously been informed by Russell S. Davis, chairman of the Maryland Department of Employment Security, that a cut in appropriations to the agency by the last Congress was responsible for lack of full service at the Lonaconing office.

Soil Officials Map County Land For Conservation

Merl F. Hershberger, College Park, state soil scientist, and William W. Nace, Oakland, Allegany and Garrett County district conservationist, conferred Thursday at local headquarters on a propesd mapping of county land according to its capabilities.

Taken from surveys of county lands made since 1940, the map will be added to data from other counties to give a picture of the entire state, Hershberger said.

The entire United States will be mapped to show which parts of the country have similar soil conservation problems. The picture will be used in over-all conservation efforts.

The data gathered will be used to separate lands into those needing attention immediately, according to Hershberger, and lands which will need attention within a few years.

Present conservation plans have been based on a map made in 1943. However, the gathering of more complete and more accurate data makes the revision of the map necessary, he said.

Detailed work on Maryland conservation needs has only been done since the state law authorizing the division of the state into conservation districts in 1940, Hershberger stated.

He illustrated the need for a detailed map by explaining that two counties as geographically close as Garrett and Allegany need different conservation measures.

Allegany County has thiner topsoil than Garrett County and averages 30 to 35 inches of rainfall a year to the western county's 40. Garrett County thus has better grass land. On the other hand, there is relatively more land farmed in Garrett and farmed land presents more conservation problems.

The present may will probably be completed in a week from available surveys, but Nace pointed out that the Conservation Service will continue surveying county soil needs to keep maps up-to-date.

Divorces Granted

Two divorce decrees were filed in Circuit Court yesterday after being granted by Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.

Romano M. Ways was granted an absolute divorce from Harry C. Ways and Georgia I. Connelly was granted a partial divorce from Richard F. Connelly.

City To Ask Re-enactment Of Flood Acts

Two Bond Issues To Be Clarified

City officials reported yesterday they will ask the State Legislature to repeal and re-enact two legislative acts involving flood bond issues amounting to $600,000.

The action was taken at a meeting of Mayor Thomas S. Post and the City Council to discuss legislation to be introduced during the current session of the General Assembly.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained the Baltimore law firm of Niles, Barton, Morrow and Yost was requested several months ago to pass on the constitutionality and legality of various acts of the Legislature in recent years involving bond issues for the Cumberland flood control project.

Opinions Required

Such opinions from an independent source are required by bonding companies before they submit bids.

Legal sufficiency of Chapter 456, Acts of 1937, was questioned by the firm because the title fails to list purposes for which proceeds of the bonds are authorized to be spent.

"The Legislature can only grant authority to incur indebtedness for a valid, public purpose," the firm's six-page opinion said.

Clarification of language of Chapter 42 of the Acts of 1933 was also suggested by the firm. That act was drawn up to provide for issuance of bonds without a referendum.

Valid authority is necessary with reference to the $600,000 bond issues so that the funds will be available as needed during the long-term flood project, officials explained.

The city has already sold $700,000 worth of flood bonds.

Total estimated cost of the project is about $12,000,000. Of this amount, the local share is estimated at $2,310,000, which is covered by the city and county authorizations.

Work on construction of four pressure conduits, first phase of the project, is expected to begin March 1. Contract for the work was let to a New Jersey firm by Army Engineers last fall.

City officials also discussed the possibility of recommending legislation to make permanent the wartime salary increases granted all city employes. The wartime bonuses aggregated 30 per cent over base pay. They are due to expire April.

Nothing would be done to affect public local law on salaries of police and firemen, which are already established by the Legislature, Finan said.

The Mayor and Council voted unanimously to propose to the General Assembly an amendment to the Allegany County Liquor Law which would give the city all fees from liquor licenses issued in the corporate limits.

Finan reported that under the amendment the city would receive all license fees less the cost of the administration of the law by the County Liquor Control Board.

Amounts To $23,000

He explained the city, under the present law, is given one-half of the the fees in the city, and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson reported this amounts to $23,000 per year. City police have the task of enforcing the law and because of this the council feels it should get the full amount.

The council will also present a bill placing the authority to levy 90 cents on each $100 of assessable property for operation costs of the city on a permanent basis.

The charter provides for only a 75-cent levy, but in 1943 an emergency measure was passed by the state legislature allowing for the 90-cent tax. The measure has been renewed each two years since then.

The council will also submit a bill to increase the contingent fund of the city from $10,000 to $25,000.

The Mayor and Council decided to request that a bill be passed to place city policemen under the Workmen's Compensation Law of Maryland.

This action will require an amendment of Sec. 33, Article 101 of the law. Finan stated that under the present policeman's compensation, a man receives full pay for time off due to injuries, but there is no provision for a death benefit.

Under the proposed legislation, Finan explained, the policeman would receive less injury compensation, but his dependents over a period of years would be given as much as $7,500 in death benefits if he died as a result of injuries suffered in line of duty.

18 Year Olds Must Register For Draft

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, Selective Service director for Maryland, said today that "Under the Selective Service Act of 1948 as men become 18 years of age, they must register within five days of the 18th anniversary of the day of their birth."

County men reaching 18 years of age will be registered at the local board office in their counties, he said.

Others on the staff are Sgt. Paul Divico of the staff and Pfc. Ronald L. Harper, art editors, and Pvt. William E. Kelly and George M. Miller, sports staff.

Eventually a special room at the Training Center on McKaig's Hill will be set aside for the paper. The staff will form a public information section of the unit. At present, the only member of that section is S. Sgt. Robert B. Davis a photographer.

Special mention was given to Sgt. Divico in the first edition for his idea of an appropriate name. The wedge is a basic formation of the fire team of a rifle squad which makes in an appropriate name for an infantry battalion publication.

The masthead bears the name, "The Wedge" above a picture of a triangular wedge. Under the symbol is the slogan, "It provides all around protection and readiness for action in any direction."

All members are asked for contributions and invitations have been issued for staff members who can type or have journalistic experience. The publication will strive for the John Barberio Trophy for publishing the best unit newspaper for each calendar year.

Youth, 2 Children Froze, Police Say

A 16-year-old Davis, W. Va., youth and two minor children in his care were believed frozen to death and buried under six-inches of snow, Tucker County authorities said last night as a dense fog halted the fruitless search in a wooded area where the trio vanished Tuesday.

Searchers were hoping for a quick thaw in the wooded section between Davis and a lumber camp where the missing John Helmcik was taking Robert Carr, 7, and his brother, Eston Carr, 9, to visit their parents. The children lived at the Helmick home in Davis.

Tucker County Sheriff D. E. Crosten who with West Virginia State Police headed the search yesterday said hope of finding the trio alive virtually vanished yesterday after an extensive check of relatives in three states failed to locate Helmick and the two children.

Helmick, an employe of the missing children's father, Eston Carr, at the lumber camp, left home with the two boys Tuesday at 2 p. m. during a heavy rain storm and dense fog. Authorities said they believe the trio lost their way in the woods and were overcome by the cold.

Last Seen By Grocer

A grocery store proprietor near the Davis municipal limits reported seeing the three take a path that was considered a shortcut to the main road. He was the last person to see the youth and two children.

Authorities said the shortcut leads through a marshy field and wooded area before the improved road leading to the lumber camp is reached. The possibility that the fog caused Helmick to take the wrong path in the wooded area was considered likely by searchers.

The children were scantly dressed in light jackets and coveralls, authorities were informed. This added weight to the belief that the three may have been overcome by the cold after becoming lost. The area was buried under a six-inch snow that fell Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning.

Sheriff Crosten said a series of pits, some 75 feet deep, created by strip mining operations also dot the area where the trio vanished. Despite that fact that many are partially filled with water as a result of recent rains they were examined extensively yesterday.

The Sheriff said the inspection leaves no doubt in his mind that the missing trio did not fall into any of the pits. The searching party followed the exact route over the short cut and along the road to the lumber camp on foot yesterday, but failed to find a clue.

Chain of Bad Luck

The family has suffered a series of misfortunes in the past several years, according to Sheriff Crosten, who declared yesterday he will check every possibility to find Helmick and the two Carr children, whose maternal grandmother died Thursday.

The grandmother did not know that the children were missing, the sheriff declared. The children's father lost a farm home and dairy barn about a year ago in a fire. And Helmick's mother's home was burned to the ground last year while she was confined to a hospital.

The sheriff said a searching party will recheck the entire area today in an effort to find the missing trio. He added that he plans to search all hunting lodges in the area on the theory that the boys may have sought shelter in one of the lodges after becoming lost.
